PREFACE.

The author of this little work is well aware of the fashionable plan of seeking favor for a book, by making a show of diffidence, such as is generally set forth in an apologetic preface. Under present circumstances, I have no apology to offer, and no mock modesty to manifest. Having met with remarkable success, in the issue of works designed for the instruction of the people in the science of music, I offer the "Temperance Musician" without hesitancy, thus giving my mite with sure confidence that it will render some little aid, in behalf of the great cause of Temperance.

While Intemperance stalks abroad through the land, and, with rapacious hand, despoils us of our health, wealth, and happiness, let us lift up our voices like trumpets, to re-echo the note of alarm. While the rumseller chuckles over his ill-gotten gains, and drives away the victims of his own ruining, to perish in the streets, or to drag out a miserable existence, dependent upon the cold charities of a hardnearted world; let notes of warning declare the impending judgment, that shall fall without measure or mercy upon the heads of the guilty wretches, who murder their fellow men by dealing to them the cup of poison and unutterable woe, simply to enrich themselves, and get gain, by the sacrifice of the property and lives of the unwary victims who have been tempted to indulge the fatal cup. While widows, who are made such by those who make and sell the accursed fire, follow lost companions to the untimely grave, let soft music breathe a sad requiem, when we remember the wretched life, and hopeless death, of those who fell victims to the avaricious and unmerciful hand of him who sells the intoxicating cup. And while children are left to wander without friends or home, and lift up their tiny hands in innocency, crying for mercy for the poor orphan that says, "Father's a drunkard, but I'm not to blame," shall we not speak to them, with such musical accents as shall cause their trembling hearts to be calm, and inspire their distracted souls with the hope that there is One who will be a Father to the fatherless, and will render "indignation and wrath, tribulation and anguish," to those who cause this great evil! Especially now should every voice be tuned to high notes of joy and gladness; the great and good of our land have arisen up in their strength, and determined to carry on the conquest with renewed vigor, until a complete victory is won. The lever of moral suasion has not proved fully adequate to the task; and now the weight of Legal Suasion is to be placed in the right end of the scale. What is to be the consequence, we begin to see already. Where a prohibitory law has been put in force, we see the community which was in the descending scale, and going down lower and lower in degradation and vice, at once begin to rise; see the state of Maine, Vermont, &c. And while the drunkard sees it with joy, and the rumseller is filled with dismay, we'll sing, "There is a good time coming;" and surely we shall have a multitude of voices to join the chorus of "Rejoice, rejoice, the promised time is coming," when we are assured that we shall only have to "Wait a little longer."

Friends of humanity, lovers of Temperance, and all who delight in doing good, let me commend to your notice a plan of rendering "material aid," in pushing foward the great temperance reform, viz: In every neighborhood, you must get up a "Temperance Music Band," which for a time, should meet as a singing school, or singing society, for practice. Soon as you have acquired facility in singing a few of these pieces, get up a temperance meeting; have short speeches, and intersperse the proceedings with appropriate songs, and you will soon be astonished at the grand result of your labors. The old and the young, one and all, will soon begin to feel an interest in the work. You will find good public speakers, and good singers, right at home, capable of interesting your own citizens beyond what you anticipated.

And when the Apostles of Temperance shall visit you, and find that your "souls are full of music," as well as interest for the cause, they will make better speeches, and the fruit of all our labors in this gracious work will be manifold more rich and abundant.

The music in this work is set according to Harrison's numeral system, for two reasons. First, because it is so simple and scientific, that all the people can easily learn it. Second, it is impossible to set music in a book of this size and shape, except in numerals. Those who can not learn music, as set forth in the "Universal," or "Temperance Musician," will not be held accountable in this matter.

That this little work may be an instrument in the hands of the good, by which they shall aid the cause of truth and righteousness, is the sincere desire of

THE AUTHOR.

NUMERAL MUSIC.

We present below a brief explanation of the Numeral System of Music, invented by Mr. Thos. Harrison.

The first seven numerals are placed between parallel lines, and, with the eighth, or one repeated, they represent the primary octave. Thus,

12345678

The same numerals are also placed below and above the lines, representing the lower and upper octaves. These three octaves contain twenty-two successive notes. Thus,

LOWER. MIDDLE. 12345678

A 1234567

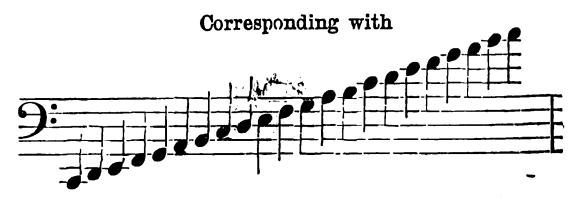

1234567

Corresponding with

1234567

1234567

The length of the notes is determined by certain marks attached to them; the crotchet is the figure without any mark; the minim has a period to the left, and the semibreve two periods; the quaver has a comma under it, the semiquaver two commas, the demisemiquaver three commas.

Corresponding with

SEMIBREVE, MINIM. CROTCHET. QUAVER. SEMIQ'R. DEMISEMIQ'R.

The common tone has one beat,
The double tone two beats,
The quadruple four beats,
The half tone has half a beat,
The quarter one-fourth of a beat,
The eighth an eighth of a beat.

Thus, it will be seen, that the quality of a note is expressed by its name.

This, however, refers to simple measures. In compound measures a common tone has two-thirds of a beat, a half tone one-third, and so of the rest.

A short horizontal line (1-) after a note, increases its duration one-half; and two short horizontal lines (1--) three-fourths.

The letter R denotes a rest; and its length is determined by the same marks as the tones.

The letter P over a note indicates a prolong; and means that the tone is to be continued beyond its marked length.

At the beginning of a tune, the letters A, B, C, and D, are placed between the parallel lines to represent the four different parts. A stands for the air, B for the bass, C for the counter, and D for the double or second air.

Above the parallel lines, at the commencement, is placed a figure denoting the altitude of the tune, or the pitch to be given to one, which is the key note.

1	denotes the	first altitude,	or key of	C
2	"	_	"	\mathbf{D}
3	"	third	66	E
4	66	fourth	£ .	F
5	"	fifth	ii e	G
6	66	sixth	"	Ä
7	66	seventh	66	\mathbf{B}

To the altitude mark is affixed the letter G or P; G denoting the grand octave, or major key; and P the plaintive, or minor.

Below the parallel lines, at the commencement, is placed a figure indicating the kind of measure.

2	indicates	two beats, or double measure
3	66	three beats or triple "
4	66	four beats, or quadruple "
6	"	six beats, or sextuple "
23	66	two beats, or double-triple "
46	66	four beats, or quadruple-sextuple.

The first four are simple measures, and the last two compound. In 23, the 2 denotes the number of beats, and the 3 the length of the notes as given in simple measure.

After the measure mark is placed a letter denoting the movement in beating. C means a common movement; S slow movement; SR slower; Q quick movement; and QR quicker.

REP. means a repeat; and & shows where the repeat begins.

REP. 1 & 2 S. means repeat first and second strains.

S, when placed before a note, stands for sharp, F for flat, and N for natural.

For a complete development of the numeral system of notation, we would refer to "Harrison's Sacred Harmonicon," and the "Universal Municipal TEMPERANCE MUSICIAN.

2. Wearily every bosom pineth,

Wearily O! wearily O!

Where'er the weed Intemp'rance twineth,

Wearily O! wearily O!

Here the parent's smile dies in sadness,

Here the youthful heart hath no gladness;

Every flower of life declineth.

Wearily O! wearily O!

Wearily, wearily O!

Wearily O! wearily O!

Cheerily O! cheerily O!

All our way is light before us,

Cheerily O! cheerily O!

If a virtuous life hath more pleasure

Than where care and strife fill each measure,

Why not join the temp'rance chorus?

Cheerily O! cheerily O!

Cheerily, cheerily O!

Cheerily O! cheerily O!

THE TRIUMPH, 8's, 6's.

- 1. I've broke the chain that bound me
 To infamy and vice,
 That sorrow brought around me,
 And turned my heart to ice;
 That drove my children tender,
 From my affections far,
 And made me peace surrender,
 Beneath vile Bacchus' car.
- 2. Of every hope and pleasure
 The glass has been the tomb,
 And anguish without measure,
 Brought to my wretched home;
 Were earth a golden palace,
 And I could call it mine,
 I would not touch the chalice,
 Where flows the tempting wine.

Lo! in the desert rich flowers are springing,
Streams ever copious are gliding along,
Hark! from the mountain tops echoes are ringing,
Joy is the anthem of earth's happy throng.

 Where Temperance armies stand,
 Against King Alcohol to wield
 The sword with fearless hand.
- 3. Let woman, too, rejoice,
 To see the foe recede;
 And let her in the "still small voice,"
 The cause of Temperance plead.
- 4. And while the thunder tone
 Of eloquence is stirred,
 Her whispered warning, God may own,
 His voice through hers be heard.

Tune—America's Freedom.

Seth Grimes and I were classmates once;
And I was rich, and he was poor;
I had, alas, it was my bane!
The wealth a father laid in store.

Seth toiled at morn and noon and night,
Until his hands were hard and brown,
To pay his board and tailor's bills,
While I was lounging round the town.

But mostly in the dry goods store,
To see the pretty girls come in;
Or drinking with my jolly peers,
Who were the fools of auld lang syne.

In brief, through long and weary nights,
He stored his mind with knowledge rare;
And I—learned how to guzzle wine,
And how to pick a good cigar.

Some three and thirty years have past Since we on life's great sea set sail; And lo, the beam is sadly turned In fortune's strange, uneven scale.

My vaunted wealth has taken wings,
And flown away to parts unknown;
Indeed—with sorrow be it said—
I'm on the poor-list of the town.

While Seth, who toiled to pay his way,
Until his hands were hard and brown,
Is now receiving his reward
As senator at Washington.

- 3. There is a fiery cup,
 Whose ministry of woe
 Can melt the spirit's purest pearl,
 And lay the mightiest low.
- 4. Turn from its treach'rous tide,
 Repel its syren claim,
 Nor let me 'mid the nation's blush,
 And mourn my children's shame.
- 5. And will ye, for the sake
 Of one sweet poison-draught,
 The record of my fame debase,
 By blood and suffering bought?
- 6. And will ye cast that stain
 Upon my banner's ray,
 Which all the rivers of our realm
 Can never wash away?"

- 2. How mounts the soul with rushing wing, When wakes the poet's magic strain; But if the "sparkling bowl" he sing, Those soaring pinions droop again.
- 3. How music cheers the weary heart;
 To trouble's wave it whispers peace;
 But when it acts the syren's part,
 In vain the captive seeks release.
- 4. How fair the path that upward leads,
 'T is virtue's sweet and pleasant way;
 Our guide each humble pilgrim leads,

THE DRUNKARD FOUND. L. M.

