PREFACE.

IN placing the "VIOLET" before the people, it is fitting that I should say a few words, by way of introduction.

Four years ago I sent forth the "POLYPHONIC," designed specially for the Sunday-school. While the demand for it is still constantly increasing, many are urgently calling for another book of the same kind, with lessons of instruction, and good and true songs, with cheerful juvenile music adapted. The "VIOLET" is a response to this demand. For both poetry and music I am much indebted to many friends, whose names appear in the proper place.

If I have, by mistake, made use of any thing in these pages, which by copyright is the property of others, I will, upon being informed, give due credit of proper ownership, or omit from future editions.

I pray God's blessing in making this little book an instrument of good in the Sunday-school, the social meeting, and in the home circle. May the fullness of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ fill every heart, and the songs of Zion cheer us till we reach the "Glorious Land," where we shall sing praise to God and to the Lamb forever.

PRINCIPLES OF VOCAL MUSIC.

CHAPTER I.

GENERAL VIEW OF PRINCIPLES.

1. THE science of music teaches the laws or principles which pertain to musical tones or singing sounds.
2. TONES are the sounds which constitute music.*
3. NOTES are the characters used to represent tones.
4. The principles of music are divided into four departments: TIME, MELODY, HARMONY and STYLE.
5. Tones may be long or short; hence the department called TIME.
6. Tones may be high or low; hence the department called MELODY.
7. Tones may be single or combined; hence the department called HARMONY.
8. Tones may be loud or soft; hence the department called STYLE.
9. These four fundamental rules embrace the whole science of music.
10. They are alike essential in becoming thoroughly acquainted with the science.

* The word tone is derived from the Greek tonos, signifying tension. It is often very improperly applied to the interval or difference between sounds, as well as to the sounds themselves. This is one fruitful source of confusion and discouragement to the learner. Let it be understood that the word tone, and the word sound, mean one and the same thing in music.

CHAPTER II.

TIME—FIRST DEPARTMENT.

1. THE department of Time embraces two items: kinds of measure and lengths of tones.
2. Every piece of music is divided into parts of equal length called measures.
3. Perpendicular lines, called bars, are used to show the extent of the measures.

Example I.

measure | bar | measure | bar | measure | bar | double bar | measure |

4. Measures are divided into equal portions, called parts of measures.

Example II.

measure | part | part | measure | part | part | measure | part | part ||

5. In order to regulate the time, and to enable all to sing together, each one is required to beat time.
6. Beating time is a regular motion of the right hand.
7. One beat or motion of the hand must be made for each part of every measure.
8. The first part of every measure has a downward beat.
9. The last part of every measure has an upward beat.

Example III.

down | up | down | up | down | up ||

10. The hand, as it were, passes over each bar, in beating time.

CHAPTER III.

KINDS OF MEASURE.

1. MEASURES are of two kinds; even and uneven.
2. Even measure may contain two or four parts.
3. Uneven measure may contain three, six, or nine parts.
4. These two kinds of measure may be represented in six varieties or forms.
5. Double measure has two beats, down and up; and is represented thus:

Example I.

6. Triple measure has three beats, down, left, and up; and is represented thus:

Example II.

7. Quadruple measure has four beats, down and up twice for each measure, or down, left, right, up; represented thus:

Example III.

8. Sextuple measure has six beats, down, left, and up, twice for each measure; represented thus:

Example IV.

9. Double and triple measure may be combined in one, called Double-triple, or compound measure; and have two beats, thus:

Example V.

10. Tri-triple measure has three beats and nine parts in each measure; represented thus:

Example VI.

CHAPTER IV.

LENGTH OF NOTES AND RESTS.

1. THE relative length of tones is represented by certain marks attached to the notes.
2. To represent a rest or cessation of sound, other characters, corresponding in length with the notes, are used instead of notes, in any or all parts of a tune.

LENGTH OF NOTES.

whole note half quarter eighth sixteenth thirty-second

CORRESPONDING RESTS.

whole rest half quarter eighth sixteenth thirty-second

3. The whole note will be regarded as the standard in reckoning the length of tones.

4. The whole rest is the standard by which to calculate the length of rests.

5. Each note, or rest, is one half the length of that next on its left-hand side, in the example above.

6. Any note may be lengthened one half by placing a dot after it, thus:  is equal to  or  and is called a pointed note.

7. Sometimes a note is increased in duration three-fourths, by placing two dots after it.

8. When a note is to be prolonged beyond its ordinary length, it is represented thus:  called a prolong.

9. When three notes are to be sung in the time of two, of the same length, they are written thus:  and called a triplet.

10. Two figures at the beginning, one above the other, show the kind of measure, the upper denoting the number, and the lower the kind of notes which fill the measure.

