GENERAL PREFACE

GENRELT FORORD

The Carl Nielsen Edition is an independent project under the auspices of the Music Department of the Royal Library, launched in 1994 on the initiative of the Ministry of Culture and funded by the Ministry and the foundation Carl Nielsen og Anne Marie Carl-Nielsens Legat, with further financial support for the publication of the individual volumes from a number of other private foundations.

The edition is for both practical and scholarly use, and is based on critical editorial principles. It comprises all Carl Nielsen's finished works and completed individual pieces, and seeks as far as possible to reflect the works in the version last sanctioned by the composer. In cases where songs exist in several different arrangements by Carl Nielsen, all the versions are published.

Each work is furnished with an introduction which gives a brief account of the genesis of the work and its place in the composer's oeuvre, and a Critical Commentary including source description, editorial emendations and additions, and important alternative readings. The editorial material is published together with the music.

Works included in volumes with several independent works are also published in separate booklets. Part material is published for all the orchestral and chamber music works, and parts as well as piano score are published for the operas and the major choral works.

The edition is divided into the three main series Stage Music, Instrumental Music and Vocal Music, each further divided into volumes; within each genre the works are ordered chronologically.

Carl Nielsen Udgaven er et selvstændigt projekt under Det Kongelige Biblioteks Musikafdeling, iværksat i 1994 på Kulturministeriets foranledning og finansieret af Kulturministeriet og Carl Nielsen og Anne Marie Carl-Nielsens Legat, hvortil kommer støtte fra en række private fonde til udgivelse af de enkelte bind.

Udgaven er til såvel praktisk som videnskabelig brug, tilrettelagt efter kritisk-videnskabelige udgivesprincipper. Den omfatter samtlige Carl Nielsens afsluttede værker og enkeltsatser og søger i videst mulige omfang at afspejle værkerne i den af komponisten senest sanktionerede version. I tilfælde, hvor sange foreligger i flere forskellige arrangementer fra Carl Nielsens hånd, udgives alle versioner.

Hvert værk er forsynet med en indledning, der kort beskriver værkets tilblivelseshistorie og placerer det i den samlede produktion, samt en kritisk beretning, hvor der redeges for kildesituationen, redaktionelle ændringer og tilføjelser og vigtige varianter. Den kritiske beretning udgives sammen med nodeteksten.

Værker, der indgår i bind med flere selvstændige værker, udgives også i separate hæfter. Til alle orkester- og kammermusikværker udgives stemmemateriale, og til operaerne og de større korværker udgives såvel stemmer som klaverpartitur.

Udgaven er opdelt i hovedserierne Scenemusik, Instrumentalmusik og Vokalmusik med tilhørende opdeling i enkelbind; inden for hver genre er værkerne ordnet kronologisk.

Editorial principles

The music is reproduced with no typographical indications of editorial additions or emendations. These will be documented in the Critical Commentary. Typography, score disposition, genre names, and instrument names have been normalized in accordance with present-day practice. With a few exceptions, discussed in more detail in the Critical Commentary, the many additions and changes in Carl Nielsen's works that have been made by friends and colleagues have been removed.

Articulation, dynamics, ties and slurs, execution markings and playing instructions have been normalized on the basis of analogies between clearly parallel passages. All such completions are documented in the Critical Commentary.
Obvious writing and printing errors have been tacitly corrected.

Redaktionelle principper

Nodeteksten gengives uden typografisk markering af redaktionelle tilføjelser eller ændringer. Disse vil være dokumenteret i den kritiske beretning. Typografi, partitupostilling, instrument- og genrebetegnelser er normaliseret efter nutidig praksis. Med enkelte undtagelser, som der er gjort nærmere rede for i den kritiske beretning, er de mange tilføjelser og ændringer i Carl Nielsens værker, der er foretaget af venner og kolleger, fjernet.

Nodeteksten er normaliseret med hensyn til artiku-lation, dynamik, buer, foredragsbetegnelser og spille tekniske anvisninger således, at der er analogi mellem entydige parallel-steder. Alle sådanne kompletteringer dokumenteres i den kritiske beretning. Oplagte skrive- og trykfejl er stiltiende rettet.

1999. Heri er ikke medtaget Carl Nielsens barndomserindringer, Min fynske Barndom.

Carl Nielsen often notated horns and trumpets with key signatures. This practice has been normalized to a notation exclusively using accidentals.

"Muta in" in connection with the retuning of timpani and changes between two instruments (for example clarinet in A and B^b) have been tacitly normalized. This also applies to the combination of ties and slurs.

In Carl Nielsen's manuscripts the dynamic markings are sometimes rather carelessly placed, and this is also reflected in the early printed editions. This has been tacitly adjusted.

Clefs are normally given as in the main source.

Carl Nielsen noterede ofte horn og trompeter med faste fortegn. Denne praksis er normaliseret til notation udelukkende med løse fortegn.

"Muta in" i forbindelse med omstemning af pauker og skift mellem to instrumenter (f.eks. klarinet i A og B^b) er stiltiende normaliseret. Det samme gælder kombinationen af buer og bindebuer.

I Carl Nielsens manuskripter er de dynamiske angivelser undertiden placeret noget skødesløst, hvilket afspejler sig i de tidlige trykte udgaver. Dette er stiltiende justeret.

Nøgler gengives normalt som i hovedkilden.

P R E F A C E

The present volume consists of Carl Nielsen's chamber music for strings composed after his official debut as a composer with Suite for Strings in 1888; the earlier violin works, not least several individual quartet movements,¹ are featured in the Carl Nielsen Edition's concluding volume, Juvenilia, Addenda et Corrigenda. As will be evident from the following, the opus numbering of the four string quartets that Carl Nielsen himself published does not correspond to their order of composition, since opus 13² was written before opus 5. Besides the four quartets the volume includes the early string quintet as well as the two mature works for solo violin written for the composer's son-in-law, Emil Telmányi.³

The editorial work has been distributed among the editors as follows:

Lisbeth Ahlgren Jensen: String Quartets, opus 13 and opus 44.
Elly Bruunshuus Petersen: String Quartets, opus 5 and opus 14 and String Quintet.
Kirsten Flensburg Petersen: Prelude, Theme and Variations, opus 48 and Preludio e Presto, opus 52.

The period 1921-1922 was very productive for Carl Nielsen. Three of his major compositions saw their first performance in 1922: Symphony no. 5 den 24th January, Springtime on Funen on 8th July and Quintet for Flute, Oboe, Clarinet, French Horn and Bassoon on 9th October. He also wrote Homage to Holberg for soloists, choir and orchestra – a less substantial work than

- 1 There is a complete quartet and a number of movements that probably once made up a complete multi-movement work.
- 2 Although opus 13 also belongs among the composer's juvenilia it is published in this volume since Carl Nielsen had it printed in a revised version in 1900.
- 3 Danish-Hungarian violinist (1892-1988).

Nærværende bind indeholder Carl Nielsens kammermusik for strygere, komponeret efter hans officielle komponistdebut med Suite for Strygere i 1888; de tidligere violinværker, ikke mindst adskillige kvartetsatser,¹ bringes i det afsluttende bind, Juvenilia, Addenda et Corrigenda.