- 1. God of our father's Thee we praise,
 To-day our grateful thanks ascend;
 Accept these thanks, our cheerful lays,
 With organ's solemn chantings blend.
- 2. Thy grace the wretched drunkard found, Cast out and weltering in his blood; Now from his tongue doth praise resound, He owes that praise to thee, O God,
- 3. No longer poverty and shame—
 A sad inheritance are theirs;—
 Their altered looks aloud proclaim
 A happy change in their affairs.
- 4. Our thanks to thee, O God, we give, What better tribute can we pay? 'T is on thy bounties that we live, We praise thee for this festal day.

2. We can not claim a right to live
Aloof from other's woes,
And pass in splendid luxury
On to the grave:
The wealth of earth may gild our path,
And blind the rich man's eyes;
But ah! it can not light the tomb,
Whene'r the spirit flies.

And feel that life's first duty is
Our fellowship to lend:
How much of human wees would

How much of human woes would then Be banished from our race,

And all our acts would meet the smile Of God's approving grace.

DISTILLER'S SONG. D. C. M.

- Why should we from the yellow grain
 Th' injurious draught distill?
 Desiring by unrighteous gain,
 Our coffers well to fill:
 If 't is unrighteous now to vend,
 As readily we prove,
 Then our employment must offend
 Against the law of love.
- 2. All those who drink, or sell, or buy,
 Are surely in the wrong;
 And we, who furnish the supply,
 To the same craft belong.
 The vices do not need such aid,
 For increase of their power—
 The evils which the land invade,
 We need augment no more.
- 3. The streams of death too long have flowed
 From fountains like our own;
 Vast ruins yet may be deplored,
 And mischiefs yet be done.
 With sorrow we our course review,
 Which now so vile appears;
 Nor longer will the work pursue,
 Which fills the land with tears.

- 4. Stay, father, stay; O leave this night, The mad'ning bowl, whose with'ring blight Hath cast so dark a shade around The home where joy alone was found.
- 5. Stay, father, stay; alone, alone, With none to cheer, and none to mourn, How can I leave this world of woe, And to the land of spirits go?
- 6. Stay, father, stay; once more I ask:
 O! count it not a heavy task,
 To stay with me till life shall end—
 My last, my only earthly friend.

A very florid belle told a brandy drinker the other day that his face was too highly painted.

He retorted—"It at least is not painted in water-colors, like yours!"

Tune-Louisville.

- 1. I've signed the pledge! it is the bond
 Between my God and me.
 'Tis done: I've broke th' enchanted wand;
 I breathe, I live, I'm free!
 Darkness, which was my world, is past,
 And sounds of discord cease:
 And what was once a chaos vast,
 Is harmony and peace.
- 2. And as I turn me to that home,
 Once cheerless to my sight,
 Seraphic voices seem to come,
 With welcome of delight;
 The very faces round my hearth,
 Are sweetly new to see,
 And woman's love, and childhood's mirth,
 Are Paradise to me.
- 3. O, glorious change! a beauteous world
 Appeareth now around:
 The evening clouds seem flags unfurl'd,
 With gold and crimson bound;
 The wood, the harvest field and hill,
 With living splendor glow,
 While ocean, river, stream and rill,
 Give music as they flow.
- 4. O, that the veil were rent before,
 That I might see these things,
 And, glad with gratitude, adore
 The power whence wisdom springs.
 But mercy o'er life's pathway yet
 Her luster will display,
 As suns in cloudless light will set,
 Which led a stormy day.

FRIENDS OF FREEDOM. CONTINUED. 35

- 2. Shrink not when the foe appears;
 Spurn the coward's guilty fears,
 Hear the shrieks, behold the tears
 Of ruin'd families.
 Raise the cry in every spot—
 "Touch not, taste not, handle not,"
 Who would be a drunken sot!
 The worst of miseries.
- 3. Give the aching bosom rest,
 Carry joy to every breast,
 Make the wretched drunkard blest,
 By living soberly.
 Raise the glorious watchword high,
 "Touch not, taste not, till ye die,"
 Let the echo reach the sky,
 And earth keep jubilee.
- 4. God of mercy hear us plead!
 For thy help we intercede;
 See how many bosoms bleed,
 O heal them speedily.
 Hasten Lord, the happy day
 When beneath thy genial ray,
 Temp'rance all the world shall sway,
 And reign triumphantly.

Says Tom, in Corliss's one day,
Now, gentlemen, I'd rather
Drink poison any time than rum,
Because rum slew my father.
The doctor shook his head, and then
His toddy he renewed,
And said, I do believe ye, Tom,
I've often seen him slewed!

 Because I've left the sparkling wine,

 Bound by nature's dearest ties;

 O, leave your cups, be wise, be wise;

INDEPENDENCE DAY. 7s & 6s.

Tune—Webb.

We meet to-day in gladness,
To sing of conquests won,
No note of painful sadness,
Is mingled with our song;
This day renowned in story—
The day of freedom's birth,
We hail in all its glory',
We highly prize its worth.

The temperance flag is waving
O'er valley, hill, and plain;
Where ocean's sons are braving
The dangers of the main;
The Pledge, the Pledge is given
To float on every breeze;
O waft it, gracious heaven,
O'er all the earth and seas.

Our cause, our cause is gaining
New laurels every day;
The youthful mind we're training
To walk in virtue's way.
Old age and sturdy manhood,
Are with us, heart and hand;
Then let us all united,
In one firm phalanx stand.

THE BOWL NO SOLACE. C. M.

Tune—My Mother's Home.

Deep sorrows drowned within the bowl,
Are never known to die,
But quickly rise to fill the soul
With keener misery;
For though awhile they seem to sleep,
When wine her opiate tries,
They wake to bid the mourner weep
With deep remorseful sighs.

The heart that mourns o'er blighted love,
Around the silent tomb,
Has never found the bowl remove
The sorrow or the gloom;
When health is gone and fortune fails,
And friends bring no relief,

THE BOWL NO SOLACE. CONTINUED. 41

The poisonous potion nought avails To heal the wounds of grief.

Religion only can relieve.

The heart o'ercharged with woe;
The pleasures that awhile deceive,
Can no true comfort show;
The Gospel has a healing balm,
For every wounded heart,
It makes the troubled spirit calm,
And bids our woes depart.

*THE PAUPER'S BURIAL.

Bury him there—
No matter where!
Hustle him out of the way,
Trouble enough
We have with such stuff,
Taxes and money to pay.

Bury him there—
No matter where!
Off in some corner at best!
There's no need of stones
Nobody'll ask where they rest.

Bury him there—
No matter where!
None by his death are bereft;
Stopping to pray?
Shovel away!
We still have enough of them left.

The gravel walk so white and straight,
With flow'ry banks beside,
That led down to the wicket gate,
Where Willie used to ride.
The locusts o'er the path that grew,
The willow boughs that swayed,
All told me with a tale most true,
That there my Mary played.
Oh! rumseller, &c.'

The silver lake, so calm and clear,
Along whose banks I've strayed
So often, with my Lucy dear,
To watch the sunlight fade.
The murmuring streams that sweetly ran
The garden's foot along,
And sparkling fount, as bright as then,
All sing the mournful song.
Oh! rumseller, &c.

Now that loved wife has gone to rest,
In death her heart is bound:
Her babes are sleeping on her breast,
Beneath you grassy mound:
And I am wand'ring lone and strange,
No master of my will:—
My home, my happy home is changed,
To a hut behind the Still.
Oh! rumseller,
That home, that home of thine.
That pleasant home, that happy home,
That cottage home was mine.

THE MAINE LAW BANNER, CONTINUED. 47

- 2. The Sons of Temperance join us,
 The Washingtonians too,
 The Daughters with sweet voices,
 And boys a merry crew;
 The young Cadets and Templars
 Are with us in their might;
 And all the hosts of freemen
 Are marshalled for the fight;
 With the "Maine Law" banner o'er us,
 We fight for truth and right.
- 3. King Alcohol is quaking,
 His throne is crumbling fast,
 And all his petty princes
 With terror stand aghast!
 "Down East," they have been routed,"
 "Up West," we'll rout them too;
 From Maine to California,
 We'll scout the red-nosed crew;
 With the "Maine Law" banner o'er us,
 Our hosts are ever true.

THE PLEDGE.

Tune—Columbia.

As we are gathered here,
Let us, with souls sincere,
Our pledge renew;
We make that pledge our choice,
Let us, with heart and voice,
In every hour rejoice,
To hold it true.

From the Universal Musician.

- 2. Disease and death, for ever nigh,
 Stand ready at the door,
 And eager wait to hear the cry
 Of—"Give me one glass more."
- 3. Go, view the prisoners' gloomy cells;
 Their sin and misery scan;
 Gaze, gaze upon these earthly hells—
 In drink their woes began.
- 4. Of yonder children, bath'd in tears,
 Ask, why is mother poor?
 They'll whisper in your startled ears,
 'T was father's—"One glass more."

- 5. Stay, mortal, stay! repent; return!
 Reflect upon thy fate:
 The poisonous draught forever spurn—
 Spurn, spurn it—ere too late!
- 6. Oh! fly the horrid grog-shop, then,
 Nor linger at the door,
 Lest thou perchance should sip again
 The treach'rous—"One glass more."
- 7. Trust not to thy deceitful heart,
 The Savior's grace implore;
 Through him from every sin depart,
 And touch that glass no more.

BE A VOLUNTEER.

Tune-Friends of Freedom.

- 1. Children who have rallied now,
 Where Immanuel's soldiers bow,
 Who will take the temperance vow,
 And be a volunteer?
 Children, hear the battle-cry,
 Sounding and resounding nigh,
 From the throne of God on high.
 Who'll be a volunteer?
- 2. See the foe is gathering fast;
 Hark! his clanging trumpet blast!
 Who will fight him to the last,
 And be a volunteer?
 Over all the tented field,
 God will be our sun and shield;
 Alcohol the foe will yield,
 If all will volunteer.

2. To the spring, to the spring! to the limpid spring,

Where the diamond-like bubbles arise,
As sparkling and bright as a jewel'd ring,
And twinkling, like stars in the skies!
Commingling, oh! so cheerily,
Then scatt'ring away so merrily,
And twinkling, like stars in the skies.

3. Our thirst let us quench at the healthful spring,
'T is refreshing as nectar divine!

No more of the grape's ruddy juice we'll sing, Nor partake of the treacherous wine. We quaff it off so merrily.

And then repent so wearily,

Of drinking the treacherous wine.

4. Then hurra for the spring, the cooling spring, And farewell to the brain-heating bowl! Its madd'ning contents to the dust we'll fling,

And our names on the Pledge will enroll.

When "Sons of Temperance," cheerily

We'll form our ranks, and merrily

Hoist her flag, which our names shall enroll.

2. His eyes are red— And gray his head! With rimless hat in hand he begs; His frozen toes Creep out of shoes That fall apart in leathern rags; O, ye rumsellers! now behold The man ye spoiled for guilty gold.