CHAPTER V.

VARIETIES OF MEASURE.

1. DOUBLE measure may be written with two half notes in each measure, or two quarter notes.

Example I.

Example II.

2. Triple measure may have three half, three quarter, or three eighth notes in each measure.

Example III.

Example IV.

Example V.

3. Quadruple measure may be written with four half, or four quarter notes in each measure.

Example VI.

Example VII.

4. Sextuple measure may be written with six quarter or six eighth notes in a measure.

Example VIII.

Example IX.

5. This second variety of sextuple measure (Example IX) is Double-triple measure, and should have two beats for each measure, except when the tune is marked slow, then it must have six beats.

6. Tri-triple measure may be written with nine quarter or nine eighth notes in each measure

Example X.

Example XI.

7. Thus it is seen there are two varieties of Double, and three varieties of Triple measure.

8. There are two varieties of Quadruple measure.
 9. There are two varieties of Sextuple measure.
 10. There are two varieties of Tri-triple measure.

MELODY—SECOND DEPARTMENT.

1. MELODY treats of the altitude and succession of tones.
2. Seven tones are used in music.
3. When the seven tones are given in succession, and the first repeated after the seventh, it is called the octave, or natural scale.
4. The first seven numerals are used as notes to represent the tones of the scale.
5. The first stands for the lowest, the second for the next higher, etc.
6. The sounds of the scale are named Do, Ra, Me, Fa, Sol, La, Se, Do.
7. The sounds are at unequal distances from each other.
8. The distance from one tone to another is called an interval.
9. The two small steps between 3 and 4, and 7 and 8, are called half intervals—sometimes semitones.
10. All the other, larger steps, are called whole intervals, or whole tones.

| | | |
|-----|--|--------|
| Do | | 8 or 1 |
| Se | | 7 |
| La | | 6 |
| Sol | | 5 |
| Fa | | 4 |
| Me | | 3 |
| Ra | | 2 |
| Do | | 1 |

This is a representation of the natural scale, with its whole and half intervals.

This is called the Natural Scale, or Octave, and should be sung carefully, both by syllables and syllables, until all the steps can be given with ease and accuracy. Every pupil should be required to step from one tone to another, and not slide.

CHAPTER VII.

STAFF, CLEFFS, ETC.

1. THE Staff consists of five horizontal lines and their intermediate spaces.

2. Each line and space is reckoned as a degree.

3. Each line and each space is counted from the lowest.

4. Taken together they make nine degrees.

5. When more degrees are needed, on which to place additional notes, lines are added above and below.

6. The degrees of the staff are named from the first seven letters of the alphabet: A, B, C, D, E, F, G.

7. Cleffs are characters placed upon the staff to show the particular location of letters.

8. Two cleffs are in common use—the G cleff and the F cleff.

9. The G, or Treble cleff, fixes the sound of G upon the second line.

10. The F, or Base cleff, locates F on the fourth line.

In the above, the heavy perpendicular line is called a double bar, and is generally used at the end of a line of poetry. The three marks at the end are called a close, used at the end of a tune. The row of dots across the staff is called a repeat, which shows the part that is to be sung again.

CHAPTER VIII.

MAJOR, MINOR, AND CHROMATIC SCALES.

1. INTERVALS of the scale are designated as seconds, thirds, fourths, etc., always reckoning the first, last, and intermediate degrees: for instance, a fifth includes any given tone, another a fifth above it, and all that intervene.

2. The scale in Chapter VI is most commonly used; but two other forms must be understood.

| I. | | II. | | III. | |
|--------|---|--------|---|------------|---|
| MAJOR. | | MINOR. | | CHROMATIC. | |
| Do | 8 | La | 8 | Do | 8 |
| Se | 7 | Sol | 7 | Se | 7 |
| La | 6 | Fa | 6 | La | 6 |
| Sol | 5 | Me | 5 | Sol | 5 |
| Fa | 4 | Ra | 4 | Fa | 4 |
| Me | 3 | Do | 3 | Mo | 3 |
| Ra | 2 | Se | 2 | Ra | 2 |
| Do | 1 | La | 1 | Do | 1 |

3. The first is called the Diatonic Major Scale, and consists of whole and half intervals.

4. In the Major Scale, there are two whole intervals between 1 and 3.

5. The second is called Minor, because there is but an interval and a half between 1 and 3.

6. In the major, the half intervals occur between 3 and 4, and 7 and 8.

7. In the minor, they are between 2 and 3, and 5 and 6.

8. Music written according to the major, sounds lively and grand, while that of the minor is mournful and plaintive; and for this reason the two forms of the octave are called Grand and Plaintive.