Som det fremgår af efterfølgende, svarer opus-nummereringen af de fire strygekvartetter, som Carl Nielsen selv lod udgive, ikke til deres tilblivelsestidspunkt, idet opus 13² er skrevet før opus 5. Udover de fire kvartetter bringes den tidlige strygekvintet samt de to modne værker for soloviolin skrevet til komponistens svigersøn, Emil Telmányi.³

Det redaktionelle arbejde har været fordelt mellem udgiverne således:

Lisbeth Ahlgren Jensen: Strygekvartet opus 13 og opus 44.
Elly Bruunshuus Petersen: Strygekvartet opus 5 og opus 14 samt strygekvintet.
Kirsten Flensburg Petersen: Præludium og Tema med Variationer opus 48 og Preludio e Presto opus 52.

Perioden 1921-1922 var meget produktive år for Carl Nielsen. Tre af hans store kompositioner fik deres første opførelse i 1922: Symfoni nr. 5 den 24. januar, Fynsk Foraar den 8. juli og Kvintet for fløjte, obo, klarinet, horn og fagot den 9. oktober. Hertil kommer et i forhold til Fynsk Foraar mindre omfangsrigt værk: Hyldest til Holberg for soli, kor og orkester, som blev uropført den 26. november. I tidsrummet mellem uropførelsen af blæser-

1 Det drejer sig om en række enkelstående satser, en komplet kvartet samt om satser, der formentlig har udgjort et fuldstændigt, flersatset værk.

2 Selvom også opus 13 hører til blandt komponistens Juvenilia bringes den i dette bind, eftersom Carl Nielsen lod den trykke i en revideret version i år 1900.

3 Dansk-ungarsk violinist (1892-1988).

After several letters,¹¹¹ where Carl Nielsen put his case – among other things he wrote at one point “that I did not want my most important work hitherto to be published in parts alone, as I considered this not only very harmful to the dissemination of the piece, but also less than consistent with my position” – Wilhelm Hansen gave in and the work appeared in the winter season of 1892 in both score and parts.

The manuscript sources for the quartet consist of sketches for the fourth movement in Carl Nielsen's sketchbook,¹¹² the draft containing sketches and a draft of all four movements, the second movement in different versions, and a fair copy of the whole quartet in an early version. The first edition of the printed score from 1892 has been chosen as the main source, since it represents the last version approved by Carl Nielsen; the editorial work has consisted partly of correcting many errors in the written music, partly of completing missing dynamics and articulation, and this has been done on the main source's own premises with the parts as guidance. Variants in the fair copy and the draft have been included in the Editorial Emendations and Alternative Readings insofar as they have had any significance for the editing.

The string quartet, opus 14, was composed in the years 1897–1898, when Carl Nielsen's thoughts were also occupied with finding a subject for an opera; the outcome of this was Saul and David, for which Einar Christiansen had the libretto finished in January 1899. In the summers of 1897 and 1898 Nielsen busied himself with the running of Thygesminde, the farm of his parents-in-law near Kolding, Jutland.

The farming work took up all his time and energy, and in a letter of 8th July 1897 Carl Nielsen thanked Axel Olrik¹¹³ for the receipt of some folk ballads he had intended to set to music; “but must leave it aside for the moment as I have Efter flere breve,¹¹¹ hvor Carl Nielsen talte for sin sag – blandt andet skrev han et sted “at jeg ikke ønskede mit hidtil betydeligste Arbejde udgivet blot i Stemmer, da jeg ansaa det, ikke blot for i høj Grad skadeligt for Udbredelsen af Stykket, men tillige for lidet stansmæssigt.” – bøjede Wilhelm Hansen sig, og værket udkom i vinterhalvåret 1892 både i partitur og stemmer.

De håndskrevne kilder til kvartetten opus 5 består af skitser til fjerde sats i Carl Nielsens skitsebog,¹¹² kladden indeholdende skitser og kladde til alle fire satser, anden sats i forskellige versioner samt en renskrift af hele kvartetten i en tidlig version. Førsteudgaven af det trykte partitur fra 1892 er valgt til hovedkilde, da det repræsenterer den af Carl Nielsen sidst godkendte version; revisionsarbejdet har dels bestået i at rette mange nodefejl, dels i at komplettere manglende dynamik og artikulation, hvilket er gjort på hovedkildens egne præmisser med stemmerne som vejledere. Varianter i renskriften og kladden er medtaget i Editorial Emendations and Alternative Readings i den udstrækning, de har haft betydning for revisonen.

Strygekvartet opus 14 er komponeret i årene 1897–1898, hvor Carl Nielsens tanker også var beskæftiget med at finde et emne til en opera; det endte med at blive Saul og David, hvortil Einar Christiansen havde librettoen færdig i januar 1899. Somrene 1897 og 1898 var Carl Nielsen praktisk engageret i driften af Thygesminde, hans svigerforældres gård ved Kolding.

Landbrugsarbejdet tog al hans tid og energi, og i et brev af 8. juli 1897 takkede Carl Nielsen Axel Olrik¹¹³ for modtagelsen af nogle folkeviser, som han havde tænkt sig at sætte i musik, “men maa lade det bero foreløbig da jeg har et a major task in hand that takes up all my musical thoughts.”¹¹⁴ After two summers of toil Carl Nielsen’s career as a farmer ended, and the farm was sold in 1899.

The composition of the E flat major quartet was probably begun after the summer holiday of 1897. The first movement was finished in December 1897, and in his diary he noted on 6th January 1898:

“Finished the work on the 1st movement of a quartet in E flat major in December 97. Working on the Andante at present.”¹¹⁵

Six months were to pass before the work was in progress again; on 14th July 1898 he wrote from Thygesminde to Anne Marie:

“Now I think I can work, and have got to grips very well with a brand new theme; not the one you heard, but a hearty, manly, happy one that will surely become something. I wish you could hear it now at the beginning; you often say just the right thing. The children are singing it already and I always consider that to be a good sign.”¹¹⁶

But Carl Nielsen’s optimism was not matched by reality, as can be seen from the following correspondence between him and his wife. The very next day, 15th July 1898, he writes:

Carl to Anne Marie:

“Are you coming next week?

That would be wonderful! For now I’m stuck in my quartet and miss a pulse of life that would get the ‘Maschinen’ going again.”¹¹⁷

Anne Marie to Carl, 29th July 1898:

“My own little dear. How are things going with you, is the work getting along?”¹¹⁸ større Arbejde for som tager alle Musiktanker.”¹¹⁴ Efter to somres slid endte Carl Nielsens karriere som landmand, og gården blev solgt i 1899.

