

THE VAIN PURSUIT.

FORBEAR, gentle youth, to pursue me in vain,

Thy anguish I pity but cannot remove;

The ills I instict I am doom'd to sustain,

Nor shalt thou alone be the victim of love.

My Sandy was beautiful, happy and wise,

In ev'ry accomplishment destin'd to shine;

He had wit for all tastes, he had charms for all eyes,

Alas! the dear youth was too charming for mine.

He faw me, he lov'd me, his passion confess'd,

The soft declaration still sounds in my ear;

My image, he said, on his soul was impress'd,

And saithful his slame, as his heart was sincere.

His wishes, tho' fond, I as fondly repaid,

For oh! a warm heart it is easy to gain,

Which vows and professions already persuade;

Our pleasure was mutual, and mutual our pain.

Still fortune relentless our union denied,

In quest of more treasure to India he went;

But there, hapless youth, to my forrow he died,

And lest me for ever his fate to lament.

Gay hopes and delightful presages adieu,

Adieu ye soft whispers of tender desire;

From thee, my dear swain, these emotions first grew,

In deep disappointment with thee they expire.