9. The minor is usually written a third lower than the major, with 6 as the first note, 7 the second, 1 as the third, etc.

The relative major and minor keys are one third apart, but have the same number of flats or sharps as the signature of the key.

10. The Chromatic Scale is either the major or minor scale, with tones introduced in the middle of each whole interval; so that it consists entirely of half intervals.

CHAPTER IX.

TRANSPOSITION OF THE SCALE.

1. THE position of the letters on the staff is fixed.
2. The position of the notes of the scale is not fixed, but may be changed to any line or space.

NOTE.—There is, perhaps, no one item in the science of music, which discourages pupils so much as the transposition of the scale. With the plan of notation adopted in this work, every child can be made to understand it easily. In ascending a fifth, to introduce a new sharp, teach them to count upon the left hand, naming each finger and the thumb for the letters constituting the fifth; reversing the order for the flats. Thus, from C to G, counts from the fourth finger to the thumb; from C to F, from the thumb to the fourth finger.

The teacher should show clearly the natural scale, represented by the numerals, and the fixed written scale of letters; and that the flats or sharps simply indicate how the written scale can be made to agree with the natural.

The voice accords with the intervals of the natural scale, while the keys of an instrument are according to the written scale.

3. Transposition of the scale is the change of its position on the staff

4. All musicians have agreed upon a fixed sound for the key or altitude of C, that is, when the first sound of the scale is on the letter C.

5. A tuning-fork, or other instrument, is used to give this fixed sound, from which all the others may be derived with accuracy.

6. The half intervals occur between the letters E and F, and B and C.

7. When one, or Do, is on the letter C, the place of all the whole and half intervals in the written scale of letters agree with those in the natural scale.

8. When one is placed in any position, it is the governing sound of the scale; that is, all the other sounds, with their proper intervals, will be high or low, according as one is high or low.

9. When any other letter than C is taken as the position of one, the place of the letters which do not correspond with those of the sounds in their natural order, are either elevated half an interval, by a (#) sharp, or lowered half an interval by a (b) flat.

10. The flats or sharps thus used are placed at the beginning, and are called the signature of the key.

When One is on C, there are no flats or sharps, and it is the

KEY OF C.

When we elevate One a fifth, that is, place it on the letter G, the letter F is half an interval lower than the sound of seven; consequently, we place a sharp at the beginning, on the letter F. This, then, is called the signature of the KEY OF G.

When we count up another fifth from G, we come to the letter D. Taking D as the position or altitude of One, the same letter, F, must be sharpened, and another (the letter C), must be sharpened to agree with the seventh. F and C sharp is the signature of the KEY OF D.

Ascending another fifth from D, we come to the letter A. Here another letter (G) must be sharpened to agree with the seventh note, when the scale or tune is written in the KEY OF A.

Another fifth from A, brings us to E, which requires another sharp for the seventh.

KEY OF E.

Advancing a fifth from E, we come to the KEY OF B.

KEY OF C.

When we descend, or count backward from C, the distance of a fifth—i. e. three intervals and a half—we come to the KEY OF F.

In the above, the letter B is half an interval too high for the fourth sound of the scale, and it is to be made half an interval lower, as the flat at the beginning indicates.

By descending another fifth from F, we are brought to

B \flat , which requires another flat also, as the signature of the key, to agree with the fourth. Thus B and E flat is the signature of the KEY OF B \flat .

Descending another fifth, from B \flat , we are brought to the letter E \flat , which will require another letter (A) to be made flat, to agree with the fourth.

KEY OF E \flat .

Another fifth brings us to A \flat , which requires that the letter D be flatted.

KEY OF A \flat .

Another fifth, descending from A \flat , is the KEY OF D \flat .

Exercise I.

Exercise I. Treble clef, key signature of one sharp (F#), 4/4 time signature. The melody consists of six measures. Fingerings are indicated by numbers 1-5. A circled '1' is above the final note of the third measure. A circled '1' is below the final note of the sixth measure.

Exercise II.