Kompositionen af Es-dur kvartetten er sandsynligvis påbegyndt efter sommerferien 1897. Første sats var færdig i december 1897, og i dagbogen noterede han den 6. januar 1898:

“Sluttede Arbejdet paa 1^{ste} Sats af en Kvartet i Es Dur i December 97. Arbejder paa Andanten for Tiden.”¹¹⁵

Der skulle gå et halvt år, før der kom gang i værket igen; den 14. juli 1898 skrev han fra Thygesminde til Anne Marie:

“Nu tror jeg godt jeg kan arbejde og jeg har faaet ganske godt fat med et helt nyt Thema; ikke det, Du hørte men et frejdigt, mandigt-glad som nok skal blive til noget. Jeg vilde ønske Du kunde høre det nu i Begyndelsen; Du siger tit et træffende Ord. Børnene synger det allerede og det finder jeg altid er et godt Tegn.”¹¹⁶

Carl Nielsens optimisme stod dog ikke mål med virkeligheden, hvilket kan ses af følgende korrespondance mellem ham og hans hustru. Allerede dagen efter, 15. juli 1898, hedder det:

Carl til Anne Marie:

“Kommer Du i næste Uge?

Det var dejligt! Nu sidder jeg nemlig fast i min Kvartet og savner et Livets Pulsslag som etter vil sætte Gang i ‘Maschinen’.”¹¹⁷

Anne Marie til Carl, 29. juli 1898:

“Min egen lille Kjereste. Hvordan går det Dig vil det skride med Arbejdet.”¹¹⁸

Carl til Anne Marie, 29. juli 1898:

“Mit Arbejde gaar noget trægt endnu men dog lidt fremad.”¹¹⁹

Carl to Anne Marie, 1st August 1898:

"Now my work is going rather better and I believe I am picking up speed as I go."¹²⁰

Anne Marie to Carl, 2nd August 1898:

"Won't you see and get your Finale finished, and I'll be busy with my horse and then after this we'll spend the summer together, won't we, my own dearest – never again like this year."¹²¹

It is part of the story of the genesis of the work that the third and the fourth movement had to be fair-copied twice. Carl Nielsen himself gave an account of the episode many years later in an article in Nationaltidende on 8th June 1925:

"I had composed a string quartet. The first two movements had already been copied by the music copyist; I had tried them out with my comrades, and we agreed that it was a work with which I had made a great effort. Now I also had the last two movements finished, so packed it all into a large roll, took my bike and set off along Gothersgade towards Nørrevold, where the music copyist lived. When I got to Rosenborg Brøndanstalt, I saw a vehicle with two horses, one of which had fallen over and lay floundering with its legs in over the pavement. The driver looked very helpless, as the horse had ended up lying in a strange lopsided position. Since as a young man I had worked with horses and had often myself been a driver, I jumped off my bike, put it up against the Brøndanstalt, pressed my music roll into the hands of a boy who was standing in the crowd, and asked him to hold it for a moment. It was only the work of a couple of minutes to cut one of the traces of the cart over, get a horse blanket under the forelegs of the horse and get it up on its legs; but when I got back the boy had vanished, probably into the Vognmagergade area, with my great work. I rode home in despair and told my wife about my loss. Then she got the idea that we should go up into the neighbourhood and arouse some attention about the matter among the young people of the streets, and in time we succeeded in gathering a very large crowd to whom we announced that whoever could find the boy with the roll of music would get a large reward [...] I never got my work back, but had to reconstruct it laboriously from various notes and sketches and from memory."¹²²

However, he did not have to start from scratch again. He must still have had the draft of the music, which is identical in its

Carl til Anne Marie, 1. august 1898:

"Nu gaar mit Arbejde noget bedre og jeg tænker at faa Fart efterhaanden."¹²⁰

Anne Marie til Carl, 2. august 1898:

"Kan Du nu se at få Din Finale færdig så skal jeg være flittig med min Hest og så vil vi herefter holde Sommer sammen ikke sandt min egen Kjæreste aldrig mere sådan som i År."¹²¹

Det hører med til værkets tilblivelseshistorie, at tredje og fjerde sats måtte renskrives to gange. Carl Nielsen berettede selv om episoden mange år senere i en kronik i Nationaltidende den 8. juni 1925:

"Jeg havde komponeret en Strygekvarteret. De to første Satser var allerede kopierede af Nodeskriven; jeg havde prøvet dem med mine Kammerater, og vi var enige om, at det var et Arbejde, hvormed jeg havde gjort mig stor Umage. Nu havde jeg ogsaa de to sidste Satser færdige, pakkede saa det hele ind i en stor Rulle, tog min Cykle og begav mig ud ad Gothersgade mod Nørrevold, hvor Nodeskriven boede. Da jeg kom til Rosenborg Brøndanstalt, saa jeg et Køretøj med 2 Heste, hvoraf den ene var falden omkuld og laa og sprællede med Benene ind over Fortovet. Kusken saa meget hjælpelos ud, da Hesten var kommet til at ligge i en underlig Skraastilling. Da jeg som ung har omgaedes Heste, og ofte selv har været Kusk, sprang jeg af min Cykle, satte den op mod Brøndanstalten, stak en Dreng, der stod i Opløbet, min Noderulle i Haanden og bad ham holde den et Øjeblik. Det var kun et Par Minutters Sag at skære Køretøjets ene Skagle over, faa et Dækken lagt under Forbenene paa Hesten og faa den rejst over Ende; men da jeg vendte tilbage, var Drengen forsvundet, sandsynligvis ind i Vognmagergadekvarteret, med mit store Arbejde. Jeg kørte fortvivlet hjem og fortalte min Hustru om mit Tab. Saa fik hun den Tanke, at vi skulde gaa op i Kvarteret og vække Opmærksomhed for Sagen hos Gadens Ungdom, og det lykkedes os ogsaa efterhaanden at samle en hel stor Klynge, overfor hvilken vi bekendtgjorde, at den, der kunde finde Drengen med Noderullen, skulde faa en stor Findeløn [...] Jeg fik imidlertid aldrig mit Arbejde, men maatte mojsommeligt rekonstruere det efter forskellige Lapper og Skitser og Hukommelsen."¹²²

Han måtte dog ikke begynde helt forfra. Kladden med de rå noder, som i sin struktur er identisk med den trykte udgave, structure to the printed edition, since it has been preserved completely in the Royal Library. Apart from the recopying of the music from his draft, the work Nielsen had to do "from various notes and sketches and from memory" consisted of the reconstruction of dynamics, articulation and bowing, a big enough job, but not as bad as if he had to begin all over again on the composition. It is not evident from the available source material when he finished composing the whole work.

The quartet was given its first performance in Our Society (Vor Forening) on 1st May 1899 with Anton Svendsen, Ludvig Holm, Frederik Marke and Ejler Jensen as performers.¹²³ It is unlikely that there are any reviews of this concert, since it probably took place in a private context; only in connection with a concert on 4th October 1901¹²⁴ are we told anything about the audience's reception of the work. According to Dannebrog there was a performance in 1900, since the reviewer Leopold Rosenfeld began his review of the work as follows: "I heard this new string quartet one evening last year in one of the 'Dansk Komponistsamfund' evenings."¹²⁵ The Danish Composers' Society (Dansk Komponistsamfund) was founded on 15th October 1900 in order to discuss at monthly meetings how performances of Danish music could be promoted.¹²⁶ The E flat major quartet may very well have been performed at one of these meetings, but since they were held privately, it has not been possible to confirm this from programmes or reviews.