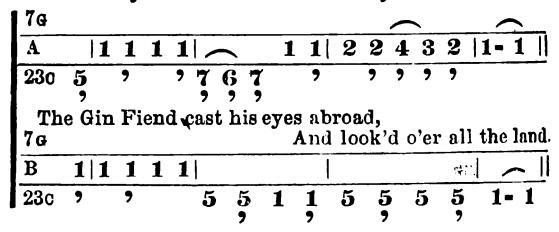

- 3. See, there he stands, And blows his hands; His footprints mark the stainless snow: O, give relief, And banish grief From that old man, o'erwhelmed with woe. But give him neither cards nor rum, For they have driven him from home.
- 4. Ye made him poor— From door to door He begs his scanty crusts of bread; His clothes are thin, And torn and mean-He has no place to rest his head. Restore him to himself again, Or wear yourselves the mark of Cain.

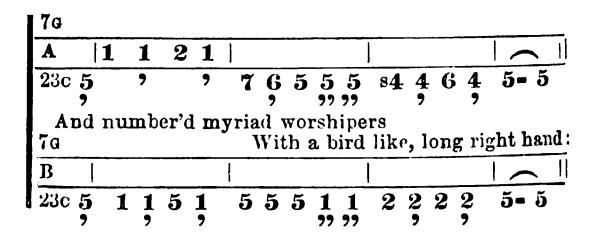

An old toper who lately attended an exhibition where a learned professor caused several explosions to take place from gases produced by water, said:

"You don't catch me putting much water in my liquor after this; I had no idea before that water was so dangerous, though I never liked to take much of it."

- 2. There stood a woman on a bridge:
 She was old, but not with years;
 Old with excess, and passion and pain:
 And she wept remorseless tears;
 She gave her babe her milkless breast,
 Then goaded by its cry,
 Made a desperate leap, in the river deep,
 In the sight of the passers by!
 "And it's hip!" said the Gin Fiend,
 "Hip! hurrah! she sinks, but let her be,
 In life or in death whatever she did
 Was all for the love of me!"
- 3. There watched another by the hearth,
 With sullen face and thin;
 She uttered words of scorn and hate
 To one who staggered in:
 Long had she watched, and when he came,
 His thoughts were bent on blood;

He could not brook her taunting looks.

And slew her where she stood.

"And it's hip!" said the Gin Fiend,

"Hip! hurrah! my right good friend is he; He hath slain his wife, he hath given his life,

And all for the love of me."

4. And every day, in the crowded way, He takes his fearful stand,

And numbers his myriad worshipers With a bird-like long right hand;

And every day the weak and strong, Widows, and maids, and wives,

Blood warm, blood cold, young men and old,

Offer the Fiend their lives.

"And it's hip!" he says, "hip! hip! hurrah!

For the multitude I see,

Will sell their souls for the burning drink, And die for the love of me."

A gentleman was in the street the other night, rather unquietly resting himself against a lamp post, when an acquaintance came along, and observed that the afflicted individual had on a new overcoat.

"Well, Bob," said he, "guess you have been indulging in a new overcoat."

"Coat!" replied Bob, giving his hat a knock back, and endeavoring to gesticulate; "this a-aint a coat."

"Is n't a coat, eh? Well, Bob, what is it?"
Bob elevated himself to a tottering perpendicular, and exclaimed:

"This 'ere aint a c-coat—it's a spirit-wrapper!"

2. "Bring forth," cries the monarch, "the vessels of gold,

Which my father tore down from the temple of old;

Bring forth, and we'll drink while the trumpet is blown.

To the gods of bright silver, of gold, and of stone;

Bring forth;" and before him the vessels all shine;

And he bows unto Baal, and drinks the dark wine,

While the trumpets bray, and the cymbals ring,

Praise, praise to Belshazzar, Belshazzar the king!

3. Now what cometh? look, look! without menace or call,

Who writes with the lightning's bright hand on the wall?

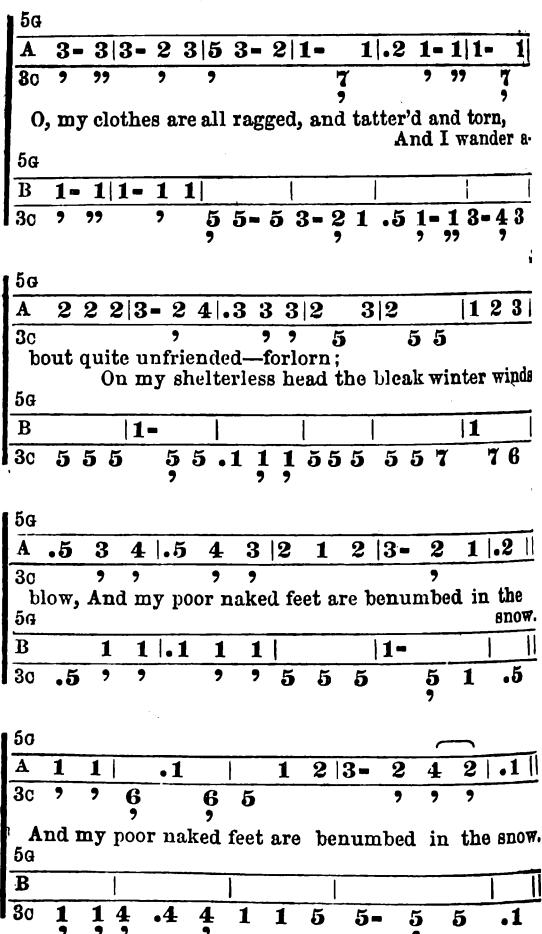

What pierceth the king like the point of a dart, What drives the bold blood from his cheek to his heart?

"Chaldeans, magicians, the letters expound." They are read, and Belshazzar is dead on the ground.

Hark! the Persians come on a conq'ror's wing, And a Mede's on the throne of Belshazzar the king.

WANDERING BOY, CONTINUED. 61

No bright blazing fire, with its comforts I see,

Jurrounded with faces all shining with glee!

J, no: the cold street, now deserted and wild,

My mother she died in the workhouse hard by.

And I, her poor orphan, received her last sigh; For her heart it was broken with anguish and pain;

And I weep, for I never shall see her again.
And I weep, for I never, &c.

My father spent all that he earned at the inn; And death cut him off in the midst of his sin: His last words were curses, his death-bed was wild;

), friends of humanity, pity his child. O, friends of humanity, &c.

I see happy children, all smiling and gay; and I weep, for I once was as happy as they; their light merry laughter falls sad on my ear, or, ah! they all shun me whene'er I draw near.

For, ah! they all shun me, &c.

The smiles leave their faces, they treat me with scorn.

Ind it makes me regret that I ever was born; No voice of compassion, so soothing and mild, I'er cheers the lone heart of the poor drunkard's child.

E'er cheers the lone heart, &c.

7. Oh, still I must wander this wild world alone.

Unfed and unsheltered, disowned, and unaknown:

'Mongst the millions of earth, not a friend can I claim,

To wipe off my tears, or to call me by name.

To wipe off my tears, &c.

8. On my cold bed of straw I will lie down and die,

And my prison-freed soul shall ascend upon high.

Where Jesus, with accents of mercy so mild. Shall comfort forever the poor drunkard's child. Shall comfort forever, &c.

OLD HODGE.—A FABLE.

Old Hodge one night, at Carlo's bar, Had got, in classic parlance, "tight," When, as he homeward made his tracks, He heard the "Voices of the Night."

As with a quite uncertain step,
Unto a mill pond's brink he came,
Where old king Bullfrog held his court,
He thought he heard one call his name:

"Old Hodge, old Hodge!" he stopp'd and gaz'd, Till goblins seemed to fill the dark; And Hodge, though brave, was rather scared. "What's that?" he said, "what's that? O hark!"

> 'Old Hodge got drunk! Old Hodge got drunk! Drunk, drunk, drunk!"

"You lie, you lie!" said Hodge, "you lie!"

A deep voice answered, "Nevermore!"

And Hodge thought Nick himself was near,
Among the bushes on the shore.

So thinking it was best to run,
He started like a railroad car;
But horrid shapes now thronged his path,
And voices shouted near and far,
"Old Hodge got drunk!
Old Hodge got drunk!
Drunk drunk, drunk!"

Why, with patience, may not you?

Try, try again.

GENTLE WORDS.

Use gentle words, for who can tell
The blessings they impart?
How oft they fall (as manna fell)
On some nigh-fainting heart.

In lonely wilds, by light-winged birds,
Rare seeds have oft been sown:
And hope has sprung from gentle words,
Where only griefs had grown.

"Well, but I'll pay for it."

"What then?"

[&]quot;Come in, Joe, and let's take a drink."
"Thank ye, Thomas, can't afford it."

[&]quot;O, I'm not speaking of the money."

[&]quot;Loss of health and energy; for I tell you what it is, Thomas, I find it up hill business to work steady under liquor; it does well enough for half an hour, and then I get lazy and moody, want more, and become reckless; and that's why I can't afford it—so here's home to dinner."

3. Speed, speed the temp'rance ship!
For her we 'll ever pray:
'T is Israel's God alone can keep
In safety, night and day:
On him we 'll evermore depend,
Who is the contrite sinner's friend.

4. Speed, speed the temp'rance ship!
Ye young and aged shout;
Behold her sailing o'er the deep,
With all her streamers out,
Bound for the tee-total shore,
Where streams of death are drank no more.

SIGNING THE PLEDGE.

By PHEBE CAREY.

Tune—Wandering Boy.

Nay, come not to me with your pledges, before You have pledged yourself never to drink any more:

For I care not what else you may think or may do,

You must turn from the wine-cup, or I will from you.

You can "love me as well and as truly," you say:

If you can, I can 't "honor, respect and obey:"
I might think all your words and your wishes
a joke,

If in sober earnest not always you spoke.

SIGNING THE PLEDGE. CONTINUED. 73

If my eyes are not brighter to you than the foam

Of the wine-cup, I never can gladden your home;

And the lip that to me its devotion would prove,

Must only be sweet with the red wine of love.

And you smile, do you, Harry? You'll come to repent,

For I tell you it is n't like me to relent; I never will like you, I'll never forgive,

And I never will have you so long as I live!.

You may do almost anything else that you please;

You may even get angry, may scold, or may tease.

You may smoke till you 're lost in the clouds, if you won't;

You may chew if you choose, and I'll never say do n't.

You may go out and spend pleasant evenings from home,

And I'll never look sullen nor cross when you come;

Only always remember I'm waiting—and then I'd rather you'd be back as early as ten.

And you won't sign the pledge, Harry! what shall I do?

For I think you love me, and I know I love you.

"You are right, but, dear Mary, you urge me in vain;

For I signed the pledge last night, and shan't do it again!"

 Let praise be sung by every voice,

Tune—Temperance Ship.

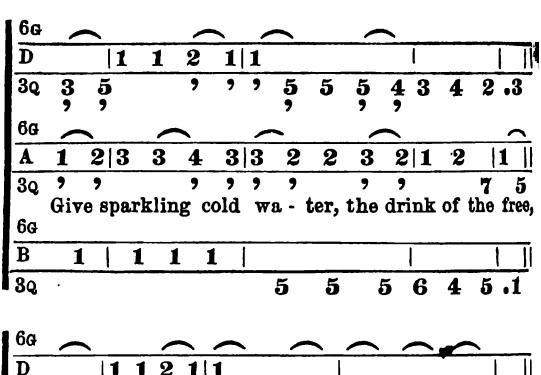

Praise to the Lord on high,
Who spreads his triumphs wide,
While temp'rance (ever blessed cause,)
Is urged on every side:
Balmy and rich its odors rise,
To fill each realm beneath the skies.

