* The Russian syllables and words: "Aï lushinki lyuli" (pron. loo-shinn-kee lewlee) and "Ai da" (pron. Eye dah) have no other signification than the "Fa la la" and "Hey ho" of the English Madrigal and Folksong, thus expressing exuberant joy and jollity. They have been retained to preserve the flavor of the Russian Folksong.

Two Little Stars

B. M. Kaye Moderato Mana Zucca Op. 17

Piano

Two lit-tle stars that from the gold-en num-ber Came down to earth up-on a sum-mer night, Stayed there so long, & dreamt in earth-ly slum-ber And woko, bu-wil-dered by the morn-ing light.