The concert on 4th October took place in the small hall of the Odd Fellow Palæ in the first chamber music concert given by the newly founded Høeberg Quartet, consisting of Georg Høeberg, Louis Witzansky, Anton Bloch and Ernst Høeberg. The musicians were generally praised but opinions varied on the work. Among other things Gustav Hetsch wrote of the first movement in Nationaltidende: "It appears to belong to the kind of music that is splendid to read on the lined music paper, but in the event it sounds frightful. The few moments where we grasped the musical point were drowned out by the other cacophonous babble."¹²⁷

In Adresseavisen Kjøbenhavn the first movement was described as "cacophonous",¹²⁸ and it is clear from the reviews in Kristeligt Dagblad that "as regards Carl Nielsen's quartet, we må han stadig have haft, idet den er overleveret komplet i Det Kongelige Bibliotek. Ud over afskriften af selve noderne bestod arbejdet "efter forskellige Lapper og Skitser og Hukommelsen" i rekonstruktion af dynamik, artikulation og bluesætning; et nok så stort arbejde, men dog ikke så slemt, som hvis han skulle begynde helt forfra på kompositionen. Det fremgår ikke af det forhåndenværende kildemateriale, hvornår han blev færdig med at komponere hele værket.

Kvartetten fik sin første opførelse i Vor Forening den 1. maj 1899 med Anton Svendsen, Ludvig Holm, Frederik Marke og Ejler Jensen som medvirkende.¹²³ Der foreligger næppe nogen anmeldelser af denne koncert, da den formentlig fandt sted under private former; det er først i forbindelse med en koncert den 4. oktober 1901,¹²⁴ at vi får noget at vide om publikums modtagelse af værket. Ifølge Dannebrog skulle der have været en opførelse i 1900, idet anmelderen Leopold Rosenfeld indledte sin anmeldelse af værket således: "Denne nye Strygekvartet hørte jeg en Aften i Fjor i en af 'Dansk Komponistsamfund's Aftener."¹²⁵ Dansk Komponistsamfund blev stiftet 15. oktober 1900 for ved månedlige møder at diskutere, hvorledes opførelser af dansk musik kunne fremmes.¹²⁶ Es-dur kvartetten kan meget vel tænkes opført ved et af disse møder, men da disse fandt sted under private former, har det ikke været muligt at få bekræftet dette via programmer eller anmeldelser.

Konerten den 4. oktober fandt sted i Odd Fellow Palæets Mindre Sal ved den første kammermusikkonsert med den nystiftede Høeberg-kvartet, bestående af Georg Høeberg, Louis Witzansky, Anton Bloch og Ernst Høeberg. Musikerne fik generelt rosende omtale, mens der var delte meninger om værket. Blandt andet skrev Gustav Hetsch om første sats i Nationaltidende: "Den hører vistnok til den Slags Musik, der er glimrende at læse paa det stregede Nodepapir, men i hvert Fald klinger den hæslig. De enkelte Øjeblikke, hvor vi fattede den musikalske Mening, druknede i det øvrige ildelydende Kaudervælsk."¹²⁷

I Adresseavisen Kjøbenhavn betegnedes førstesatsen som "ildelydende",¹²⁸ og af anmeldelsen i Kristeligt Dagblad fremgår, at "Hvad Carl Nielsens Kvartet angaaer, maa vi bekende vor totale Mangel paa Evne til at forstaa blot det allermindste af den: for os lød det som et Virvar af Toner uden Mening eller must confess our total inability to understand even the slightest part of it: for it sounded like a confusion of notes with no meaning or coherence.”¹²⁹ The general attitude was that the first movement was too difficult to understand, while the other movements were reasonably well received, especially the second movement, about which Gustav Hetsch wrote:

“The Andante, which is quite elevated in its mood, is especially borne up by breadth of poetical vision; there is a wide horizon, a wealth of stars in the firmament and lofty cypresses in this music, which is so modern that it reaches back for the broad lines and simple colours of the past.”¹³⁰

It is interesting to see how the attitude to the work colours different views of the same event. In Kristeligt Dagblad, which has the most negative review, one reads:

“The four able artists did their utmost and gave it as exemplary a performance as one could imagine, yet it was only very restrained applause that it could force from the audience.”¹³¹

– while on the other hand Charles Kjerulf in Politiken ended his generally highly laudatory discussion of the work with: “The quartet was greeted with strong applause and the players were called out.”¹³²

A review in Illustreret Tidende is quoted in its entirety here because the reviewer, Hother Ploug, draws parallels with other Danish composers and questions the audience’s ability to listen, and thus characterizes Carl Nielsen’s quartet as an innovation amidst the established music of the time:

“In the first of the Høeberg brothers’ chamber music soirées a new string quartet by Carl Nielsen, No. 4 in E flat major, was performed; it has been published almost simultaneously in score by Wilhelm Hansens Forlag. A strange work, like everything that has come from his hand, but more a work for connoisseurs than for the general public. In particular, the energetic first allegro with its enclosed structure and the highly convoluted contrapuntal work proved caviar to the general. At the concert it was rather above the heads of people, and very few of them understood any of it. This is regrettable, inasmuch as the piece is a rare bird in Danish music. We are not used to having much form Sammenhæng.”¹²⁹ Den generelle holdning var, at førstesatsen var for vanskelig at forstå, mens man tog rimelig pånt imod de øvrige satser, specielt anden sats, om hvilken Gustav Hetsch skrev:

“Særlig Andanten, der er helt ophøjet i sin Stemning, baaret af poetisk Storsyn; der er vid Horisont, Stjernevimmel paa Himlen og ranke Cypresser i denne Musik, der er saa moderne, at den griber tilbage efter Fortidens brede Linier og enkle Farver.”¹³⁰

Det er interessant at se, hvorledes holdningen til værket farver flere personers opfattelse af den samme begivenhed. I Kristeligt Dagblad, som har den mest negative anmeldelse, står der:

“De fire dygtige Kunstnere gjorde deres yderste og gav den en saa mørksterværdig Udførelse, som tænkes kunde, men det var dog kun et meget behersket Bifald, de afnødte Publikum.”¹³¹

mens derimod Charles Kjerulf i Politiken sluttede sin – i øvrigt meget rosende – omtale af værket med: “Kvartetten hilstes med stærk Applaus og Fremkaldelse af de Spillende.”¹³²

En anmeldelse i Illustreret Tidende bringes i sin helhed, fordi anmelderen, Hother Ploug, drager sammenligninger med andre danske komponister og sætter spørgsmålstegn ved publikums evne til at lytte, og på denne måde karakteriserer han Carl Nielsens kvartet som en nyskabelse midt i det bestående:

“Paa den første af Brødrene Høebergs Kammermusiksoireer opførtes en ny Strygekvartet af Carl Nielsen, Nr. 4 i Es-dur, der omtrent samtidigt er udkommet i Partitur paa Wilhelm Hansens Forlag. Et mærkeligt Arbejde som alt hvad der kommer fra denne Haand, men mere et Arbejde for Kendere end for det bredere Publikum. Navnlig den energiske Førsteallegro med sin sluttede Bygning og det stærkt slyngede kontrapunktiske Arbejde viste sig som Kaviar for Hoben. Den gik paa Koncerthen nærmest hen over Hovederne paa Folk, og kun de allerfærreste opfattede noget af den. Dette er beklageligt, forsaavidt som Talen her er om et Stykke, der er en sjælden Fugl i dansk Musik. Form og Arkitektur plejer vi ikke at have meget af i vor Kunst; vor eneste større Symfoniker i Fortiden, Gade, har ikke and architecture in our art; our only major symphonist in the past, Gade, did not have his strength in this area; and our other composers, whether they are called Weyse or Hartmann, Heise or Lange-Müller, are more masters of the small-scale form. Here we meet a young Danish composer with a sense of form and the sculptural that is not strongly evident in many others at present than perhaps Johan Svendsen, and people are repelled by it. In a way this is explicable enough: when one is bottle-fed day in and day out with 'romances' and romance-like music, in the end one loses the feeling for stronger fare. Fortunately, though, the artist was able to grip people with the beautiful Adagio, a highly substantial piece of music which combines with its broad melodiousness the advantage of being completely devoid of the small muddinesses from which Carl Nielsen's part-writing not rarely suffers to the great vexation of the establishment. Likewise the brisk but hardly as substantial Scherzo struck home, as well as the powerful Finale.¹³³

The quartet, opus 14, was played many times in Carl Nielsen's lifetime by both the Høeberg Quartet and the Breuning-Bache Quartet,¹³⁴ and by other quartets with among others Peder Møller¹³⁵ and Emil Telmányi on first violin in the Chamber Music Society and in other music societies in various parts of Denmark and abroad,¹³⁶ and as with other works the Danish public took it to their hearts and in time understood the "rare bird" better. In 1925 the quartet was performed at the first of three concerts in the ceremonial hall of the University on the occasion of the composer's sixtieth birthday, and the review in Politiken described the work as follows:

"The E flat major quartet and its indisputable mastery, his greatest triumph in this music genre, powerful and manly, profoundly poetic, gracefully pastoral, courageously ambitious."¹³⁷

Outside Denmark it appears that people were more understanding of the work from the outset, as is evident from the sin Styrke paa dette Punkt; og vore andre Komponister ere, hvad enten de hedder Weyse eller Hartmann, Heise eller Lange-Müller, nærmest den lille Forms Mestre. Her møder vi en ung dansk Komponist med en Sans for Form og Plastik, som i Nutidens ikke mange andre end maaske Johan Svendsen har saa stærkt inde, og saa frastødes Folk derved. Paa en Maade er dette forklarligt nok: naar man Dag ud og Dag ind opflaskes med Romancer og romanceagtig Musik, saa forliser man tilsidst Sansen for kraftigere Kost. Heldigvis lykkedes det dog Kunstneren at faa Tag i Folk ved den skønne Adagio, et saare betydeligt Stykke Musik, der ved Siden af sin brede Melodiøsitet forbinder det Fortrin at være kemisk frit for de Smaagrumsierier, Carl Nielsens Stemmemørsing ikke sjældent lider af til saa stor Forargelse for de Folk paa Bjerget. I lige Maade slog den kvikke, men næppe saa betydelige Sherzo an og den kraftfulde Finale."¹³³

Kvartetten opus 14 blev spillet mange gange i Carl Nielsens levetid både af Høeberg-kvartetten og Breuning-Bache kvartetten¹³⁴ samt af andre kvartetter med blandt andre Peder Møller¹³⁵ og Emil Telmányi på førsteviolinen i Kammermusikforeningen og i andre musikforeninger rundt om i Danmark og i udlandet,¹³⁶ og i lighed med andre værker tog det danske publikum den til sig og forstod med tiden den "sjældne Fugl" bedre. I 1925 opførtes kvartetten på den første af tre koncerter i Universitetets Solennitetssal i anledning af komponistens 60-års dag, og i anmeldelsen i Politiken karakteriseres værket således:

"Es-dur Kvartetten og dens uomtvistelige Mesterskab, hans største Triumf i denne Musikart, mægtig og mandig, dybt poetisk, yndefuld pastoral, modigt fremadstormende."¹³⁷

I udlandet var man tilsyneladende fra første færd mere forstående overfor værket, hvilket fremgår af det følgende. I en following. An advertisement for Carl Nielsen's compositions quotes a review in Allgemeine Zeitung from 7th March 1902:

"The instruments are given independent treatment throughout; everywhere life prevails, although the melodic line and phrasing exhibit great self-will. The clearest example of this is the slow movement with its fountain of melody and joyful inwardness. When it comes to richness of ideas the first movement is probably the finest. As far as the musical ideas are concerned, the last movement is not wholly successful, although in its form it exhibits both succinctness and mastery. At all events the work is noteworthy."¹³⁸

In the same place, Musikalisches Wochenblatt from 16th October 1902 is also quoted with words acknowledging Carl Nielsen's feeling for chamber music:

"In the string quartet opus 14 it was mostly the slow movement that appealed to me: a deeply felt harmonious form with intense melodic treatment. In particular I consider the composer's contrapuntal skills and his mastery of the quartet style deserving of praise."¹³⁹

These reviews were in the nature of things selected for advertising purposes and may not be representative of the general view abroad, but they show us that there was a certain level of understanding for Carl Nielsen in Germany.

The score of the string quartet, opus 14, appeared together with that of the quartet in G minor, opus 13, in December 1900 published by Wilhelm Hansens Musikforlag.¹⁴⁰ The work had taken a long time to be printed: Nielsen had submitted the score to the publisher before the summer of 1899,¹⁴¹ and it was not until 24th January 1900 that he received the following letter from them, while he was with his wife in Rome on one of the study trips funded by the State:¹⁴² reklame for Carl Nielsens kompositioner citeres en anmeldelse i Allgemeine Zeitung fra den 7. marts 1902:

"Die Instrumente sind durchweg selbständig behandelt, überall herrscht Leben, freilich auch viel Eigenwilligkeit in der Zeichnung und Phrasierung. Am klarsten gibt sich in dieser Hinsicht der langsame Satz, der von quellender Melodik und gemütvoller Innerlichkeit ist. In der Erfindung am vornehmsten ist wohl der erste Satz. Nicht ganz so glücklich ist – was das Gedankenmaterial betrifft – der letzte Satz, der dagegen wieder in der Struktur Knaptheit und des Komponisten Formgewandtheit zeigt. Das Werk ist in jedem Fall eine beachtenswerte Erscheinung."¹³⁸

Sammesteds citeres også Musikalisches Wochenblatt, fra 16. oktober 1902 med anerkendende ord om Carl Nielsens sans for det kammermusikalske:

"Aus dem Streich-Quartette Op 14 sagte mir der langsame Satz am meisten zu, ein tief empfundenes, harmonisches Gebilde von intensiver Melodik. Sehr zu loben finde ich die contrapunctische Gewandtheit des Componisten und seine treffliche Behandlung des Quartettstiles."¹³⁹

Disse anmeldelser er ifølge sagens natur udvalgt i reklameøjemed og behøver ikke at være dækkende for den almindelige opfattelse i udlandet, men de er dog et udtryk for forståelse af Carl Nielsen i Tyskland.

