

THE HARP in softly PLEASING STRAINS

A NEW SONG

With an ACCOMPANIMENT for the

PEDAL HARP or PIANO FORTE

Composed by DR STEVENSON

Price 2^s

NEW YORK — Publish'd by J. & M. PAFF No Maiden Lane

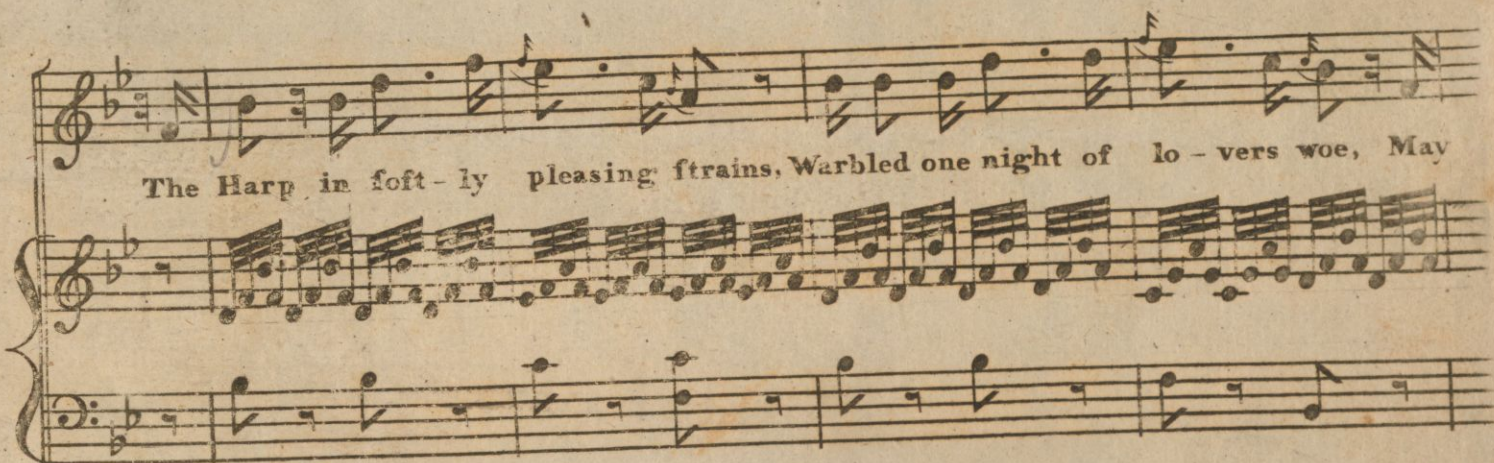

[180-]

Lento

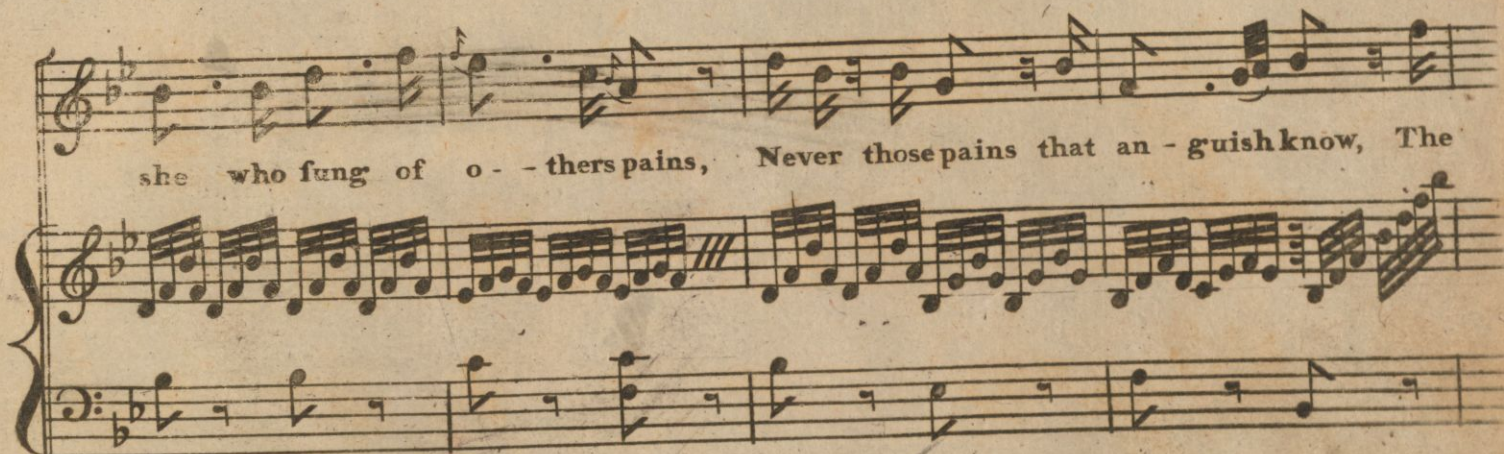

ANDANTE

The Harp in soft-ly pleasing strains, Warbled one night of lo - vers woe, May she who sung of o - - thers pains, Never those pains that an - guish know, The

M1
A18
Case

Printed 1804-1805

Lento

Harp in soft-ly pleasing strains, warbled warbled one night of lo-vers woe,

8v. Loco

tempo

May she who sung of o - - thers pains never never those pains of anguish know

Ad. Libm tempo

ne - ver those pains of an - guish know

Cres

Surely the maid my fate has wrought whose

Lento

trefses boast, the light of day, Whose dimpled cheek a ray has sought To drive the deep-est gloom away May Heav'n preserve your gen-tle heart, From ev'-ry sor-row mor-tals know, What joys the world can here impart, And what the next the next may each bestow what - the next may each be-fow

f p f Lento