Exercise II. Treble clef, key signature of one sharp (F#), 4/4 time signature. The melody consists of six measures. Fingerings are indicated by numbers 1-5. Circled numbers (3), (5), (7), (1), and (5) are placed below the notes in the first five measures. A circled '1' is below the final note of the sixth measure.

Exercise III.

Exercise III. Treble clef, key signature of one sharp (F#), 2/4 time signature. The melody consists of six measures. Fingerings are indicated by numbers 1-5. Circled numbers (3), (2), (1), (3), (5), (2), and (1) are placed below the notes in the first five measures. A circled '1' is below the final note of the sixth measure.

Exercise IV.

Exercise IV. Treble clef, key signature of one flat (Bb), 4/4 time signature. The melody consists of six measures. Fingerings are indicated by numbers 1-5. Circled numbers (3), (5), (7), and (3) are placed below the notes in the first four measures. A circled '1' is below the final note of the sixth measure.

Exercise V.

Exercise V. Treble clef, key signature of one flat (Bb), 4/4 time signature. The melody consists of six measures. Fingerings are indicated by numbers 1-5. A circled '1' is below the final note of the sixth measure.

Exercise VI.

Exercise VI. C-clef (soprano), key signature of one sharp (F#), 2/4 time signature. The melody consists of six measures. Fingerings are indicated by numbers 1-5. Circled numbers (5) and (1) are placed below the notes in the first two measures. A circled '1' is below the final note of the sixth measure.

Sometimes the altitude of a key is temporarily changed, by sharpening or flattening one or more tones. When a note has a flat or sharp placed before it, all the notes of the same altitude in the measure are changed accordingly.

CHAPTER X.

HARMONY—THIRD DEPARTMENT.

1. HARMONY teaches the construction and succession of chords.

2. A combination of two or more sounds is a chord.

3. Chords are of two kinds: concord, which is pleasing to the ear, and discord, which is disagreeable.

4. The concord consists of two or more tones, an interval and a half, or more, apart.

5. The discord is a combination of sounds between any two of which there is less than an interval and a half.

6. The common concord is 1, 3, 5, to which 8 may be added.

7. The tones 5, 7, 2, 4, constitute the common discord.

Any combination of sounds which bear the same relation to each other as either of the above, is to be regarded as the same chord.

The common concord may be written with the fundamental or base note in three different positions.

| 1st position. | 2d position. | 3d position. |
|---------------|--------------|--------------|
| 5 | 1 | 3 |
| 3 | 5 | 1 |
| 1 | 3 | 5 |

The fundamental note of the common discord may be in four different positions.

| 1st position. | 2d position. | 3d position. | 4th position. |
|---------------|--------------|--------------|---------------|
| 4 | 5 | 7 | 2 |
| 2 | 4 | 5 | 7 |
| 7 | 2 | 4 | 5 |
| 5 | 7 | 2 | 4 |

8. The Base is the lowest part, and is written on the F cleff. The other parts are higher in the order of Tenor; Alto, or Counter; first Treble, Air, or Soprano; and are written on the G cleff, except that the Tenor is sometimes written above the Base on the same staff.

The Air and Alto are sometimes written on the same staff: the higher notes the Air, and the lower the Alto, or Counter.

9. The Base should be sung by low male voices, the Tenor by high male voices, Counter by low female voices, and boys before their voices change; and the Air, which is really the tune, by high female voices.

The female voice is naturally an octave higher than the male voice.

CHAPTER XI.

STYLE—FOURTH DEPARTMENT.

1. STYLE teaches how musical tones should be uttered, and the manner of applying words to music.

2. All tones should be sounded in a firm, full, free, clear, and independent manner.

3. A tone which commences, continues, and ends, with an equal degree of force, is called an organ tone.

4. A tone which commences softly and increases in power to the end, is called an increasing tone.

5. A tone which commences loud and diminishes in force to the end, is called a decreasing tone.

6. A tone which consists of the increasing and decreasing tones joined in one, is called a swell, or æolian tone.

7. Tones may be uttered with a medium or ordinary degree of force; and, taking this as a standard, they may be loud or very loud; and soft or very soft.

8. These five degrees of force are designated by the marks m for medium; F or f, for loud; FF or ff, very loud; P or p, for soft; and PP or pp, very soft.

9. When tones are sounded distinctly, in such a detached manner as to indicate a pause between them, they are called staccato tones.

10. When tones are joined together in a smooth, gliding manner, it is called legato style.

When words are to be repeated, they are marked thus:|:

CHAPTER XII.