Partituret til strygekvartetten opus 14 udkom sammen med Kvartet i g-mol, opus 13 i december 1900 på Wilhelm Hansens Musikforlag.¹⁴⁰ Arbejdet var længe undervejs, idet han allerede indleverede partiturerne til forlaget før sommeren 1899,¹⁴¹ og først den 24. januar 1900 modtog han følgende brev fra forlaget, mens han befandt sig sammen med sin hustru i Rom på et af staten finansieret studieophold:¹⁴²

"The engraving of the quartet no. 3 will be finished in a few days and after Bohlmann has read the 1st proofs I will send it to you."¹⁴³ and a good three months later, on 5th May 1900:

"Quite some time ago we sent you the proofs of the two string quartets. I hope you have received them safely?"¹⁴⁴

An undated note in the diary from the tour to Italy in 1900 must be related to the proofreading of opus 14, and it would appear that Carl Nielsen had his fair copy with him:

New Quartet

Piu mosso a tempo 2 places in 1st Allegro. Fingering and bowing must not be omitted. Sul A.D.G. etc.

Miss Nielsen Via Umbria N° 7 (Intrata 12)."¹⁴⁵

It is not clear from the note whether "Miss Nielsen" has read the proofs or whether her name and address have been noted for some other reason. The comment that the fingering and bowing must not be omitted shows that Nielsen is very concerned with the sonority as such.

According to Wilhelm Hansen's engraver's books C.G. Bohlmann read the first proofs of both works¹⁴⁶ and in Orkesterforeningens Medlemsblad (no. 4, April 1908), on the occasion of his seventieth birthday, Carl Nielsen offered the following description of him as a proof-reader:

"His questions about the proofs are often highly instructive. In the nature of things he cannot criticize or make direct suggestions, but behind his little questions and remarks, often put in the most charming way, he is revealed as a quiet, fine, shrewd and sincere artist – especially, as mentioned, in anything to do with the instrumentation."¹⁴⁷

C.G. Bohlmann's skill and his thorough proof-reading is reflected in the printed edition, which is almost without misprints, unlike the string quartet in F minor, opus 5, where Carl Nielsen himself read the proofs.

og godt og vel tre måneder senere, den 5. maj 1900:

"For længere Tid siden tilsendte vi Dem Korrekturaftryk af de to Strygekvartetter. De ere vel forhaabentligt komne Dem rigtigt i Hænde?"¹⁴⁴

Et udateret notat i dagbogen fra turen til Italien år 1900 må have tilknytning til korrekturen af opus 14, og det kan se ud som om Carl Nielsen har haft sin renskrift med sig:

Nye Kvartet

Piu mosso a tempo 2 Steder i 1st Allegro. Fingersætning og Strøg maa ikke udelades. Sul A.D.G. o.s.v.

Frk Nielsen Via Umbria N° 7 (Intrata 12)."¹⁴⁵

Det fremgår ikke af notatet, om den nævnte Frk. Nielsen har læst korrekturen eller om hendes navn og adresse er noteret i anden sammenhæng. Bemærkningerne om de spilletekniske anvisninger, som ikke må udelades, viser, at Carl Nielsen er meget bevidst omkring det rent klanglige.

I følge Wilhelm Hansens stikkerbøger har C.G. Bohlmann læst førstekorrekturen på begge værker¹⁴⁶ og Carl Nielsen gav i Orkesterforeningens Medlemsblad (nr. 4, april 1908) i anledning af hans 70 års fødselsdag følgende karakteristik af ham som korrekturlæser:

"Hans Spørgsmaal paa Korrekturarkene er tit højest belærende. I Følge Sagens Natur kan han ikke kritisere eller foreslaa direkte, men bag hans smaa Spørgsmaal og Bemærkninger, der ofte fremsættes paa den mest indtagende Maade,aabenbarer der sig en paa en Gang stille, fin skarp og oprigtig Kunstner, navnlig, som sagt, i alt, der omfatter Instrumentationen."¹⁴⁷

C.G. Bohlmanns dygtighed og grundige korrekturlæsning afspejler sig i den trykte udgave, som på det nærmeste er uden trykfejl i modsætning til Strygekvartetten i f-mol, opus 5, hvor Carl Nielsen selv læste korrektur.

143 DK-Kk, Wilhelm Hansens Arkiv, korrespondance 1915-1935. Nr. 3 henviser til op. 13 eller 14. Nr. 1 må formodes at være op. 5 udgivet 1892.

The work is dedicated to Edvard Grieg. Carl Nielsen and the Grieg family were close acquaintances and Grieg had already made very positive statements about Carl Nielsen's works,¹⁴⁸ but it has not been possible to find anything beyond this that could shed more light on the composer's reasons for the dedication.

Since the score, as pointed out earlier, was published in 1900, it must be the publication of the parts in October/November 1901 that Hother Ploug refers to in the above-quoted review of 24th November 1901 in Illustreret Tidende, which fits chronologically with the first entry on the work in the music register Dansk Musikfortegnelse in 1901.¹⁴⁹ The parts were probably engraved after the printed score, since by and large there is agreement between score and parts.

The most important surviving source material consists of the draft, which contains all four movements including many sketches, especially for the fourth movement, and the first edition of the printed score. In the draft Carl Nielsen has not indicated key signatures, while the use of accidentals is highly inconsistent, since sometimes the key signatures are taken for granted and sometimes they are not. These variants have not been included in the Editorial Emendations and Alternative Readings. The printing manuscript must be considered lost; the first edition of the printed score has been chosen as the main source, as it is the edition of the work last sanctioned by Carl Nielsen.

A special problem in the editing has been the three notes of the second violin in the fourth movement, bar 367: $f^{\cdot} g^{\cdot} a^{\cdot}$. In the main source these are notated in the viola part on the same music lines, but with an alto clef instead of a treble clef, which makes them appear as $g\text{-}a\text{-}b$. In the draft Carl Nielsen has added bb. 366-370 of the cello part on a hand-ruled staff below the viola, and in both violins one can see a semi-breve rest crossed out and the present notes added on their respective staves – all done in one and the same process.¹⁵⁰ Judging from these clear additions and corrections it was Carl Nielsen himself who mistakenly wrote the notes in the viola instead of the second violin in the printing manuscript because of the crookedness of the staves, so in this case we have chosen to follow the draft.

Værket er tilegnet Edvard Grieg. Carl Nielsen og familien Grieg var nære bekendte, og Grieg havde allerede tidligere ytret sig meget positivt om Carl Nielsens værker,¹⁴⁸ men det har ikke været muligt at finde noget, der ud over dette kan kaste nærmere lys over komponistens begrundelse for tilegnelsen.

Da partituret som tidligere nævnt udkom år 1900, må det være udgivelsen af stemmerne i oktober/november 1901, som Hother Ploug henviser til i ovenfor citerede anmeldelse fra 24. november 1901 i Illustreret Tidende, hvilket tidsmæssigt passer med den første optagelse af værket i Dansk Musikfortegnelse i 1901.¹⁴⁹ Stemmerne er formentlig stukket efter det trykte partitur da der i det store og hele er overensstemmelse mellem partitur og stemmer.

