

10. The Ploughman.

Lively.

The plough-man he's a bon - ny lad, his mind is ev - er true, Jo! his
 My plough-man he comes hame at e'en, he's af - ten wet and wear - y; cast
 I hae been east, I hae been west, I hae been at Saint Johns - ton: the
 With naw white stock - ings on his legs, and sil - ler buck - les glanc - in, a Chorus.

gar - ters knit be-low his knee, his bon - net it is blue Jo!
 aff the wet, put on the dry, and gae to bed my dear - ie!
 bon-niest sight that e'er I saw, was ploughman lad - die danc - in. } 1-4. Then up wi't a' my ploughman lad, and gude blue ban-net on his head, and, Oh! but he was hand-some.)

hey my mer-ry plough-man, of a' the trades that I do ken com-mend me to the plough-man.