APPLYING WORDS, ACCENT, ETC.

1. IN singing by note, each part of a measure which has a downward beat should be accented.

2. In singing words the accent and emphasis should be observed the same as in reading or speaking.

If any one thing is more essential than another, in the principles of music, it is Style, sometimes denominated Dynamics, or Musical Elocution. If the teacher has talent, it will all be brought into requisition at this point; and if he is destitute, he will pass this department hastily, and perhaps seldom refer to it.

In order to develop the faculties of the human voice, great care and persevering practice are requisite. The teacher should induce every pupil to throw off all diffidence, and speak the tones out freely. All the singers who have ever become famous, have distinguished themselves by their remarkable achievements in style.

It will not do to give attention to this subject for a few days simply, or during a few lessons of practice; but it should be kept continuously before the mind, in all our practice, until good taste and fine execution becomes a fixed habit.

3. When two or more tones are to be sounded with a single syllable of words, the notes are joined together, by the hooks on the stems being united, or by being included in a tie, thus:

4. The consonants should always be sounded very distinctly, and in the shortest possible time.

5. In sounding a tone of any considerable length, the voice should dwell altogether upon the vowel sounds.

6. The sentiment of the writer of the words should be understood, felt, and as nearly as possible, expressed by the singer.

7. The breath must be taken so as to avoid separating words which the sense connects intimately together such as the nominative and the verb, etc.

8. The small grace notes before or after the principal notes, should be touched lightly, and take their time from that of the principal notes.

9. A turn (\sim) indicates that the note over which it is placed must be gracefully varied, so as to touch the note both above and below it.

10. A trill, or shake (tr), shows that the note over which it is placed should alternate rapidly with the interval either above or below, a number of times, thus:

NEARER TO THEE.

A. D. FILLMORE.

1 Nearer, my God, to thee, Near-er to thee! E'en though it be a cross That rais-eth me;
2 Though like the wanderer Day-light all gone, Dark-ness be o-ver me, My rest a stone;

Still all my song shall be—Near-er, my God, to thee, Nearer, my God, to thee, Nearer to thee!
Yet in my dreams I'd be Near-er, my God, to thee, Nearer, my God, to thee, Nearer to thee!

3 There let the way appear,
Steps unto heaven,
All that thou sendest me,
In mercy given;
Angels to beckon me
Nearer, my God, to thee,
Nearer to thee!

4 Then with my waking thoughts,
Bright with thy praise,
Out of my stony griefs,
Bethel I'll raise;
So by my woes to be
Nearer, my God, to thee—
Nearer to thee!

5 Or, if on joyful wing,
Cleaving the sky,
Sun, moon, and stars forgot,
Upward I fly;
Still all my song shall be—
Nearer, my God, to thee,
Nearer to thee.

HAPPY CLIME.

C. L. FILLMORE.

1. Have you heard, have you heard of that hap - py clime? Undimmed by sor - row, un - hurt by time, Where age hath no power o'er the fadeless frame—Where the eye is fire, and the heart is flame? Have you heard of that happy clime?

2 A river of water gushes there,
 'Mid flowers of beauty strangely fair,
 And a thousand wings are hovering o'er,
 The dazzling wave and the golden shore,
 That are seen in that happy clime.

3 Millions of forms, all clothed in white,
 In garments of beauty, clear and bright,
 They dwell in their own immortal bowers,
 'Mid fadeless hues of countless flowers,
 That bloom in that happy clime.

4 Ear hath not heard and eye hath not seen,
 Their swelling songs, and their changeless sheen
 Their ensigns are waving, their banners unfurl,
 O'er jasper walls and gates of pearl,
 That are fixed in that happy clime.

5 But far, far away is that sinless clime,
 Undimmed by sorrow, unhurt by time,
 Where, amid all things bright and fair is given,
 The home of the just, and its name is heaven—
 The name of that happy clime.

BEAUTIFUL HOME.

1. Far a - way in the land of the pure and bright, To the cit - y of God with its gold - en light,
 2. That beauti - ful land we are nearing now, Where a crown of bright glory encir - cles each brow

O there is our home and we ever shall stand 'Mid the shin - ing ones of that bet - ter land.
 Where the tree of life grows on that beautiful shore, Where flowers shall freshen to fade no more.

D. S. O, I long to be there and for - ever to stand 'Mid the shining ones of that bet - ter land.

O, beautiful home!
 O, beautiful, beautiful home! O beautiful home! Where beautiful saints surround the white throne.