Det vigtigste overleverede kildemateriale består af kladden, som indeholder alle fire satser inklusive mange skitser til navnlig fjerde sats, samt førsteudgaven af det trykte partitur. I kladden har Carl Nielsen ikke angivet faste fortegn, men anvendelsen af løse fortegn er meget inkonsistent, idet de faste fortegn nogle gange forudsættes og andre gange ikke. Disse varianter er ikke medtaget i Editorial Emendations and Alternative Readings. Trykforlægget må anses for tabt; førsteudgaven af det trykte partitur er valgt til hovedkilde som den af Carl Nielsen senest sanktionerede udgave af værket.

Et særligt problem ved revisionen har været anden-violinens tre toner i fjerde sats t. 367: $f^{\cdot} g^{\cdot} a^{\cdot}$. I hovedkilden er disse noder noteret i bratsch-stemmen på samme nodelinier men med en alt-nøgle i stedet for diskant-nøgle, hvorfed de kommer til at fremstå som $g\text{-}a\text{-}b$. I kladden har Carl Nielsen tilføjet celostemmens t. 366-370 på et håndtegnet system under bratschen, og i begge violiner ses helnodepause overstreget og de nuværende noder tilføjet på deres respektive system – udført i én og samme arbejdsgang.¹⁵⁰ At dømme efter disse entydige tilføjelser og rettelser er det efter alt at dømme Carl Nielsen selv, der i trykforlægget ved en fejltagelse på grund af den skæve struktur i akkoladen har skrevet noderne i bratschen i stedet for i andenviolinen, hvorfor det i dette tilfælde er valgt at følge kladden.

Between two major achievements in dramatic music, the opera Masquerade and the music for Holger Drachmann's melodrama Sir Oluf He Rides – (Hr. Oluf, han rider –), Carl Nielsen composed a chamber music work, the string quartet in F major. The first two movements of the quartet are dated at the beginning of 1906, 9th February and 21st March respectively, while the last two movements were finished in the summer and are ended dated 21st June and 2nd July 1906.

The quartet was given its first performance in private during Carl Nielsen's summer holiday stay with the landowner couple Viggo and Bodil Neergaard at their estate Fuglsang on the island of Lolland. Carl Nielsen had spent the first part of the summer in his summer cottage at Skagen, and from there he wrote on 26th July 1906 to Bodil Neergaard:

"Just before I travelled from Copenhagen I completed a new string quartet; I have had the parts written out and am thus taking them with me to christen them with you. It will be amusing to hear and see Röntgen's new composition; and then Brucken-Fock!"¹⁵¹

The quartet was thus given its first performance in the company of good friends at Fuglsang, apparently to the full satisfaction of the composer:

"Today we have played my new quartet and it sounds as I had expected; after all I am becoming quite familiar with the true nature of the string instruments. It is amazing how many years you have to coax and cajole such a delicate creature as a string

Revisionsarbejdet har i øvrigt for størstedelen bestået af komplettering af dynamik og artikulation, hvilket er gjort på hovedkildens egne præmisser, mens kladden har været konsulteret i tvivlstilfælde.

I mellem de to store musikdramatiske præstationer, operaen Maskarade og skuespilmusikken til Holger Drachmanns melodrama Hr. Oluf, han rider -, tog Carl Nielsen sig tid til at komponere et kammermusikalsk værk, nemlig strygekvartetten i F-dur. De to første satser af kvartetten er dateret i begyndelsen af 1906, hhv. 9. februar og 21. marts, mens de to sidste satser blev færdige om sommeren og er sluttet dateret 21. juni og 2. juli 1906.

