rall.

screw'd her little waist To such a little size That it made her little blood Rush to her little eyes. Oh! this charming little, winning little, very little maid; This very, very, very little maid.

2

This pretty little maid.
Had a pretty little beau;
Who wore a little hat
And gloves as white as snow.
He said his little heart
Was in a little flutter;
That he lov'd the little maid,
And no one else but her.

3

She smiled a little smile,
When he breathed his little vows;
And he kiss'd her little hand,
With many little bows.
By little and by little
Her little heart did yield;
'Till little tears and sighs
Her little fears reveal'd.

4

A little while— Alas!
And her little beau departed,
With all his little vows
And left her broken hearted.
Now all ye little maids,
A moral I will give you;
Don't trust to little men,
They surely will deceive you.