1. Hark! the deep-toned bell is calling! "Come, O come!" Weary ones, where'er you wander, "Hither come!"
 2. Now again its tones are pealing, "Come, O come!" In the sacred temple kneeling, Seek thy home.
 3. Still the echoed voice is ringing, "Come, O come!" Every heart pure incense bringing Hither, come.

Louder now and deeper pealing, On the heart that voice is stealing, "Come, nor longer roam."
 Come, and round the altar bending, Love the place where God descending, Calls the spirit home.
 Father, round thy footstool bending, May our souls, to heaven ascending, Find in thee their home.

COME, LET US SING.

1. Oh come, let us sing! Our youthful hearts now swelling, To God a-bove, a God of love: Oh come, let us sing.
2. The full notes pro-long; Our fes-tal cel-e-brat-ing, We hail the day with cheerful lay, And full notes prolong.

Our joy-ful spir-its glad and free, With high e-motions rise to thee. In heavenly mel-o-dy—O come, let us sing!
Both cheerful youth and silvery age, And childhood pure, the gay, the sage, These thrilling scenes engage, Full notes to prolong.

3 Oh swell, swell the song,
His praises oft repeating:
His Son he gave our souls to save—
Oh swell, swell the song,
The humble heart's devotion bring,
Whence gushing streams of love do spring.
And make the welkin ring
With sweet-swelling song.

4 We'll chant, chant his praise—
Our lofty strains now blending;
A tribute bring to Christ our King,
And chant, chant his praise!

Our Savior, Prince, was crucified,
" 'Tis finished," then he meekly cried,
And bowed his head and died—
Then chant, chant his praise!

5 All full chorus join,
To Jesus condescending,
To bless our race with heavenly grace,
All full chorus join!
To God, whose mercy on us smiled,
And Holy Spirit, reconciled
By Christ, the meek and mild,
All full chorus join!

SHOUT THE TIDINGS.

A. D. FILLMORE.

1. Shout the tidings of salvation, To the a-ged and the young; Till the precious in-vi-ta-tion Waken every heart and tongue.
2. Shout the tidings of salvation, O'er the prairies of the West; Till each gathering congregation, With the gospel sound is blest.
3. Shout the tidings of salvation, Mingling with the ocean's roar; Till the ships of every nation, Bear the news from shore to shore.
4. Shout the tidings of salvation, O'er the islands of the sea; Till, in humble adoration, All to Christ shall bow the knee.

CHORUS.

Send the sound The earth a - round, From the ris - ing to the set - ting of the sun, Till each

gath-'ring crowd shall pro-claim a - loud, The glo - rious work is done, The glo - rious work is done

1. There is a hap-py land, Far far a - way ; Where saints in glory stand, Bright, bright as day ;
 2. Come to that happy land, Come, come away ; Why will ye doubting stand, Why still de-lay ?
 3. Bright in that happy land, Beams every eye ; Kept by a Father's hand, Love can not die.

O, how they sweetly sing, Worthy is the Savor King, Loud let his praises ring, Praise, praise for aye.
 O, we shall happy be, When from sin and sorrow free, Lord, we shall live with thee, Blest, blest for aye.
 O, then, to glory run, Be a crown and kingdom won, And, bright above the sun, We reign for aye.

1 Come to the Sunday-school,
 All children come ;
 Cheerful its pious rule,
 Pleasant as home.
 Leave rude and naughty plays,
 Live and keep the holy days,
 Come, learn to pray and praise,
 In Sunday-school.

2 Come, where our teachers meet,
 Faithful and true ;
 Come, learn the lessons sweet,
 Ready for you.
 Come, school will not be long ;
 Come, join our happy throng ;
 Come, sing our pretty song
 In Sunday-school.

3 O ! there's a school on high,
 Where angels praise :
 Joy beams in every eye,
 Sweet strains they raise,
 There seraph children sing
 Anthems to our glorious King,
 And crowns to Jesus bring,
 Blest Sunday-school.

DUET.

1. { When Jesus once came to Jerusalem's gate, The crowds rushed along like the floods from the fountain; }
 { With a tribute of palms on his triumph they wait, And ho-sannas re-echo round Olivet's mountain. }

Had their lips ceased to cry as the Savior passed by, The rocks in their rapture would herald him nigh:

CHORUS.

O let our glad voices their chief hon - ors bring, Still shouting ho-san-nas to Je-sus our King!

