Thou art another's!

Poet, H. W. Montagu Esq.

Composer, J. Nathan.

With tenderness

Oh! thou art chang'd since last we warmly met, And bit-ter tears this pal-lid cheek have wet, To know thee faithless, I can ne'er forget I can ne'er for-- get Thou art an- other's!

Thou art another's!

Nathan.

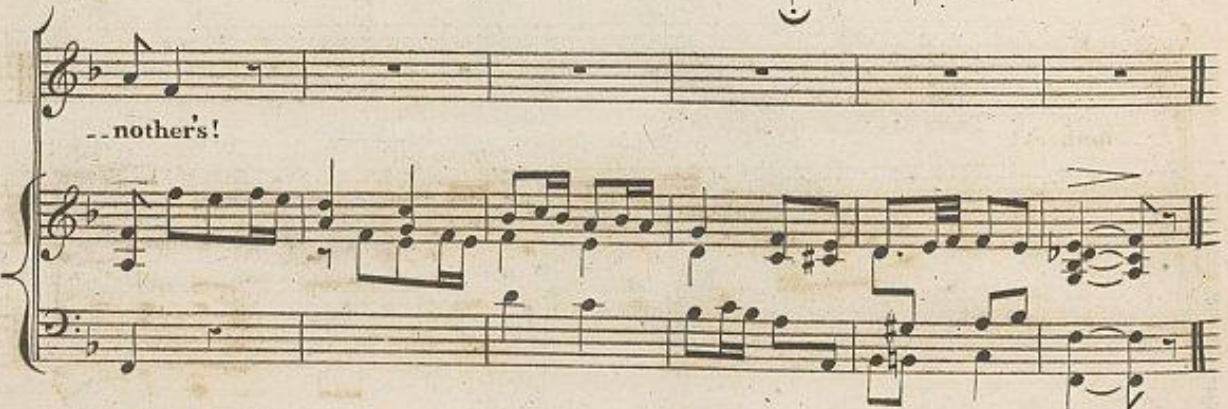

I've wan-der'd far to still the throb of woe, In o--ther eyes I've fond-ly hop'd to know Thy glance of love, thine own sweet smile, thine own sweet smile, altho'— Thou art a--

--noth-er's!

Thou art another's!

Nathan.

May grief like mine ne'er thro' thy bo-som steal, No sighs be...

...tray that thou for me can'st feel, I still do love thee!

tho' thine eyes re-veal tho' thine eyes re-veal Thou art a...

...nother's!

Thou art another's!

Nathan.

The tears I shed would no remorse a..wake, Tho' for a..

..no..ther Thoudid'st me for..sake,— Still, still be hap-py,— soon this heart will break, soon this heart will break, Thou art a..

..nothers!

Thou art another's! Nathan.