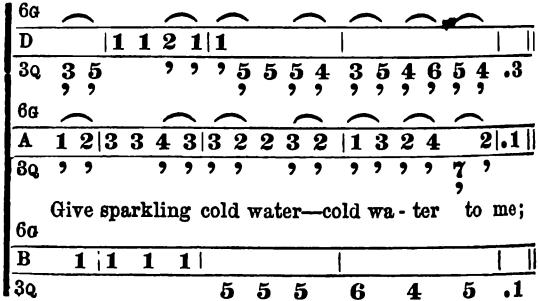

Ten thousand dying men
Its influence feel, and live;
Sweet as the purest atmosphere,
The incense they receive;
They breathe anew—to God they bring
Their thanks thro' Christ, their conq'ring king.

Let all receive the grace,
Which brings each blessing nigh;
Nor one reject, lest, in disgrace,
He faint, and fall, and die;
Ye temp'rance men, their doom deplore,
For O, they fall to rise no more.

O, may I e'er be kept
From wine's destructive bowl;
That wily foe, which seeks to kill
My body and my soul:
Saviour, with aid divine, anew,
I bid its touch a last adieu.

Gold dust is hurtful to the eyes; and however beneficial some kinds of glasses may be, it is a fixed fact that brandy glasses are dangerous, distorting vision and destroying sight.

The broad, noble river, gliding on to the sea, Bears health on its bosom—and ever is free; t sings, as it hastens through valleys along, I charming, a beautiful, soul-stirring song; and this is its lay as it glides to the sea, Cold water, cold water's the drink of the free."

How welcome, reviving to bud and to flower, s the health-imparting, warm April shower; and glitters the rain-drop like some seawashed gem,

In floweret expanding, on bud and on stem; and night-dews that fall at th' still hour of even,

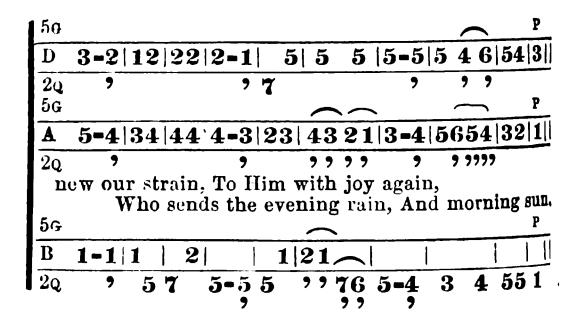

Are welcome to earth-land as rain drops from heaven.

Give sparkling cold water, cold water to me, T was made by the Maker as drink for the free; The floweret drinks with its neat little cup, The warm shower falleth—the fields drink it up;"

Chen huzza! for cold water, the drink of the live sparkling cold water, cold water to me.

 Each flower and plant that lives,
 Each sunny rill.

 Springs! which our footsteps meet,
 Fountains! our lips to greet,

Then shall the song we raise Be heard in future days, Ours be the pleasant ways Of peace and truth.

THE DYING DRUNKARD.

Tune—The Welcome.

- 1. Stretched on a heap of straw—his bed,
 The dying drunkard lies;
 His joyless wife supports his head,
 And to console him tries.
- 2. His weeping children's love would ease His spirit, but in vain: Their ill-paid love destroys his peace; He'll never smile again.
- 3. His boon companions, where are they, Who shar'd his heart and bowl? They come not nigh, to charm away The horrors from his soul.

Tune—Sparkling Rill.

1. There 's light on the drunkard's mind,

There 's hope in the drunkard's heart,

For the pledge he now hath signed,

And he feels his life-pulse-start.

Like an eagle bound, his soul

For sweet freedom long has pined;

But loose, he now seeks the gaol,

And leaves all his chains behind.

- 2. Once more by his side, his wife
 And his smiling children stand.

 Now see how happy is life—
 Kind friends now grasp his hand;
 And mark with what sweet surprise
 The thousands throughout our land,
 Of the great, the good, the wise,
 Around the happy man stand.
- 3. Let rumsellers on him frown,
 Or avarice seek his gold:
 The accursing thirst must down
 Before the humane and bold.
 No more with the poison spell
 Will he craze his fevered brain;
 For he knows its slavery well,
 And values aright his gain.
- 4. Then take the cold water pledge,
 There 's might in its magic spell,
 For the war it loves to wage,
 To a victory shall swell.
 Yes, the living, hopeless death
 Soon before its life must flee,
 And the captives draw the breath
 Of peace and liberty.

 And vict'ry shall be won.

THE TRUMPET.

Tune—Wandering Boy.

1. The trumpet is sounding with notes full and clear,

To warn all the nations that danger is near; The monster, Intemp'rance, is wasting our land,

Ten thousand are conquered, and fall by his hand.

2. But the bright flag of Temp'rance is raised to the sky,

Her hosts are determined to conquer or die;

That earth may be freed from this curse to our race,

And the soul-cheering cause of Temp'rance embrace.

- 2. Think not that thy example will
 Be harmless or unknown,
 For thousands may its influence feel,
 And by it be undone;
 As smitten by the viper's sting,
 Or adder in the path,
 Till horrors like destruction's wing,
 Lead to eternal wrath.
- 3. Look not upon the ruddy wine,

 That sparkles in the glass,
 But let example round thee shine,

 To men of every class.

 In favor of that noble cause

 Which needs thy hand and zeal,
 In favor of the injured laws

 Thy influence may heal.

Young man, if you should see a person digging in a snowdrift, with the expectation of finding valuable ore, you would say at once that he was beside himself; but in what respect does this man differ from you, while you sow the seeds of dissipation in your youth, and expect the fruits of old age will be a good constitution and holy principles?

COLD WATER ARMY.

Tune—Cottage Home.

- 1. With banner and with badge we come,
 An army true and strong,
 To fight against the hosts of rum,
 And this shall be our song:
 Clear cold water, supplied in genial showers,
 We feel the strength cold water gives,
 the victory is ours.
- 2. "Cold water army" is our name,
 O may we faithful be,
 And so in truth and justice claim
 The blessings of the free.
 Clear cold water, &c.
- 3. Though others love their rum and wines,
 And drink till they are mad,
 To water we will still incline,
 To make us strong and glad.
 Clear cold water, &c.
- 4. I pledge to thee this hand of mine, In faith and friendship strong; And fellow soldiers, we will join The chorus of our song.

 Clear cold water, &c.

The demon gasps for breath;
His rapid march is downward,

To everlasting death.
Old age and youth united,

His works have prostrate hurled,

And soon himself, affrighted,

And how we fought for freedom,
Let future ages tell.

GIVE THY BLESSING.

Heavenly Father, give thy blessing, While we now this meeting end; On our minds each truth impressing, That may to thy glory tend.

Save from all intoxication,
From its fountains may we flee:

Be our trust alone in Thee.

Tune—Greenville.

- 1. Hark! o'er hill and dale is swelling
 One rejoicing general song;
 Triumph of fair Temp'rance telling.
 On the breeze 't is borne along;
 Happy wives and joyous children
 Still the cheerful strain prolong.
- 2. We would lend our feeble voices
 On Columbia's favor'd shore;
 For our ev'ry heart rejoices,
 And our tongues shall not give o'er;
 What tho' few and weak our number,
 If it make our efforts more?
- 3. Over every land and nation,
 Has her bander wide been flung,
 Men of every clime and station
 Have the praise of temp'rance sung:
 All have felt her happy influence,
 Poor and wealthy—old and young.
- 4. Friends of temp'rance, be not sleeping,
 Swiftly tread your glorious way;
 Famish'd children—mothers weeping,
 Call on you to haste the day
 When o'er all the wide creation,
 Temp'rance shall her scepter sway.
- 5. Lord, to thee the praise we render,
 For the good that has been done;
 Thou hast made the conscience tender,
 Thou hast softened hearts of stone;
 Still assist us in our labor,
 For we trust in thee alone.

Tune—Beacon Light.

- 1. From morning's golden portals,

 To evening's setting sun,
 Columbia's erring mortals

 Have bowed the knee to rum;
 From the Atlantic Ocean,
 Across the western plain,
 There's been a great devotion
 To hug the drunkard's chain.
- 2. What though the summer breezes
 Blow soft o'er southern lands,
 Rough northern prospect pleases,
 And cheers the heart of man;
 In vain with lavish kindness,
 The gifts of God are strown,
 So long as men. in blindness,
 Bow down to memon Rum.
- 3. Can we who've seen the evil
 Of drinking wine and beer,
 Can we, for drunkards fearful,
 Restrain the falling tear?
 Cold water, O, cold water!
 The joyful words proclaim,
 Till tiplers all have sought her,
 And washed away their shame.
- 4. Waft, waft, ye winds, the story,
 And you proclaimers go;
 Let none be left abiding
 The drunkard's deeper woe.
 O, make the soul now joyful
 That has been sad so long;
 Till drunkards break the bottle,
 And join the temp'rance song.

Tune.—The Welcome.

- 1. The morn of life with me is hard,
 My heart it fain would rend;
 I wildly cast my eyes around,
 And ask, have I a friend?
- 2. My father once was kind and good,
 But when the bowl he spied,
 He looked, he longed—and, O, he drank
 The fatal drop, and died.
- 3. 'T is now long since he passed unto That life which hath no end, And left me here alone, to ask The "cold world" for a friend.
- 4. My mother—where, oh, where is she?
 The willows o'er her bend;
 And while I weep upon her tomb,
 I ask, have I a friend?
- 5. No mother's kiss, no father's care,
 Shall e'er be mine again;
 I only can, with streaming eyes,
 Ask have I yet a friend?
- 6. But now to God, who rules on high,
 My prayers shall e'er ascend;
 For he will hear an orphan boy,
 And be his dearest friend.
- 7. Then to the world I 'll look no more For pity to descend;
 Though once an orphan wanderer
 Yet now I have a friend.

2. Hear your wives and children plead, Hear the Gospel intercede. Helpless drunkards, hither fly! Touch not, taste not, or you die. See, the dying drunkard goes, Draining draughts of bitterest woes: List, then, to the simple strain, Hear the word of hope, ABSTAIN.

OUR ANCESTORS.

TUNE-Louisville.

- 1. Our hardy ancestors of yore,
 Came o'er the foaming wave,
 Where they have gathered bright renown,
 As bravest of the brave.
 Oh, never should we forget our sires,
 Wherever we may be;
 They bravely won a gallant name,
 As warriors of the free.
- 2. What though our power is stronger now
 Than it was wont to be,
 When boldly forth our fathers sailed,
 Across the stormy sea;
 We still will sing their deeds of fame
 In thrilling harmony;
 And we will raise a gallant name,
 As children of the free.