2. He comes to the weary with rest for the soul,
 To bind up the heart that affliction has broken,
 At his life-giving presence the sin-sick are whole,
 And the pure are enriched by some priceless love-token.
 Every bosom is stirred as they hear the best word,
 That Jesus has come in the name of the Lord;

CHORUS.

And shouting with gladness their chief honors bring,
 Hosannas and blessings to Jesus their King.

3. O Savior, we long for thy coming again,
 That Zion may greet thee with new acclamations;
 And the song of redemption by Him that was slain,
 Be thy tribute of praise from the lips of all nations.
 O that thrice blessed day when the ransomed shall say,
 "Behold the King cometh! he passes this way!"

CHORUS.

And joining their voices, shall evermore sing,
 Hosannas and blessings to Jesus our King!

2 I never would be weary,
 Nor ever shed a tear,
 Nor ever know a sorrow,
 Nor ever feel a fear;
 But blessed, pure, and holy,
 I'd dwell in Jesus' sight,
 And with ten thousand thousands
 Praise him both day and night.

3 I know I'm weak and sinful,
 But Jesus will forgive,
 For many little children
 Have gone to heaven to live:
 Dear Savior, when I languish,
 And lay me down to die,
 O! send a shining angel,
 And bear me to the skies.

4 O, there I'll be an angel,
 And with the angels stand,
 A crown upon my forehead,
 A harp within my hand;
 And there, before my Savior,
 So glorious and so bright,
 I'll join the heavenly music,
 And praise him day and night.

 Christ for me; Christ for me!
 Him will I love and Him obey,
 Christ for me; Christ for me!
 Then here's my heart and here's my hand,
 We'll form a happy singing band,
 And shout aloud through all the land,
 Christ for me; Christ for me!

 Where brightness fills the holy place,
 Happy land, happy land!

3 But though we're sinners every one,
 Jesus died, Jesus died!
 And though our crown of peace is gone,
 Jesus died, Jesus died!
 We may be cleansed from every stain,
 We may be crowned with bliss again,
 And in that land of pleasure reign,
 Jesus died, Jesus died!

4 Then parents, brothers, sisters, come,
 Come away, come away!
 We long to reach our Father's home,
 Come away, come away!
 O come, the time is fleeting past,
 And men and things are fading fast,
 Our time will surely come at last,
 Come away, come away!

5 This world is oft so dark and drear,
 Take us there, take us there!
 We ne'er can be so happy here,
 Take us there, take us there!
 O listen to that music sweet,
 It comes so rich from yonder seat,
 Where all the good in glory meet,
 Take us there, take us there!

GLORIOUS LAND.

Words and Music by A. D. FILLMORE.

1. The Bi - ble reveals a glorious land, Where angels and pu - ri - fied spir - its dwell,
2. Out - gushing beneath the throne of God, And of the blest Lamb at his right hand,
3. In the midst of the street on eith - er side, The tree of life arching the way o'er shades,
4. Twelve manner of fruits hang pendant there, And all who par-take shall nev - er die;
5. The af - flic-tions of life are brief and light, While faith looks beyond the dark Jordan's strand,
6. Then come, my dear brethren, let us haste To fin - ish our work with unfaltering hand,

Where pleasures ne'er end, at God's right hand, And anthems of praises for - ev - er swell.
 Thence runneth the crys - tal stream of life, A fountain of joy in that Glo - rious Land.
 With health-giving foliage far and wide—No sickness this Glorious Land in - vades.
 With Je - sus they dwell and ever share The joys of that Glorious Land on high.
 Where goldenly shine the mansions bright, Which Jesus prepares in that Glo - rious Land.
 And soon the sweet joys of heaven we'll taste, With all the redeemed in that Glo - rious Land.

1 O thou, who from the Infant's tongue
Wert wont of old to perfect praise,
Almighty Father! hear the song
Which we thy youthful servants raise.

To know and love thy Word of truth,
Far from the sinner's path are brought,
To serve their Maker in their youth.

Forbids the youthful foot to stray;
Unfolds the Book of truth, and there
To life eternal points the way.

Let streams of heavenly goodness flow,
That all the earth may learn thy will,
And babes thy power and glory show.

CHRISTIAN SOLDIER'S REST.

Words and Music by G. T. WILSON.

1. There is a rest for the weary Soldier, When his conflict here is o'er,
Then shall he lay by his well-worn armor, And go forth to war no more.

CHORUS.

There shall be rest in peace forever, There shall be war no more forever, In the Christian's home in heaven.

