He found the Inhabitants of the Village either averse, or afraid, to give him lodging, or entertainment; and having turned his horse loose, he sought Shelter, from a Storm of thunder & rain, under a tree. At length, as night approached that kindness & humanity inherent in the female Sex, to which he had often been indebted on former occasions, came to his relief on the present. — A Poor Negro Woman, returning from the labours of the field, observed that he was wet, weary & dejected, and taking up his Saddle & Bridle, told him to follow her. She led him to her Cottage, lighted up A lamp, procured him an excellent Supper of fish, & plenty of Corn for his horse; after which, she spread a Mat up on the floor, and said he might remain there for the night. For this well timed bounty, our traveller presented her with two of the Four brass buttons Which remained on his Waistcoat.