PRAISE FOR TEMPERANCE.

Tune—Sparkling Bowl.

- 1. Let Temperance and her sons rejoice,
 And be their praises loud and long;
 Let every heart and every voice
 Conspire to raise a joyful song.
- 2. And let the anthem rise to God,
 Whose fav'ring mercies so abound,
 And let his praises fly abroad,
 The spacious universe around.
- 3. His children's prayer he deigns to grant, He stays the progress of the foe; And Temp'rance, like a cherish'd plant, Beneath his fostering care shall grow.

110 STAR SPANGLED BANNER. CONTINUED

- 2. Already recede from the force of our arms,

 The savage, the ruthless, the death-dealing foe;
 Confusion, defeat, and a host of alarms,

 Attend and pursue them wherever they go.
 Then on to the fight! ere the sun sets to-night,
 We all shall have cause to exult in our might.

 Then success, &c.
- 3. Pursue them with sword, and pursue them with fire,
 Lay upon the foul fiends and show them no quarter
 We will make of their remnants a vast funeral pyre
 That shall light the whole earth, from the field of their slaughter.

No trace will we leave, for mankind to receive, Of what has caused thousands of thousands to grieve Then success, &c.

- 2. Could we hear the mothers pleading, Heaven relief would quickly send, Can we see our country bleeding, Still refuse our aid to lend? No, dread monster, Here thy triumph soon shall end.
- 3. Hear the trump of Temp'rance sounding: Rouse ye, freemen, why delay? Let your voices, all resounding, Welcome in the happy day, When the tyrant Must resign his cruel sway.
- 4. Nor shall he again molest us, Though he has oppressed us sore; Nor his poisonous breath infest us: Soon we'll drive him from our shore. All uniting, Shout "the monster's reign is o'er."

Tune - Wandering Boy.

- 1.0, pity me, lady, I'm hungry and cold;
 Should I all my sorrows to you now unfold,
 I'm sure your kind heart with compassion would flame.
 - O, my father's a drunkard! but I'm not to blame.

- 4. Time was when each morning around the fireside, Our sire in the midst, like a saint would preside; And kneel, and for blessings would call on God's name. But now he's a drunkard—and we're not to blame.
- 5. Our father then lov'd us, and all was delight,
 Until he partook of this withering b ight,
 And sunk his poor family in misery and shame.
 O, now he's a drunkard—but we' re not to blame.

 Must she be forsaken to perish forlorn?
 O, grief, when we call her affectionate name,
 I might well ask the world then, who is to blame?

Tunk—The Welcome.

1. All hail, power of abstinencel
Let drunkards sound the call;
Bring forth the Washingtonian pledge,
And let us sign it all.

- 2. Save, you who love the temp'rance cause,
 The tippler from his fate:
 Now is the time to stop his course,
 Before it is too late.

 'T is duty to your God!
 And in the rescued drunkard's thanks,
 You'll find a sure reward.

WORDS OF CHEER. 7s.

Tune-Hope.

- 1. Welcome, brothers, welcome here!
 Cheerful are our hearts to day;
 Tell us, we would gladly hear
 How our cause speeds on its way.
 Brothers, sure the foe shall fall
 When we take our fathers' seats;
 Here we pledge us, one and all,
 We will drive him from our streets.
- 2. 'T is on us the work depends,
 On the young and rising race;
 And we'll try to make amends
 For our country's deep disgrace.
 Here we pledge ourselves anew,
 Not to touch the drunkard's drink;
 Proving faithful, proving true,
 We will make the demon shrink.

LIFE LET UT CHERISH. J. H. AIKMAN.

Tune—Glorious Cause.

1. Life let us cherish while yet the taper glows; Touch not the deadly draught, or it will close. The bird on water gaily sings, His onward course he lightly wings; The rose on water upward springs, Let life be then as gay.

2. Hope let us cherish, while yet our life shall last:

E'en till our life shall close, hope is not past. The sun shall set at close of day, The flowers in winter die away; At morn and spring they are as gay; Let hope be then as bright.

3. Joy let us cherish, till life with us is o'er, But not the drunkard's joys, they mis'ry pour. In vain the drunkard seeks for bliss, This life to him deep sorrow is; The next is worse, far worse than this. Such joys we ne'er will seek.

Mr. Tipple-None replied;
"You see how all these tipplers range Themselves upon your side.

To take the only name that's safe,

The drink that's in the drunkard's bowl,

THE BUBBLING SPRING. C. M.

Tune—Louisville.

- 1. If one bright spot there is on earth,
 More lovely than the rest,
 One which fond nature, at her birth,
 With purest beauty blest:
 It is the place where some cool fount
 Its crystal waters fling!
 Mid rocks and flowers that hide the fount,
 Gushes the bubbling spring.
- 2. Tell me not of the sparkling bowl,
 That glows with red'ning fire;
 O, tell me not of the joy of soul
 The wine cup can inspire!
 A brighter glass, a purer joy,
 A healthier draught I sing:
 Pleasure that reason can enjoy—
 Health from the bubbling spring.
- 3. Then fill the glass with water bright,

 The nectar nature gave;
 Let faithful hearts round this unite,
 A bleeding world to save:
 For nought can soothe the woeful wound,
 And heal the viper's sting,
 But pure and healthful water, found
 Fresh in the bubbling spring.

MUSIC OF TEMPERANCE.

Tune—Drink of the Free.

- 1. What fairy-like music steals over the sea,
 Entrancing the senses with charm'd melody?
 'T is the sweet song of Temp'rance that floats on the main,
 Inviting inebriates to join in the strain.
- 2. O, come, gentle brother, we are waiting for thee, Come, throw off the yoke, and resolve to be free; And make glad the heart of thy mother once more, Who has long wept in silence, thy loss to deplore.

 Inviting all classes its comforts to share.

Like a ragged, rum-nosed vagabond, all of the modern time.

2. His rags so thick, hung all around, like ribbons from a pole;

His hat it lack'd a rim and crown, his shoes they lack'd a sole.

He linger'd round the butchers' stalls, with tatter'd vest and hose;

Or at a kitchen door he stood, and snuff'd his rum-red

Like a hungry, loafer vagabond, all of the modern time

3. When winter cold brought Christmas old, he left the butcher's stall,

He liked the smell of beef—but cold he could not bear at all.

At night he was a wanderer, and joined the midnight

Of restless spirits, black and white, who graced the watchhouse hall—

Like a homeless, shivering vagabond, all of the modern time.

- 2. His brow was dark, his eye beneath Flashed with the maddening fire of death; And like the voice of demon rung The thrilling accents of his tongue:

 Rumseller!
- 3. From happy homes had died the light,
 The fires no more gleamed warm and bright:
 The people all were snug in bed,
 But started at that voice so dread—
 Rumseller!
- 4. "Stranger, be still," an old man said, As from the window glanced his head; "The people all are fast asleep." But roared that voice as from the deep—Rumseller!
- 5. "Come in," a maiden said, "and rest; You seem to be so much oppressed." He only cast a lingering eye, And louder yelled, without a sigh, Rumseller!

- 6. "Beware the stream that flows beyond, You ne'er may see your wife so fond." This was the old man's last good-night; The wretch replied, far out of sight, Rumseller!
- 7. At break of day, some people went Toward the stream, with sad intent; If haply o'er the log had crossed The wretch who wailed so like the lost—Rumseller!
- 8. There, washed upon the shore they found The fellow, miserably drowned; Swept by the torrent's maddening tide, Upon the midnight when he cried, Rumseller!
- 9. Beware, beware! thou of the bowl,
 Lose not thy body and thy soul;
 Like he who woke the midnight air,
 With that last yell of wild despair—
 Rumseller!

STAR OF TEMPERANCE.

Tune—Star Spangled Banner.

- 1.0, say, can you see, through the dark mental night,
 That star in our pathway, so faintly now gleaming?
 Soon will it enlarge, like the bright orb of night,
 Awaking the soul that in darkness lies dreaming;
 Now it catches the eye, as it darts from the sky,
 Bringing blessings and peace from the regions on high.
 'T is the bright Star of Temperance, long may it shine,
 Enlightening the soul with its radiance divine.
- 2. And where is that host by Intemperance led,
 To virtue and truth breathing death and destruction?
 Like chaff on the wings of the wind they have fled,
 Or listen'd to Temp'rance's hallowed instruction.

There's a refuge can save the intemperate slave. From the horror of death and the criminal's grave: 'T is the bright Star of Temperance, &c.

3. Thus the glorious morn to the nations shall come. When none shall be slaves in the drunkard's dominion: They shall rise, like the phœnix, from ashes and gloom, And rejoice as they float on glad Hope's airy pinion; Then prosper they must, for their cause is most just, And will aid them in splendor to rise from the dust— And the bright Star of Temperance, &c.

SAW YE THE MAN?

By SAMUEL BEMAN. Tune—Rum Bottle.

1. O, saw ye the man who drinks rum, brandy, gin? How red are his eyes, and his nose, cheeks and chin, And the way that he talks, 't is a shame and a sin: He's a poor, wretched man, who drinks rum, brandy, gin.

At home, are a table, three chairs, a straw bed, With a wife and six children, all crying for bread; For you'll find in his cupboard no bread, meat, or pies, But a plenty of mice with big tears in their eyes.

- 2. In the morning he drinks number one to begin, Then takes an eye-opener of bitters and gin; Then ticklers, and juleps, rum punch, and egg-nog, 'Till he 'll drink to the health of a crony, or dog; He then will, perchance, tumble down in the gutter, And there with the swine lie, and grumble and mutter; But the best of the two is the swine, I should think, For, though in the gutter, no rum does he drink.
- 3. When night overshadows the dwellings of men, He'll steal out to meet his base comrades again; And when the moon shines on the city and plain, It is easy to find where the drunkard has lain. As the chap who's been caught in the act of sheepstealing,

Is led to the jail with a sheepish-like feeling, This loafer with shame to his wife returns home-For he's been out all night, drinking gin, brandy, rum.

Tune—Try Again.

- 1. 'T is a lesson worth your care,

 Take, take the pledge;

 Ere the tempter spreads his snare,

 Take, take the pledge;

 For temptations here below,

 Thick beset us as we go:

 Would you crush them as you go?

 Take, take the pledge.
- 2. When you see the mighty fall,

 Take, take the pledge;
 Dangers here beset us all,

 Take, take the pledge;
 Mightier men than you or I

 Take the poison, and they die:
 If you'd make the monster fly,

 Take, take the pledge.
- Take, take the pledge.

 Would you fill the world with peace?

 Take, take the pledge.

 'O, 't is silly,'' some will say:

 Let them talk till they are gray;

 Till they find a better way,

 Take, take the pledge.
- 4. What though you may never drink?

 Take, take the pledge.

 Still you may before you think;

 Take, take the pledge.

 Many a sober boy has thought

 He should never be a sot,

 Till within the gulf he got.

 Take, take the pledge.

