Alice in Wonderland

PROLOGUE

When Alice walked in Wonderland,
I know that you'll agree
The songs she sang and heard were full
Of charming oddity.
To put them into music
The composer had to pass
Into the proper frame of mind
Right "Through the Looking-Glass."

And now the tunes and verses,
You, list'ning, may appraise.
If "Why?" you ask, remember
"Why not?" the March Hare says.
We know that you will like them
And if not, do not dread
"The Queen of Heart's" terrific threat:
"Off with his head!"

When Alice ate the "Eat-Me" cake, which made her grow so large,
She shed a pool of giant tears and crouched down by its marge,
She saw the rabbit drop his gloves and quickly scurry by,
And then she sang this little song, whose words seem all awry:

HOW DOTH THE LITTLE CROCODILE

How doth the little crocodile
Improve his shining tail,
And pour the waters of the Nile
On every golden scale.

How cheerfully he seems to grin,
How neatly spread his claws,
And welcome little fishes in
With gently smiling jaws.

After various adventures which are all set down in prose, Alice met the Caterpillar where the mammoth mushroom grows.
"How doth the little busy bee," she said.
"I tried to sing,
But sang 'The little crocodile' — a very different thing!"
The Caterpillar bade her try another poem she knew,
Yet, once more, Alice knew not why, the words all went askew:

FATHER WILLIAM

"You are old, Father William," the young man said,

Since a few of the Carroll poems are too short for musical setting, the compiler has ventured to add, with all piety, occasional supplementary stanzas.

"And your hair has become very white;
And yet you incessantly stand on your head —
Do you think, at your age, it is right?"

"In my youth," Father William replied to his son,
"I feared it might injure the brain;
But, now that I'm perfectly sure I have none,
Why, I do it again and again!"

"You are old," said the youth, "as I mentioned before,
And have grown most uncommonly
fat;
Yet you turned a back-somersault in at the door —
Pray, what is the reason of that?"

"In my youth," said the sage, as he shook his gray locks,
"I kept all my limbs very supple
By the use of this ointment — one shilling the box —
Allow me to sell you a couple?"

"You are old," said the youth, "and your jaws are too weak
For anything tougher than suet;
Yet you finished the goose, with the bones and the beak —
Pray, how did you manage to do it?"

"In my youth," said his father, "I took to the law,
And argued each case with my wife;
And the muscular strength which it gave to my jaw
Has lasted the rest of my life."

"You are old," said the youth, "one would hardly suppose
That your eye was as steady as ever;
Yet you balanced an eel on the end of your nose —
What makes you so awfully clever?"

"I have answered three questions, and that is enough,"
Said his father. "Don't give yourself airs.
Do you think I can listen all day to such stuff?
Be off, or I'll kick you down-stairs."

Though Alice's adventures now kept on keeping on,

We can't keep track of all of them,
'twould keep us overlong.
The next song heard in Wonderland,
built on a mother's sigh, is that most tender little lilt: "The Duchess's Lullaby."

THE DUCHESS'S LULLABY

Speak roughly to your little boy,
And beat him when he sneezes:
He only does it to annoy,
Because he knows it teases!
Wow, Wow, Wow!

O toss your baby up and down,
And if he bawls, why bite him;
The malice of the little clown!
He knows it should delight him!
Wow, Wow, Wow!

Speak roughly to your little boy,
And beat him when he sneezes:
He only does it to annoy,
Because he knows it teases!
Wow, Wow, Wow!

Next Alice joined the tea-party of the Hatter and the Hare.
We skip the Cheshire Cat, of course, for it only grinned its air.
She heard the Hatter sing the song sung for the Queen of Hearts, A song that seems to harmonize with treacle, tea, and tarts.

TWINKLE, TWINKLE, LITTLE BAT

Twinkle, twinkle, little bat.
How I wonder what you're at.
Up above the world you fly,
Like a tea-tray in the sky.

Twinkle, twinkle, little bat.
Dormice sleep because they're fat.
Crumb and butter in the works
And the watch its duty shirks.

Twinkle, twinkle, little bat.
Here's the tea-pot and in that
We will put the Dormouse now
If his muchness will allow.

Twinkle, twinkle, little bat.
How I wonder what you're at.
Up above the world you fly
Like a tea-tray in the sky!

We'll pass the Queen's croquet-ground,
where ne'er a song was sung,
And hunt the poor Mock Turtle up, who had a lyric tongue.
His melody is sad and slow and has a tearful thrill
No doubt you recognize it: "The Lobster Quadrille."

THE LOBSTER QUADRILLE

"Will you walk a little faster?" said a whiting to a snail,

"There's a porpoise close behind us, and he's treading on my tail.

See how eagerly the lobsters and the turtles all advance.

They are waiting on the shingle — will you come and join the dance?"

Will you, won't you, will you, won't you,
will you join the dance?

Will you, won't you, will you, won't you,
will you join the dance?

"You can really have no notion how delightful it will be,

When they take us up and throw us,
with the lobsters, out to sea."

But the snail replied, "Too far, too far!"
and gave a look askance —

Said he thanked the whiting kindly, but he would not join the dance.

Would not, could not, would not, could
not, would not join the dance.

Would not, could not, would not, could
not, would not join the dance.

"What matters it how far we go?" his scaly friend replied.

"There is another shore, you know, upon the other side.

The further off from England the nearer is to France —

Then turn not pale, beloved snail, but come and join the dance."

Will you, won't you, will you, won't you,
will you join the dance?

Will you, won't you, will you, won't you,
will you join the dance?

The good Mock Turtle's other song
deferring now, pro tem,

We'll introduce it when we close, a sort of requiem;

And meanwhile we will hasten on to where the Knave of Hearts

Is tried by judge and jury for the stealing of the tarts.

The Rabbit read the poem, thus the book us has apprized,

We reproduce it, as it were, just vocalegalized.

For 'tis a song of evidence. As they interpret it,

'Twould move a jury to condemn or else, perhaps, acquit.

THEY TOLD ME

They told me you had been to her,
And mentioned me to him:
She gave me a good character,
But said I could not swim.

He sent them word I had not gone
(We know it to be true):
If she would push the matter on,
What would become of you?

I gave her one, they gave him two,
You gave us three or more;
They all returned from him to you,
Though they were mine before.

If I or she should chance to be Involved in this affair,
He trusts to you to set him free
Exactly as we were.

Don't let him know she liked them best,
For this must ever be,
A secret, kept from all the rest
Between yourself and me.

We have come to the end of our Nonsense-lane,
And our songs are well-nigh done.
We have wreathed the flow'rs of our daisy chain,
In music, one by one.
We think that of Carroll you'll not complain
And ere you turn down the Page,
You will listen the while we sing again,

Ere off to your work-a-day world you troop,
One tenderly touching, pathetic refrain:

SOUP OF THE EVENING

Beautiful Soup, so rich and green,
Waiting in a hot tureen!
Who for such dainties would not stoop?
Soup of the evening, beautiful soup!
Soup of the evening, beautiful soup!
Beau-ootiful Soo-oop. Beau-ootiful
Soo-oop!
Soo-oop of the e-e-evening,
Beautiful, beautiful Soup!

Beautiful Soup! Who cares for fish,
Game, or any other dish?
Who would not give all else for two
Pennyworth only of beautiful Soup?
Pennyworth only of beautiful Soup?
Beau-ootiful Soo-oop. Beau-ootiful
Soo-oop!
Soo-oop of the e-e-evening,
Beautiful, beauti-FUL SOUP!