2 Bravely he fought in his Master's service,
Though the ranks of foes were strong;
Well did he wield the Sword of the Spirit
Through the contest fierce and long.
There shall be rest, etc.

3 Firm to the end was his faith in Jesus,
Whom he followed here below;
Under his banner he feared no danger,
From the Christian's artful foe.
There shall be rest, etc.

4 Yet though he fall at death's dark river,
Still he doth triumph in the fall;
Death seems a victor, but his captives
Shall come forth at Jesus' call.
There shall be rest, etc.

5 There shall a crown of unfading glory
Be the wreath that he shall wear,
Clothed in a robe of celestial brightness
He the victor's palm shall bear.
There shall be rest, etc.

An idle life to lead,
Because I'm small, with talents few
Of me the Lord has need,
Some work or calling to pursue,
Or do some humble deed.

And do my Master's will;
If but a ray can paint the flower,

I know in me there is a power,

SPRING RAINS.—Concluded.

3 The lark feels assured that God knows best
 The need of the spring-time rains;
 That bright summer sunshine will warm his nest
 After the spring-time rains.
 The grass in the meadows will greenly grow,
 And the corn-blades wave in the valley below,
 And the vigorous west winds gaily blow,
 After these spring-time rains.

4 Let us, like the lark, look cheerily on,
 While it rains, it rains, it rains;
 Waiting with faith, till the storm is gone,
 While it rains, it rains, it rains
 Tho' misty obscurity hinders the sight,
 We know that above the dark cloud there is light,
 And the heavens in beauty are shining bright,
 While it rains, it rains, it rains

BLESSED BIBLE.

TUNE—CLING TO JESUS.

1 Blessed Bible, how I love it!

How it doth my bosom cheer!

What hath earth like this to covet!

Oh, what stores of wealth are here!

Man was lost and doomed to sorrow,

Not one ray of light or bliss

Could he from earth's treasure borrow,

Till his way was cheered by this.

2 Yes, I'll to my bosom press thee;

Precious word, I'll hide thee here!

Sure my very heart will bless thee,

For thou ever say'st "Good cheer!"

Speak, my heart, and tell thy ponderings,

Tell how far thy roving's led,

When this book brought back thy wanderings,

Speaking life as from the dead.

3 Yes, sweet Bible, I will hide thee,

Hide thee richly in this heart;

Thou, through all my life, wilt guide me,

And in death we will not part!

Part in death! no, never, never!

Through death's vale I'll lean on thee;

Then in worlds above, forever,

Sweeter still thy truths shall be.

BE A CHRISTIAN.

Words and Music by A. D. FILLMORE.

1. Come and be a Christian, Je - sus calls thee now; To his gracious gospel, Sinner, humbly bow.
 2. Come and be a Christian, Ere it be too late; Life is passing swiftly, Moments will not wait.
 3. Come and be a Christian, Meekly bear the cross, For the love of Je - sus, Count all else but loss.
 4. Come and be a Christian, Fly from Satan's power, To the claims of Je - sus, Yield this very hour.

Hear his wondrous mercy Tell of sins for-given, Vic - t'ry o - ver Sa-tan, And a home in heaven.
 Je - sus will not always O - pen mercy's door: When he comes in judgment, Then he'll plead no more.
 Ne - ver - fading treasures Are reserved for all Who will come to Je - sus, And o - bey his call.
 Then with joy and rapture, Sing - ing as we go, We will haste to glo - ry, Leaving all be - low.

CHORUS.

O, won't you be a Christian! Quickly make your choice; Jesus now is pleading, Hear his welcome voice!

Words and Music by A. D. FILLMORE.

1. When the morn of life is beaming, When the birds of spring-time sing. When the youthful heart is dreaming,

Of the joys that age will bring, 'Mid the sparkling dew-drops gleaming, Then be happy, be content.
 For its darker days prepare; Put a-way all vain reproaches, Then be hap-py, be content.
 Seek his grace for thee and thine; When in calm or storm-y weather, Then be hap-py, be content.
 Looking for a heavenly home, Where are pleasures never - dy-ing, Then be hap-py, be content.

Chorus.

Marching on! marching on! Sound the battle-cry! sound the battle-cry! For the Savior is before us, and for him we draw the sword,

Marching on! marching on! Shout the victory! shout the victory! We will end the battle, singing hallelujahs to the Lord.

REV. R. LOWRY.

1. Watch, for the time is short; Watch, while 't is called to-day; Watch, lest the world prevail; Watch, Christian, watch, and pray;