PREFERENCE, CONTINUED. 137

- 2. Before all laws, in east or west,
 I love the temp'rance laws the best;
 They better days betoken.
 They harmless make the poison'd bowl,
 Bind up the wounded, and console
 The heart that's almost broken.
- 3. Before all people, east or west,
 I love the temp'rance men the best:
 I love their noble spirit.
 In generous deeds, not words, they deal;
 They have at heart the poor man's weal;
 All praise their efforts merit.
- 4. To all the world I give my hand—
 My heart is with the noble band,
 Cold-water army brothers.
 God speed and prosper every plan
 That aims to bless poor sinful man,
 Both temp'rance and all others.

THE LANDLORD'S PET.

Tune—Uncle Bill.

1. I was once the pursy old landlord's pet,
When I had money to spend;
For I spent it in drink, and did verily think
It never would come to an end.
But now I 've nothing but rags to my back,
And my boots won't hide my toes;
While the crown of my hat goes flip, flip, flap,
Just to keep the flies off my nose.

2. The landlord called me a decent fellow; And, O! but I was vain:

As he got my cash, and I got his trash,
To soak my poor silly brain.
And now I've nothing, &c.

- 3. But every thing has got an end,
 Some landlords' chalks have two;
 And the money which brought me such respect
 To the landlord's pocket flew.
 And now I've nothing, &c.
- 4. The landlord's coat is good broadcloth,
 And his pants no worse of the wear;
 But the landlord's coat was bought with my cash,
 And so was his wife's false hair.
 And now I 've nothing, &c.
- 5. But now I've got a sprinkling of sense,
 I'll sign the pledge to abstain;
 My hat for a football you may take,
 If I e'er touch their trash again.
 For I fain would get some clothes to my back,
 And boots that will hide my toes;
 And the crown of my hat no more go flip, flap,
 Nor rum discolor my nose.

The Maine Liquor Law is like a lobster. Let the rumsellers try it in front, and there is a pair of claws there. Let him try it on the right side, and there is a pair of claws there. There is another pair on the left side. There is also a pair behind! Poor fellow, this is the law from which there is no escape whatever!

Tune—The Welcome.

- 1. "Hand me the bowl, ye jovial band,"
 He said, "'t will rouse my mirth."
 But conscience seized his trembling hand,
 And dashed the cup to earth.
- 2. He look'd around, he blush'd, he laugh'd, He sipped the sparkling wave; And in it read, who drinks this draught, Shall dig a murderer's grave.
- 3. He started up like one from sleep,
 And trembled for his life;
 He gazed, he saw his children weep,
 He saw his weeping wife.
- 4. In his deep dream he had not felt
 Their agonies and fears;
 But now he saw them as they knelt
 To plead with prayers and tears.
- 5. But the foul fiend her hateful spell
 Threw o'er his 'wildered mind:
 He saw in every hope a hell;
 He was to reason blind.
- 6. He grasped the bowl to seek relief;
 No more conscience said:
 His bosom friend was sunk in grief,
 His children begged for bread.
- 7. Through haunts of horror and of strife,
 He passed down life's dark tide;
 He cursed his children and his wife—
 He cursed his God, and died!

2. A little spring had lost its way Among the grass and fern;

A passing stranger scooped a well, Where weary men might turn.

He walled it in, and hung with care

A ladle at the brink;

He thought not of the deed he did, But judged that toil might drink.

He passed again, and lo! the well,

By summers never dried,

Had cooled ten thousand parching tongues, And saved a life beside!

3. A nameless man, amid the crowd
That thronged the daily mart,

Let fall a word of Hope and Love, Unstudied from the heart;

A whisper on the tumult thrown, A transitory breath—

It raised a brother from the dust, It saved a soul from death. O, germ! O, fount! O, word of love!
O, thought at random cast!
Ye were but little at the first,
But mighty at the last!

YE SONS OF FREEDOM.

Tune—Ye Sons of Temperance.

1. Ye sons of freedom, burst asunder

The chains that now your souls enthrall;
Come forth! no longer slumber under

The sway of tyrant Alcohol!

Your wives and children, deeply wailing.

With tears of anguish in their eyes,

Are calling on you to arise:

And shall their tears be unavailing?

Arise! be free, be free!

Break! break from bondage now!

Break! break from bondage now!
To arms! to arms! and strike the blow
For life and liberty!

2. Hark! hark the trump of temp'rance ringing
Triumphantly from shore to shore—
Hark! hark to myriad voices singing,
"King Alcohol shall rule no more!"
Too long, too long his reign has lasted:
Dark reign of terror and despair,
Our blooming hopes and prospects fair,

Too long has fell intemp'rance blasted!
But now we're free! we're free!
The temp'rance battle's won:
We've hurled the tyrant from his throne!
Welcome, sweet liberty!

WILD IS THE PATH.

Tune—Star Spangled Banner.

1. O, wild is the path of the son of the sea, Who launches his bark on the perilous tide; But wilder by far is the reef-studded lee,

Where drunkards, 'mid billows of drunkenness ride.

O, fierce is the storm that the mariner braves, 'Mid thunders and lightnings, afar on the foam;

But the storm of the land has more dangerous waves,

Where drunkards 'mid billows of drunkenness roam.

2. O, hungry as death are the monsters that

On the corpse of the sailor, far down in the

But hungrier still are the monsters who prey, Where drunkards, 'mid billows of drunkenness creep.

O, God, save the sailor with heavenly force, From drunkards and drunkenness keep him

O, steer him safe on in a temperance course, By the mild cheering light of this bright morning star.

RENEWED IN STRENGTH.

By J. Hunt, Jr.

Tune—America's Freedom.

- 1. Renewed in strength, the Temperance cause Is borne aloft on healing wings; And by its mild, attractive laws, To thee, O God, the drunkard brings.
- 2. The grace which shines alike on all.
 Unfolds to view the fearful fate
 Which lies behind a drunkard's pall,
 Or in his footsteps doth await.
- 3. Oh, may its now returning light
 Continue o'er'his path to beam,
 Until the dark, foreboding night
 Of drunken mirth is all a dream.
- 4. To thee, O God, this song we raise,
 In prayerful trust that ne'er again
 The drunkard may abandon ease,
 To fire afresh his "throbbing brain."

2. Our cup of happiness was full—Alas! too full to last:

Those blissful hours of dreaming joy Like visions flitted past.

Where'er my father traced his steps, The guileful cup was there:

Temptation overcame—

He drank "the chalice of despair."

O, to see him reeling come,

Once so loving, now so dumb!

It broke my own dear mother's heart: The blighting, damning rum!

And he who once was kind and true, Whose presence once would cheer;

3. Then she whom he had sworn to love, His partner and his pride, In meekness and in grief unspoken, Bowed her head and died! My father is in prison, while The wretches who prepared The potion that has placed him there, By Christian laws are spared! O, ye men of feeling hearts, And of motives good and pure, How can ye wink at crime so long? Nay, how so much endure? In God's own name, why seek ye not To hold and punish those Who deal the damning liquid out, And crime's great fountain close?

DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

Tune—Maine Law.

- I will be independent;
 And so my grog I throw away,
 And that shall be the end on t.
 Clear the house of all such stuff,
 It shan't be here so handy;
 Sallie's thrown away her snuff,
 So now here goes my brandy.
- 2. Our fathers, though a sturdy folk,
 Were sometimes rather skittish;
 And so they would n't wear the yoke
 Brought over by the British.

CONTINUED.

Although they fit and ran away,
Not one of them were cowards:
They lived to fight another day,
Right-facing General Howe-wards.

- 3. The tyrant that our fathers fought,
 Was like poor Johnny Jump-up:
 But there's a worse one to be caught
 In bottle, jug, or wine-cup:
 Often in a glass he shows
 What he calls his body;
 'And often wades up to his nose,
 In cider, beer, or toddy.
- 4. Sometimes he creeps up the slim
 Stem of a very fine pipe,
 And sometimes plunges for a swim
 All over in a wine pipe;
 But he's tickled most of all
 When he hears the summons
 Down his fav'rite pipes to crawl—
 The guzzle pipes of rum 'uns.
- 5. And when he gets the upper hand,
 This tyrant base and scurvy,
 He strips a man of house and land,
 And turns him topsy turvy;
 With his fetters binds him fast,
 Then scorns him in derision—
 Lets him have, rent free, at last,
 A poor house or a prison.

Friends of humanity, foes of iniquity, let your words and actions speak truthfully.

Be gone, strong drink, I pray you begone from me;

Be gone, strong drink, With you I'll never agree;

Long time thou hast been tamp'ring here,
And fain thou wouldst me kill;

But I'm resolv'd, yes, I'm resolv'd,
Thou never shalt have thy will.

2. Excess in drink is death at once, they say, And moderate drinking wears the life away.

A pledge we'll sign, a song we'll sing,
And cheerfully pass the day:

For we hold it one of the wisest things To drive strong drink away.

3. Be gone, strong drink, I pray thee, be gone from me;

Be gone, strong drink, for I will ever be free.

Although there's witchery in thy smile,

Thy smiles I will forego:

Thy smiles I will forego;
Thy palsied hand and falt'ring step
Foreshadows care and woe.

4. Be gone, strong drink, I bid thee farewell, farewell; [me to hell.

Be gone, strong drink, for thou wouldst lead And the rose is on thy cheek,

The blotch will surely come;

Thy train 's a ghastly, haggard band, Fast hastening down to the tomb.

5. Be gone, strong drink, I pray thee be gone from me,

Wine, porter, ale, and beer, we'll never agree.
I'll vote the Maine Law some oppose,

And say they will be free:

And so say I, and now I 'll sing Farewell, strong drink, to thee.

THE MAIDEN'S REFUSAL. C. JILLSON.

1. Go, Henry, go! the scene is o'er;
And we must now forever part;
Those twining cords are now unloosed
That bound thee closely to my heart;
For I will ne'er consent to be
The wife of one whose reckless soul
Is led by passion's ghostly form,
To drink from out the poison bowl.

2. I spurn the wine-cup and its friends,
And feel determined not to link
My destiny with one whose deeds
Would place me soon on ruin's brink.
Yes, go! and I'll be free again;
For I had rather spend my life
In loneliness upon the earth,
Than be a loathsome drunkard's wife.

- 2. Kind sir, my sisters and myself
 To school were sent each day,
 And mother kept us neat and clean,
 So all the neighbors say;
 But, O, how dreadful 't is to tell
 The sad, sad change that came:
 We all were told to leave the school,
 And none of us to blame.
- 3. And then we had no more new clothes,
 And ours were growing old;
 When winter came, how much we all
 Did suffer with the cold!
 And mother sigh'd because 't was so:
 The cause she did not name.
 But oft she said, "dear little ones,
 Your mother's not to blame."
- 4. This was not all: our little mates
 Whom we had met each day,
 No longer sought our company,
 Nor joined with us at play.
 Then first we heard the dreadful word
 Joined to our father's name;
 And learned for all our misery
 He was alone to blame.

