THERE'S ROOM ENOUGH FOR ALL.

Russell's Favorites.

Allegro moderato e con spirito.

The musical score is written for piano and voice. It begins with a piano introduction in C major, 2/4 time, marked 'Allegro moderato e con spirito'. The introduction consists of two systems of piano accompaniment. The first system features a treble clef with a melody of eighth and sixteenth notes, and a bass clef with a steady eighth-note accompaniment. The second system continues the piano accompaniment. The vocal melody enters in the third system, starting with the word 'What'. The piano accompaniment continues with a steady eighth-note pattern. The tempo changes to 'Rall:' (Ritardando) for the vocal entry. The vocal melody continues with the words 'need of all this fuss and strife, Each warring with his brother, Why'. The piano accompaniment continues with a steady eighth-note pattern. The tempo changes to 'a tempo.' for the final system of the piano accompaniment.

What if the swarthy peasant find
No field for honest labor?
He need not idly stop behind
To thrust aside his neighbor!
There is a land with sunny skies,
Which gold for toil is giving,
Where ev'ry brawny hand that tries
Its strength can grasp a living;
Oh fellow-men, remember then
Whatever chance befall,
The world is wide where those abide,
There's room enough for all!

From poisoned air ye breathe in courts,
And typhus tainted alleys,
Go forth and dwell where health resorts,
In rural hills and valleys;
Where ev'ry hand that clears a bough,
Finds plenty in attendance,
And ev'ry furrow of the plough,
A step to independance;
Oh hasten then from fevered den
And lodging cramped and small,
The world is wide in lands beside,
There's room enough for all!

In this fair region far away,
Will labor find employment;
A fair day's work, a fair day's pay,
And toil will earn enjoyment;
What need then of this daily strife
Each warring with his brother?
Why need we in the crowd of life
Keep trampling down each other?
Oh fellow-men, remember then
Whatever chance befall,
The world is wide where those abide,
There's room enough for all!
