PREFACE

The great impression produced on reading the book of Ruth depends not merely upon the poetic charm which pervades this Idyll, but rather upon its own deep meaning.

The Israelitish law commanded the nearest relative of a widow to become her protector, and to marry her if she insisted upon her right. Only the Israelitish woman, not the widow of a foreign race, could plead this law.

In the fulfilment of this law by Boaz, he shows that only love and respect for Ruth, the Moabitess—the stranger who had left her nation, her family, her home, and her faith, to become the protectress of her mother-in-law, overwhelmed by misfortune, and to unite herself to the people of Israel—led him to choose her as wife. Prejudice against the stranger was conquered by love.

The history of Ruth has moreover an especial significance through her relation to Christ. From Obed, the son of Boaz and Ruth, descended King David, from whose house in Bethlehem, the city where Ruth's story is laid, the Redeemer came. The author of this work believes that this connection ought not to be lost, and makes use of it at the close of the Idyll to connect the narrative proper with its especial religious importance in a far-extended, historic perspective.

RUTH AND NAOMI

PART THE FIRST

INTRODUCTION (ORCHESTRA)

RECITATIVE (TENOR)

Now it came to pass in the days when the judges ruled, that there was famine in the land. And a certain man of Bethlehem Judah went to sojourn in the country of Moab, he, and his wife, Naomi, and his two sons. And now Elimelech, Naomi's husband, died, and she was left, and her two sons. And they took them wives of the women of Moab, Orpah and Ruth. And Naomi's two sons died, both of them, and she was left of her two sons and her husband.

Then she arose with her daughters-in-law, that she might return from the country of Moab; for she had heard how that the Lord had visited his people in giving them bread. Wherefore she went forth out of the place where she was, and her two daughters-in-law with her; and they went on the way to return unto the land of Judah. And Naomi said unto her daughters-in-law:

NAOMI

My dear daughters, go, return each to her mother's house. The Lord deal kindly with you, as you have dealt with the dead, and with me. The Lord grant you, that ye may find rest, each of you in the house of her husband. Return.

ORPAH AND RUTH

Surely, we will return with thee unto thy people.

NAOMI

Turn again, my daughters. Why will you go with me? The hand of the Lord is gone out against me; go, return each to her mother's house.

RECITATIVE

And they lifted up their voice, and wept. And Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clave unto her.

RUTH

Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee; for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God. Where thou diest, I will die, and there will I be buried. The Lord do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me.

CHORUS

Thy mercy, O Lord, is in the heavens, and Thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds. Continue Thy loving-kindness unto them that know Thee, and Thy righteousness to the upright in heart.

RECITATIVE

So they two went until they came to Bethlehem. And it was in the beginning of barley harvest. And Ruth asked leave of Naomi to go to the field and glean ears of corn. And she went, and came, and gleaned in the field after the reapers: and her hap was to light on a part of the field belonging unto Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech. And, behold, Boaz came from Bethlehem, and said to the reapers:

BOAZ

The Lord be with you.

CHORUS

The Lord bless thee, the Lord preserve thee, the Lord be thy shade upon thy right hand. The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night. The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth and even for evermore.

BOAZ

Whose damsel is this?

ONE OF THE REAPERS

It is the Moabitish damsel that came back with Naomi out of Moab. And she said, "I pray you, let me glean and gather after the reapers, among the sheaves." So she came, and has continued until now, that she tarried a little in the house.

BOAZ (to Ruth)

Hearest thou not, my daughter? Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence, but abide here fast by my maidens. Let thine eyes be on the field that they do reap, and go thou after them. Have I not charged the young men that they shall not touch thee? And when thou art athirst, go unto the vessels and drink of that which the young men have drawn. Go not to glean in another field, neither go from hence.

RUTH

Why have I found grace in thine eyes, that thou shouldst take knowledge of me, seeing I am a stranger?

BOAZ

It has fully been showed me all that thou hast done to thy mother-in-law since the death of thine husband, and how thou hast left thy father and thy mother, and the land of thy nativity, and art come unto a people which thou knewest not heretofore. The Lord recompense thy work, and a full reward be given thee of the Lord, under whose wings thou art come to trust.

QUARTET (RUTH AND THREE REAPERS)

RUTH

Let me find favour in thy sight, my lord; thou hast comforted me, thou hast spoken friendly unto thine handmaid, though I be not like unto one of thine handmaidens.

THREE REAPERS

Blessed is he that considereth the poor; the Lord will preserve him, and he shall be blessed upon the earth.

RECITATIVE

So Ruth kept fast by the maidens of Boaz, to glean unto the end of barley harvest, and brought forth and gave to her mother, Naomi, that she had reserved. And the reapers praised the Lord.

CHORUS

Praise ye the Lord. Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving, who covered the heaven with clouds, who prepareth rain for the earth, who maketh grass to grow upon the mountains. Let us praise the name of the Lord, for His name is excellent; His glory is above the earth and heaven.

PART THE SECOND

NAOMI

My daughter, shall I not seek rest for thee, that it may be well with thee? And now is not Boaz of our kindred, with whose maidens thou wast? Behold, he winnoweth barley to-night in the threshing floor. Wash thyself therefore, and anoint thee, and put thy raiment upon thee, and get thee down to the floor. And it shall be, when he lieth down, that thou shalt go in and lay thee down at his feet; and he will tell thee what thou shalt do.

RECITATIVE

And she went down unto the floor, and did according to all that Naomi bade her. And when Boaz had eaten and drunk, and his heart was merry, he went to lie down at the end of the heap of corn. And she came softly, and uncovered his feet, and laid her down.

NOTTURNO (ORCHESTRAL)

RECITATIVE

And it came to pass at midnight, that the man was afraid, and turned himself; and, behold, a woman lay at his feet.

BOAZ

Who art thou?

RUTH

I am Ruth, thine handmaid. Spread thy skirt over thine handmaid, for thou art a near kinsman.

BOAZ

Blessed be thou of the Lord, my daughter. Fear not; I will do to thee all that thou requirest; for all the city of my people doth know that thou art a virtuous woman. Tarry this night; I will not be in rest until I have finished this.

RUTH AND CHORUS

The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

RECITATIVE

BOAZ

Ye people and elders of the city, be witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, of the hand of Naomi. Moreover, Ruth, the Moabitess, have I purchased to be my wife, to raise up the name of the dead upon his inheritance.

CHORUS OF MEN

We are witnesses this day, that thou hast bought all that was Elimelech's, and hast purchased Ruth to be thy wife, that the name of the dead be raised upon his inheritance.

FULL CHORUS

The Lord make the woman that is come into thine house like Rachel and Leah; and do thou worthily in Ephratah, and be famous in Bethlehem.

RECITATIVE

So Boaz took Ruth, and she was his wife, and she bare a son.

NAOMI

Hail, hail, the Lord is with me! Out of my house the Redeemer shall come. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest, and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father, David. And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever, and [of his kingdom] there shall be no end. Amen.

CHORUS

O, come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord, our Maker. The Lord reigneth; he is clothed with majesty.