5. And now in our once happy home
Do other children dwell;
But, O! the cause of all this woe,
'T is sad enough to tell;
For since our father lov'd strong drink,
And bore a drunkard's name,
His children suffer for his faults—
But him who sells we blame.

6. Hardship and grief made mother sick,
Though for our sakes she tried
To bear up under all her woes—
,'T were vain: she droop'd and died.
She called us children to her side,
Bless'd us in Jesus' name:
She prayed that God should be our friend,
And said, "You're not to blame."

BRING NOT THAT PLEDGE.

Tune—Strong Drink.

1. Bring not that pledge, O, bring it not to me! I will not sign away my liberty.

You now are bound in iron chains,.
As strong as they can be;
If you will not now strong drink resign
You never can be free.

2. Bring not that pledge; though sad is my disease,

I will not sign, I'll do just what I please.

Why will you please to take the way That leads to dark despair?

When there 's a road that leads to joy, And this will bring pu there.

BRING NOT THAT PLEDGE. CONTINUED. 157

3. Bring not that pledge, I can not now abstain; I will not sign, I know 't will be in vain.

O, no, for thousands worse than you To alcohol enslaved,

Have boldly come and signed this pledge; And now behold them saved.

4. Then bring that pledge, O, bring it now to A solemn vow I take for liberty. [me:

Then welcome, welcome, we will shout,

A welcome fond and free;

Your soul shall overflow with joy, You've gained your liberty.

THE CAUSE IS BRIGHTENING.

Tune-Now Haste.

1. Behold the Temp'rance cause is bright'ning!
Be of good cheer, our hearts are warm;
And to reform the poor inebriate,

We'll boldly brave king Alchy's storm.

O, lend, O, lend your aid, we'll onward go, and soon you'll hear The tyrant Rum is banished from the land.

- 2. Behold our Temp'rance friends are gath'ring,
 The noble band now swells the throng;
 And while the Temp'rance star is gleaming,
 We'll gaily sing a Temp'rance song.
 O, lend, O, lend, &c.
- 3. Behold the Maine Law banner floating, 'T is hail'd with joy o'er all the land:
 For this, come now and join us voting,
 And rally with a noble band.

 O, lend, O, lend, &c.

- 2. But late a furious demon
 Has sought to bring us low,
 To take away our freedom,
 And spread disease and woe;
 But may our sons grow stronger,
 And drive him from our shore,
 And may his power no longer
 Oppress our nation sore.
- 3. And then shall sink the mountains
 Where his proud name was crown'd,
 And peace, like gentle fountains,
 Shall shed its blessings round:
 His wild and mad oppression
 Shall then have passed away,
 And man shall gain possession
 Of one eternal day.

Tune—Uncle Bill.

1. I once was a dandy, and a pattern of a man, My coat, pants and hat were new;

I smoked my cigar and flourished my rattan,

And I ogled the ladies too.

Then lay down the bottle, and the brown jug too, And fling away the glasses with their cheer;

And have no more pain in the body or the head, From brandy, champaigne, or beer.

2. With my polish'd French boots, kid gloves, and white vest,

My outfit was complete and full;

With rings upon my fingers, and a diamond on my breast,

O! I was ir-re-sist-i-bul!

Then lay down, &c.

3. My creditors grew insolent, my bankers they grew cross,

Duns and protests fell on me like dew;

Till from champ. I descended to the bar where liquor's blended

Of cherry, peach, and logwood hue.

Then lay down, &c.

4. I was in, but sometimes out; I was out, but sometimes in;

But more out than in, I trow;

Out of bread, out of business, out of credit, out of cash, Out at elbow, and out at the toe.

Then lay down, &c.

5. Yes, now I 'm a toper, a reg'lar swell'd head, And staggering through the streets I go;

With the heavens for my covering, and the gutter for my bed,

I have lain many a night in the snow, Then lay down, &c.

6. Young man, in life's gay morning, of me a warning take,

And sign the Temp'rance pledge in time

Your breath and soul to save, lest you fill a drunkard's grave,

Ere you reach to your manhood's prime.

Then lay down, &c.

2. No more disgrace, with a rum-blotch face,
The bright image of your God!
But look behind, with a sober mind,
Closely scan the ground you 've trod;

SOME LOVE STRONG BEER. CONTINUED. 161

Then count the cost of pleasures lost In drunken revelry;

And say to the world, with your pledge unfurled,

Give no more strong drink to me.

WATCHMAN, TELL US.

Tune-Hope.

1. Speakers! tell us of the night,
What the signs of Temperance are.
Hearers, see that brilliant light:
That is our tec-total star.
Speakers, won't its beams decay,
And Intemp'rance triumph yet?
Hearers, mark what God does say:
Nevermore that star shall set.

2. Speakers! tell us of the night!

Upward still that star ascends.

Hearers, rum, and oaths, and fight,

All these now approach their end.

Speakers, will the joy it gives

Be confined to our blest land?

Hearers, while a drunkard lives,

It will never stay its hand.

3. Speakers! tell us of the night,
For the light seems spreading on.
Hearers, grog is put to flight;
Reveling will soon be done.
Speakers, onward! never cease:
Take the drunkard to his home;
Bless his family with peace!
O! what glorious times have come.

2. That banner tells of sorrows past,
Of hope that now prevails instead;
Of grief when rum did bind men fast;
Of joy, now that their foe is fled.
No more that tyrant shall have sway,
And ruin those who serve him best;
Alluring men, till they obey
Each fierce command, each stern behest.

3. It tells of comfort to the poor,
Of peace and safety to the rich;
It brings contentment to the door
Where bitter strife and anguish dwelt.
Forever be that flag displayed,
Through all our country far and wide;
Ne'er, Washingtonians be dismayed,
But still uphold it, side by side.

O, SHUN THE BOWL.

Tune—Sparkling Bowl.

- 1. O! shun the bowl! the draught beware,
 Whose smile but mocks the lips of men,
 When foaming high with waters rare!
 O! never touch the goblet then.
- 2. With friends we love, though sweet to sip
 The nectar'd juice at close of day;
 Yet trust ye not the syren lip
 That wins to cheat, and lures to slay.
- 3. O! shun the bowl, and thou shalt know A deeper spell than swims in wine; Though bright its hours of sunset glow, Their crimson clouds as briefly shine.

- 4. A few short days in madness past,
 And thou wilt sink unknown to years;
 Without a hope beyond the blast,
 Which mourns above thy grave of tears.
- 5. O! leave the bowl, if thou art wise—
 To shun the path of guilty fame,
 The burning rod where anguish lies,
 And perjured honor weeps for shame.
- 6. In after years some cheering ray
 From virtue's smile will o'er thee spread;
 And thou wilt bless the better way,
 Thy erring steps were loath to tread.
- 7. O! shun the bowl, as thou wouldst leave
 The poison'd spot where reptiles tread;
 Lest widows' hearts for thee should grieve,
 For thee untimely tears be shed.
- 8. Yea, thine may be the fearful lot
 To prove, ere Time hath dimm'd thy brow,
 A sire: and yet the witness not
 Of those who weep his broken vow.
- 9. Hast thou a bride, whose every sigh

 Deep trembles with the joy it gives?

 Hast thou a child, whose clear, bright eye

 Lives in the light its father lives?
- 10. Then shun the bowl! the draught beware, Whose smile but mocks the lips of men, When foaming high with waters rare, O, never touch the goblet then.
- O, lend, O, lend your aid, until the tyrant Rum is banished from the land.

2. Often on thy border green,
Plucking flowers we sit and rest;
When we rise, ourselves are seen
Pictured on thy glassy breast.
We are passing like the wave,
Onward to our final home;
We shall slumber in the grave,
But there is a heaven to come.

The physician who would recommend the habitual use of intoxicating drinks, would, either willfully or ignorantly, give us over to the devil.

 All your dark cares:
 Temperance, &c.
- 5. They whom the dram-shop's will Turned out of doors, She, with her magic skill, Shelters once more. Home with its joys again, For them appears:

 Temperance, &c.
- 6. Oft in her track there flies

 Message of grace,
 Bringing from upper skies
 Pardon and peace.
 This all her other joys
 Richly endears:
 Temperance, &c.

2. We join the festive jubilee,
To show that man again is free,
That reason rules his mind.
He's turned aside from error's ways,
The sun of wisdom lights his days—
His actions how refin'd!

COME, LET US SING, CONTINUED. 169

- 3. The monster of our grief and woe, Has met, at last, his overthrow: He ne'er shall rise again; And, O, what rapture fills each heart, How flows the blood with sudden start: A joy devoid of pain.
- 4. Then sing and shout, with loud applause, In honor of that glorious cause, Which brings the reign of peace. Oh, may it spread through every clime, And stand upon the rock of Time, Till Time shall be no more.

STRONG RUM.

Tune—Some Love Strong Beer.

1. Some love strong rum, or ale's white foam, As it rises to be free;

And for right good cheer, some whistle beer,

But the limpid stream for me.

To the forest shade, or the mountain glade, So cheerily forth I go,

To drink my fill at the gurgling rill, When the sun is shining low.

2. In the stream I dip my flowing lip, And the cooling draught pour in; I ask no spring of brandy sling,

Or of toddy made of gin.

For what Nature gave I only crave, The fount that gurgles free;

The greenwood trees, a cooling breeze, And a limpid stream for me.

2. Touch not the cup when the wine glistens bright,

Touch not the cup, touch not the cup;

Though like the ruby it shines in the light,

Touch not the cup, touch it not.

The fangs of the serpent are hid in the bowl,

Deeply the poison will enter thy soul,

Soon it will plunge thee beyond thy control;

Touch not the cup, touch it not.

TOUCH NOT THE CUP. CONTINUED. 171

3. Touch not the cup, young man in thy pride,

Touch not the cup, touch not the cup;

Hark to the warning of thousands who've died,

Touch not the cup, touch it not:

Go to their lonely and desolate tomb,

Think of their death, of their sorrow and gloom;

Think that perhaps thou mayst share in their doom;

Touch not the cup, touch it not.

TASTE THE SPRINGS.

Tune—Greenville.

- 1. Taste the springs of water flowing
 Clearly from the green hill side:
 Tints of heaven's blue azure glowing,
 Smile upon its sparkling tide.
 Quench your thirst with streams life-giving,
 Blooming health they ever bring;
 Drink, O, drink those waters living;
 Bubbling up from Nature's spring.
- 2. Who would drink full draughts of sorrow,
 From the cups of maddening joy,
 Shun the pleasure, for the morrow
 Brings a curse of dire alloy;
 For the monster vice alluring,
 With his false, deceitful charms,
 Still would lead to woe enduring—
 Mercy shield us from his arms!
- 3. Ladies in our cause uniting,
 Join to put Intemp'rance down;
 And the glorious warfare fighting,
 We'll at last receive a crown.

Young and old, the pledge receiving, Shun the drunkard's sinful joy. And the precious truth believing, All escape from rum's decoy.

4. Taste the springs of joy and gladness, Nature's pure and sparkling stream, Woe shall flee, and pining sadness Be like some forgotten dream. Quench your thirst with streams life-giving: Blooming health and joy they bring; Drink, and love those waters living. Gushing from the mountain spring.

