OBSERVATIONS.

LE petit recueil que j'offre en ce moment au public est un des ouvrages les plus utiles que l'on puisse mettre entre les mains des élèves, du moment où ils ont commencé à faire quelques progrès dans l'étude de la musique. La forme de canon que l'auteur a donnée à ces leçons les rend fort commodes pour l'enseignement d'une classe : elle leur donne l'avantage de pouvoir être chantées par chaque élève en particulier ou par tous les élèves pris ensemble, et, dans cette dernière disposition, de produire une harmonie agréable et d'une exécution facile.

L'auteur de ces leçons, le P. Sabbatini, dont le frontispice fait connaître les principaux titres, était élève du célèbre Père J. B. Martini. Il a joui long-temps de la réputation d'un des plus savans maîtres de chapelle d'Italie, et en a exercé les fonctions dans les principales églises de cette contrée, notamment à la basilique Constantine des S^{ts}.-Apôtres à Rome et à la cathédrale de St.-Antoine de Padoue. Il est mort en cette dernière ville, au mois de mars 1809, dans un âge fort avancé. Il avait publié en 1800 plusieurs ouvrages de théorie fort estimés, dont il me fit l'honneur de m'envoyer un exemplaire, auquel était joint un recueil imprimé de ces leçons, corrigé de sa main. Ce recueil fut publié pour la première fois à Rome, en 1789, chez Pilucchi - Craccas et Gios. Rotili, imprimeurs. Les leçons sont précédées d'une exposition des élémens de la musique, dans laquelle les notions essentielles sont résumées dans des canons qui présentent en même temps le précepte et l'exemple. L'exposition des principes manque de clarté : elle contient des notions surannées, telles que celle des nuances; les canons doctrinaux perdraient une partie de leur intérêt par le défaut de correspondance entre les termes de musique italiens et français : j'ai donc pris le parti de supprimer l'exposition; quant aux canons, je les ai réunis en un seul recueil, que j'ai placé à la suite des leçons de solfège.