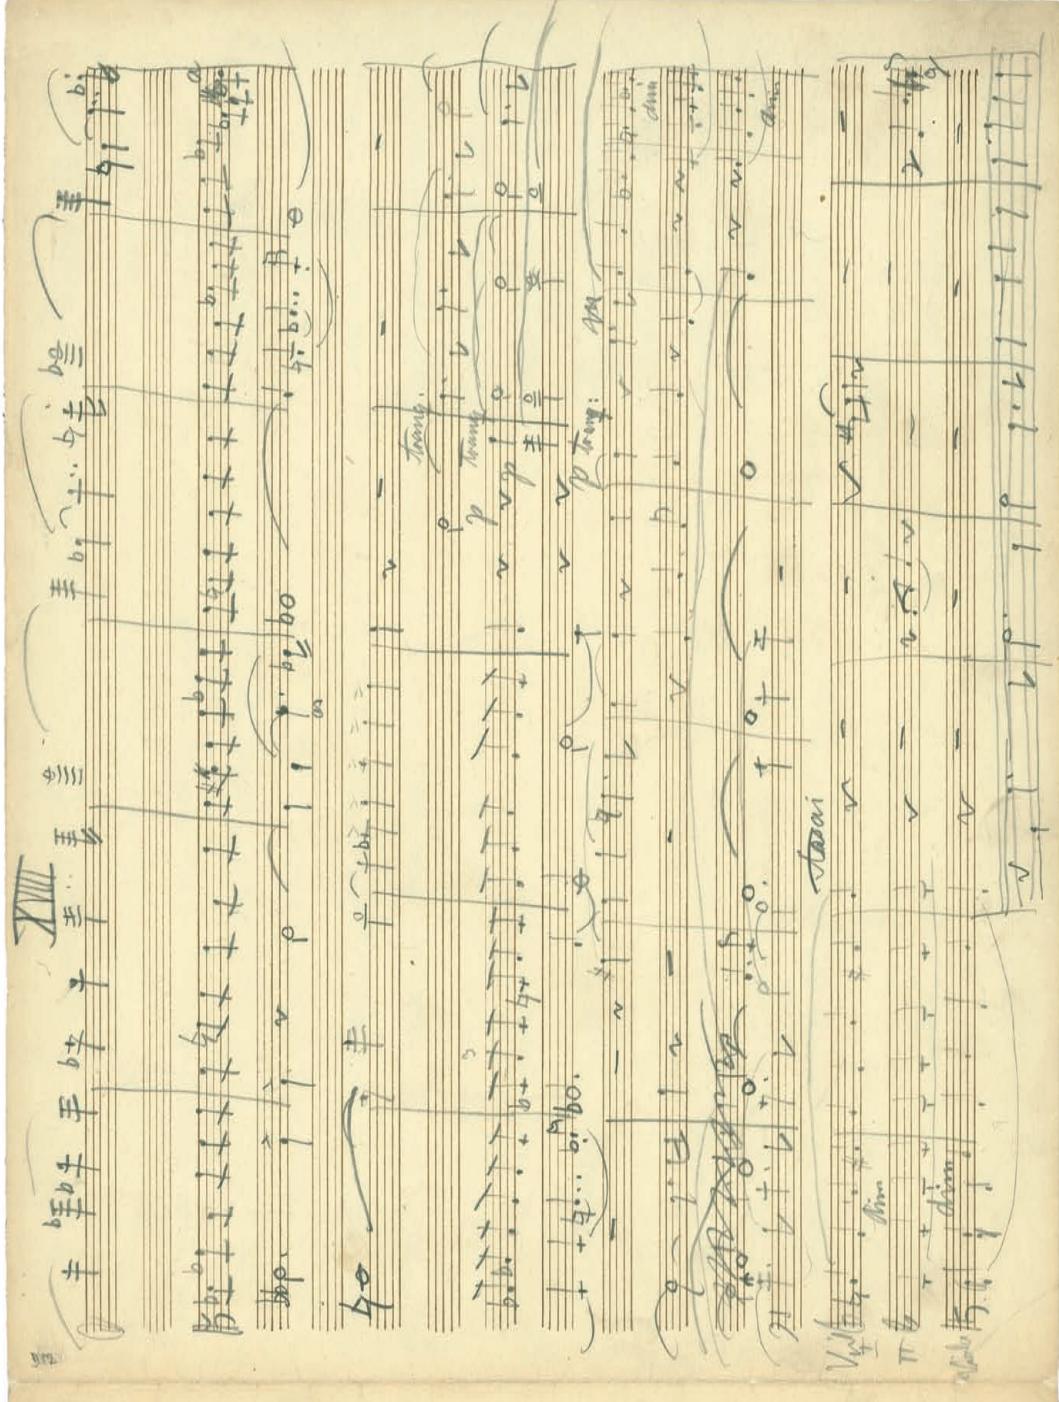

Kvartetten fik sin første opførelse under private former under Carl Nielsens sommerferieophold hos godsejer-parret Viggo og Bodil Neergaard på Fuglsang på Lolland. Første del af sommeren havde Carl Nielsen tilbragt i sit sommerhus på Skagen, og herfra skrev han den 26. juli 1906 til Bodil Neergaard:

"Lige inden jeg rejste fra København fuldendte jeg en ny Strygekvartet jeg har ladet Stemmerne udskrive og tager dem saa med, at jeg kunne holde den over Daaben hos Jer. Det skal blive morsomt at høre og se Röntgens nye Komposition; og saa Brucken-Fock!"¹⁵¹

Kvartetten blev altså førsteført i gode venners lag på Fuglsang, tilsyneladende til komponistens fulde tilfredshed:

"Vi har i dag spillet min nye Kvartet og den klinger som jeg havde ventet mig; jeg kjender jo nu smart Strygeinstrumentenes sande Væsen. Forresten er det forunderligt som man i mange Aar skal lokke og kjæle for et saa sart Væsen som en

Quartet for Two Violins, Viola and Cello, opus 14, draft (Source C), fourth movement bb. 345-370. At the bottom of the page one sees Carl Nielsen's addition of the staff for the cello part (bb. 366-370); in the fourth-last and third-last bars we see his change of the semibreve rest in v.l.2 (b. 367) and v.l.1 (b. 368).

Kvartet for to violiner, bratsch og cello, opus 14, kladde (kilde C), fjerde sats t. 345-370. Nederst på siden ses Carl Nielsens tilføjelsen af celostemmens system (t. 366-370); i fjerde- og tredjesidste takt ses hans ændring af helnodepausen i vil.2 (t. 367) og vil.1 (t. 368).

In the Critical Commentary the following conventions are used:

- 1 “by analogy with” is used when something has been “added”, “emended” or “omitted” by analogy with another passage in the main source. The analogy may be vertical. When something is added “by analogy with” one or more instruments, it is understood that the analogy is with the same place in the same bar(s). Or it may be horizontal. When something is added “by analogy with” one or more bars, it is understood that the analogy is with a parallel place in the same instrument(s).
- 2 “as in” is used when something is “added”, “emended” or “omitted” to correspond to the same place in another source.
- 3 “in accordance with” is used in cases where there is no authoritative source, only a guideline – for example printed part material.

In the bar number column, the symbol “+” is used to indicate an upbeat to the bar in question.

The earliest drafts for the Quartet opus 5 are in the case of the first, second and third movements to be found in the draft (D). This source includes, besides a draft for all four movements, many unused sketches for the second and fourth movements as well as a number of sketches for other works. In addition Carl Nielsen has noted sketches for the fourth movement in his sketchbook (E). It is evident from the draft (D) for the second movement that on fol. C1^v after b. 24 Carl Nielsen continued – on the same folio – with 27 bars representing a version of the "Agitato" in $\frac{4}{4}$, after which the composition stops at the bottom of fol. C2^v. In the gathering with folos. E1-E4 the middle movement can be found with the tempo marking "Più mosso" in $\frac{3}{4}$ and expanded to 79 bars (folos. E1^r-E2^v, second system), after which the composition continues with the present edition's b. 60 up to and including the cadence at b. 96 in fol. E3^v. This version of the second movement, and the remainder of the draft with the other movements, form the basis for the fair copy (C). However, Carl Nielsen changed his mind a second time, inasmuch as this middle section is not included in the printed edition. On a separate bifolio (folos. D1-D2) he has written bars 25-59. The draft (D) – folos. C1-C2, D1-D2, E2^v from the third system to fol. E3^v – was thus the basis for the second movement in an unknown printing manuscript containing the whole quartet as it looked in the first printed edition from 1892. This printed score (A) has been chosen as the main source, since it represents the latest source approved by the composer. The manuscript parts were probably lost in connection with the printing; however, Carl Nielsen attached great importance to them, since in a letter of 14.6.1892 to the publisher Wilhelm Hansen in connection with the printing, he asked to be sent the parts so that he could transfer additions in them to the score.⁹ As a result of this the printed parts (B) have been used as complementary documentation. All variants in this have been included in the List of emendations and alternative readings.

Beyond corrections of many errors in the music, most of the problems during the editorial work have concerned missing dynamics or articulation. We have attempted to solve these on the premises of the main source itself with the parts (B) as complementary material. Although the fair copy (C) and the draft (D) contain earlier versions of the work, the passages they share with the main source (A) conform closely to one another, so the sources have been consulted in cases of doubt. This is especially true of the emendations of notes. In the List of emendations and alternative readings only those variants in the draft (D) and the fair copy (C) that can shed light on particularly complex places in the main source (A) have been included.

The earliest fragmentary sources for the Quartet opus 14 are to be found in Carl Nielsen's sketchbook (D). After these come the draft (C), which also contains many sketches, especially for the fourth movement. The draft (C) is complete and represents the only complete source in Carl Nielsen's own hand. The printing manuscript was probably lost in connection with the printing; Carl Nielsen lost an earlier fair copy of the third and fourth movement in 1900.¹¹ The printed score (A) has been chosen as the main source, since it is the last complete source approved by Carl Nielsen. The parts (B) did appear a few years later, but since the printing manuscripts are not known, and since, given the available information, we cannot know whether Carl Nielsen read proofs of these, they cannot be used as a main source. The incomplete four-handed piano score (E), which was written out by Henrik Knudsen from an unknown original or drawn up from the draft, and the fragmentary cello part (F) with four different phrases in the first movement written out on the basis of the draft, or the lost printing manuscript, have had no significance for the edition. This is equally true of the score (G) and parts (H) published after 1925 as a reprint of the music but with no title page.

The editorial work has mainly consisted of completions of dynamics and articulation. We have attempted to solve the problems on the premises of the main source itself, while the parts (B) and the draft (C) have been used as guidelines. Important variants in the draft and parts have been included in the List of emendations and alternative readings.