TEMPERANCE HYMN. J. HUNT, JR.

Tune—One Glass More.

- 1.0, thou who dost o'er all preside, And mould unto thy will Our every deed, which none can hide, Continue with us still.
- 2. And by thy all-sufficient arm Sustain the drunkard's vow, That keeps him safe from wrong and harm: Grant him thy blessing now.
- 3. Be thou to him a well of good, Whose waters never dry; Whose fountains furnish free his food As manna from the sky.
- 4. Then will that long-wished epoch be In triumph ushered in, Which sets the captive drunkard free From all his beastly sin.

Tune—Webb.

- Upon the sinful earth,
 Our land to life is waking,
 With shouts of joyous mirth;
 Our army is preparing
 To meet the rising sun,
 On all its banners bearing
 The name of Washington.
- 2. We meet to-day in gladness:
 As moves our host along,
 No note of painful sadness
 Is mingled with our song.
 This day, renowned in story,
 The day of freedom's birth,
 We hail in all its glory,
 We highly prize its worth.
- 3. The Temp'rance flag is waving
 O'er valley, hill, and plain,
 Where ocean's sons are braving
 The dangers of the main;
 The pledge, the pledge is given,
 To float on every breeze;
 O, waft it, gracious heaven,
 O'er all the earth and seas.
- 4. Our cause, our cause is gaining
 New laurels every day;
 The youthful mind we're training
 To walk in virtue's way;
 Old age and sturdy manhood
 Are with us heart and hand;
 Then let us all, united
 In one firm phalanx, stand.

THE BUCKEYE STATE. CONTINUED. 175

- 2. We will see our sisters, brothers, Our fathers, and our mothers, With our neighbors and all others, In the old Buckeye State. O, the Maine Law, &c.
- 3. We will stop the curse of stilling All kinds of drink for killing, And all fermented stilling, In the old Buckeye State.

  O, the Maine Law, &c.
- 4. Now come, ye jolly tillers, Ye lawyers, doctors, stillers, Come, ye jug and bottle fillers, In the old Buckeye State. O, the Maine Law, &c.
- 5. Then hurrah for reformation,
  By all in every station,
  Throughout the whole creation,
  And the old Buckeye State.
  O, the Maine Law, &c.
- 6. See the Maine Law banner floating, Where the Buckeye boys are voting, And the cause of peace promoting Throughout the Buckeye State.

  O, the Maine Law, &c.
- 7. May no evil e'er betide us,
  To sever or divide us,
  But the God of mercy guide us,
  In this our happy State.
  O, the Maine Law, &c.

Tune—Maine Law.

- 1. Cold water is the drink for me, Of all the drinks the best, sir; Your grog, of whate'er name it be, I dare not for to taste, sir. Give me Dame Nature's only drink, I can make it do, sir; Then what care I what others think? The best that ever grew, sir.
- 2. Your artificial drinks are made The appetite to please, sir; And help along the humbug trade Of those who live at ease, sir. But those who buy must dearly pay For all such drinks as these, sir; For what they take to "wet their clay," Is sure to bring disease, sir.
- 3. Your logwood wine is very fine, I think they call it "Port." sir; You 'll know it by this certain sign, Its roughness in the throat, sir. 'T is true that Yankees are most shrewd; And wooden nutmegs make, sir; But who'd have tho't Port wine was brew'd This side the Big Salt lake, sir.
- 4. We need not send to Portugal, Nor go to good old Spain, sir; The best of wine is at our call, Port, Lisbon, or Champagne, sir. They 'll make us any kind we choose, Without the aid of grape, sir; And, when 't is done, will not refuse A PRICE to make it take, sir.

COLD WATER THE DRINK. CONTINUED. 177

5. Some love to swig New England rum,
And some do cider choose, sir;
But, so they only make "drunk come,"
No matter what they use, sir.
I'll not touch the poisonous stuff,
Since all the brooks are free, sir;
Give me cold water, 't is enough—
That can not injure me, sir.

LONG, LONG AGO.

Tune—Touch Not the Cup.

Long, long ago, long, long ago.

Where are the hopes that my heart used to cheer?

Long, long ago, long ago.

Friends that I loved in the grave are laid low—
Hopes that I cherished have fled from me now—
I am degraded, for rum was my foe,

Long, long ago, long ago.

2. Sadly my wife bowed her beautiful head,
Long, long ago, long, long ago.

O, how I wept when I knew she was dead!
Long, long ago, long ago.
She was an angel—my love, and my guide;
Vainly to save me from ruin she tried:
Poor broken-heart! it was well that she died—Long, long ago, long ago.

Long, long ago, long, long ago.

I was no stranger to virtue and truth,

Long, long ago, long ago.

O, for the hopes that were pure as the day!

O, for the joys that were purer than they!

O, for the hours that I've squandered away—

Tune—Auld Lang Syne.

1. I saw him, 't was at dawn of day,
Before a grog-shop door;
His eyes were sunk, his lips were parch'd;
I viewed him o'er and o'er:
His infant boy clung to his side,
And lisping to him said,
"Come, father—mother's sick at home,
And sister cries for bread."

2. He trembling rose, and staggered in,
As oft he'd done before.
And to the landlord faltering said,
"Come, give us one glass more."
The host complies: his purple lips
Now press the venom'd bowl;
He drinks, though wife and children starve,
And ruins his own soul.

3. A year elapsed, I passed that way,
A crowd stood at the door:
I asked the cause, when one replied,
"Ned Burnit is no more!"
I saw his funeral move along,
No wife, no child was there—
They too had joined their mother earth,
And left this world of care.

4. Reflect, ye votaries of the bowl,
And know 't is heaven's decree:
Ye ne'er shall taste eternal life,
Till from the bowl you flee.
Reflect, ere wife and children mourn—
Fly from the grog-shops, fly:
Or you, like Ned, shall wretched live,
Like him, neglected die.

HOME, SWEET HOME. CONTINUED. 181

- 2. I vainly presumed when first I took the CUP,
  I could drink if I chose, or I could give it UP;
  But I tampered too long, too long tempted Heaven,
  Till an outcast from God and his presence I'm driven.

  Home! Home! sweet, sweet Home!
  On earth or in Heaven I shall ne'er find a home.
- 3. My heart-broken WIFE in her grave hath found rest, And my children have gone to the land of the blest; While I, a poor wretch, a vile murderer like CAIN, With the mark of the beast, on the earth still remain. Home! Home! sweet sweet Home!
  - How happy was I with my loved ones at home.
- 4. FAREWELL to the social endearments of Home,
  Justly loathed by my fellows, I wander Alone;
  For presumptously sinning and tempting the Lord,
  Of the fruit of my ways I must reap the reward.
  Home! Home! sweet, sweet Home!
  An exile from God I shall ne'er find a home.

Its radiance is the heav'nly flame!
Our Flag is bright! Our Flag is bright!

And shows the source from whence it came!

To save from sin and save from crime,

And never shall its charms be furl'd 'Till comes the Heav'n-appointed time!
Our Flag is true, &c.

3. Our Flag is pure! Our Flag is pure!
No party stain obscures its white!
Our Flag is pure! Our Flag is pure!
No lucre shall its glories blight!

'T is wav'd by men of ev'ry name For gen'ral bliss and gen'ral good,

And not for earthly gold or fame, But for the higher praise of God! Our Flag is true, &c.

4. Our Flag is strong! Our Flag is strong! The RIGHT and TRUTH shall never fail! Our Flag is strong! Our Flag is strong! Its Heav'nly mission must prevail! 'T is blest by Heav'n and blest by earth, And doubly blest shall bless again;

5. Our Flag is free! Our Flag is free! The Sons of Freedom wave it high! Our Flag is free! Our Flag is free!

And Freedom is its destiny!
To free the Body, Soul, and Mind,

To raise the free to joys refin'd,

And grace them with the conq'ror's wreath! Our Flag is true, &c.

MAINE LAW FLAG. CONTINUED. 183

6.Our Flag shall spread! Our Flag shall spread! 'Till ev'ry State the Maine Law own! Our Flag shall spread! Our Flag shall spread!

'Till Alcohol is dead and gone!

'Till all the Union, happier still,

Completely freed from Rum's curs'd power, Shall ev'ry glorious trait reveal,

To glory rise to sin no more! Our Flag is true &c.

2. The bright star of Temp'rance is beaming,
And shedding its luster around,
Its light through all regions is gleaming,
And cheers us like music's sweet sound:
Come, Temp'rance and Music together—
We cheer and invite you along;
We'll never heed clouds or bad weather,
But lighten our spirits in song!

2. Boldly go forth, ye noble band,
Your voices still raise thro' our happy land,
And soon the world, with glad surprise,
Shall swell the loud shout, "the tyrant dies!"
Then brothers, on, and sisters, too,
Unceasing go on, much remains to do.

And roll on the Temperance ball,

And roll on the Temperance ball.

- 2. Ye Democrats, come to the rescue,
  And help on the glorious cause;
  And millions hereafter will bless you,
  With heart-cheering songs of applause.
- 3. Come, Whics, ye true friends of the nation, And boldly step into your place, To spread the great temp'rance salvation, Come, join all true friends of our race.
- 4. Bright hope in the bosom is burning,
  And on the pale cheek of the fair,
  The bloom of the rose is returning,
  To banish the gloom of despair.
- 5. How can you stand halting, while beauty
  Is sweetly appealing to all,
  To come to the standard of duty,
  And roll on the Temperance ball.

Ye friends of moderation, who think a reformation Of moral renovation, would benefit our nation; Who deem intoxication, with all its dissipation, In every rank and station, the cause of degradation, Of which your observation gives daily demonstration; Who see the ruination, distress and desolation, The open violation of moral obligation, The wretched habitation, without accommodation, Or any regulation for common sustentation, A scene of deprivation unequaled in creation; A frequent desecration of Sabbath ordination—The crime and depredation, defying legislation—The awful profanation of common conversation—The mental aberration and dire infatuation, With every sad gradation, to maniac desperation.

Ye who with consternation, behold this devastation, And utter condemnation on all inebriation, Why sanction its duration? Or show disapprobation Of any combination for its extermination?

The Maine Law operation will lessen our taxation;
And such a declaration, that suffers no temptation,
Nor any palliation of this abomination,
Will prove a sure foundation against the devastation
Which threatens the whole nation with moral degradation—

The utter extirpation of whiskey ruination, By power of legal suasion, forbid all emanation Of brewers' fermentation, or poisonous preparation Of spirit distillation, nor any vain libation, Producing stimulation, premonitor of desolation.

We give an invitation to all in every station, And ask consideration of our determination. Yes, without hesitation, we ask co-operation, Not doubting imitation will raise your estimation, And by continuation afford you consolation; For, in participation with Maine Law agitation, You may, by actuation, insure the preservation From all contamination, the rising generation.

And may each indication of such regeneration And moral renovation, sustained by legislation, Be cause of explitation, by all of every nation, Till, joyful acclamation, they shout consummation!
